4 State Police Assigned To Special Chester Duty

Supplement Protection By Regulars

Council Will Weigh Selection Of Chief At Meeting Friday

West Virginia State Police today were supplementing Chester's depleted police force in response to a request filed with state officials by Chester Council.

Cpl. C. W. Tighe and Trooper J. N. Morrison of the Weirton barracks reported Tuesday night to Mayor Harry Abrams for special duty.

From Weirton Unit

The two and two others who comprise the Weirton unit are making periodic visits through the town as part of special duties until a new police chief is appointed by Council.

Council, which is scheduled to meet Friday night to consider applications for police chief and a second patrolman, authorized the appeal to state officials in a split vote at a meeting Monday night.

Gov. W. W. Barron late yesterday morning advised city officials the state police would assist in providing the community with "proper security."

Patrolman Clifford Bebout, appointed to the force last Wednesday, and Special Officer Joe Bryan are providing city police protection.

Chief Post Vacated

Orville Johnson, appointed Chief last Wednesday, resigned Friday, citing the press of his other work as a school bus driver.

Johnson was appointed chief to succeed Clarence Lennens by a three-man majority of Council, which claimed Lennens was not fulfilling all his duties.

Councilmen Wayne Hutton, Donald Chaney and Carl Graham have been pressing for enforcement of liquor and gambling laws since the new Council took office in July.

Lennens, who replaced Harold Davis as chief in July, said he had sought to obtain warrants for police action but could not get them.

4 File Applications

Both Lennens and Davis, along with Lewis Lyons, 65, of Lycia Ave. and Gilbert Miller, 30, also of Lycia Ave., have filed applications for the police force.

Cpl. Tighe told Mayor Abrams last night the Weirton post will give all the assistance the officers can, but explained that the officers are somewhat limited because there are only four men to patrol Hancock and Brooke Counties.

A group of businessmen met with Council in an informal meeting Sunday and urged the reap-

British Say Secessionist Drops Fight

Tshombe Report Indicates Dropping Independence Bid

LONDON (AP) — The British government said today President Moise Tshombe has issued a statement indicating he is giving up the fight for an independent Katanga.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Tshombe issued the statement in Elisabethville after being strongly urged by British Consul Derek Dodson to cooperate with the United Nations plan for Congo reconciliation and unification and abandon any thoughts of a scorched earth policy.

Tshombe was reported as saying he had returned to Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, to restore calm and peace and declared it was essential to apply the U. N. plan "without new spilling of blood and without useless destruction."

Dodson and the Belgian consul general met with Tshombe shortly after the secessionist leader returned to the Katangan capital Tuesday.

"This meeting took place with the knowledge of United Nations authorities," the Foreign Office spokesman said. "The British government is concerned to have the plan of reconciliation accepted and implemented.

Dodson also deplored any last ditch action by the Katangans involving destruction of property or continued fighting.

The reconciliation plan, drawn up by U. N. Secretary-General U Thant, provides for an end to the secession of Katanga and a formula for sharing the revenue from Katanga's mineral wealth with the Central Congo government.

Kennedy Previews Top Democrats

88th Congress Convenes With Oath-Taking Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 88th Congress opens its doors today for a politically charged showdown on the reception it intends to give President Kennedy's legislative program.

The President called Democratic leaders to a White House breakfast for a last-minute review of his proposals before the formal convening of Congress at noon.

In both Houses, new members will be sworn in as the new session gets under way. All House members begin new two-year terms, and on the other side of Capitol Hill 41 newcomers will take the senatorial oaths.

The new House lineup will be 258 Democrats, 176 Republicans and one Democratic vacancy. Democrats will have a 67-33 edge in the Senate. That's a net loss of two Democratic House seats and a net gain of three Senate Democrats who lean toward the liberal side.

The House then goes through motion of re-electing Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., as its speaker. Republicans put up their party leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, as a candidate foredoomed to defeat.

With the preliminaries out of the way, the House plunges into a battle Kennedy is favored to win over the size and political complexion of the Rules Committee, which calls the signals for action on major legislation. A decision was expected by midafternoon on whether to fix the membership of the committee at 15.

This would give Kennedy nominal assurance that liberal-leaning representatives could outvote a convervative coalition of Democrats and Republicans and thus get major administration measures before the House.

The alternative would be return to a 12-member lineup with the conservatives in control.

Kennedy has said the fate of his legislative program could hinge on the makeup of the committee. As for the House as a whole, he has said that it is "slightly against us more than it was" in the last Congress.

The bright spot for Kennedy was the Senate. But easy going in the Senate would do the administration little good if the House blocked its proposals.

A coalition of liberal Senate Democrats and Republicans has delayed seeking a rules change which would make it easier to stop filibusters against civil rights and other measures. It plans to move after Kennedy delivers his State of the Union message to Congress next Monday.

Since Southern opponents expected to filibuster against this rules move, there was little likelihood of reaching any early decision on a proposal to give a majority of the 100 members the right to end debate. Presently this can be accomplished only by a two-thirds majority of those voting.

In preliminary action, younger, House Republicans ousted 67-year-old Rep. Charles Hoeven of Iowa Tuesday and replaced him with 49-year-old Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan as chairman of their party's caucus.

Caucusing Senate Democrats hoped to retain their leadership intact under Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana. However, Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida submitted his resignation as secretary of the party conference. Mansfield and other leaders asked him to reconsider.

Barron Gives 6-Point Plan On Education

Urges Sales Tax Extension; Budget Seen $148 Million

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Barron outlined a six-point educational program for the new Legislature today and also told the lawmakers that the consumers sales tax increase must be extended if West Virginia's economy is to continue to grow.

"Improvement of our schools is basic to the solution of West Virginia's difficulties," Barron said.

"We simply cannot sustain the economic and social gains . . unless we put our schools in tune with the times."

The governor devoted much of his address at the opening meeting of the 1963 Legislature to accomplishments in road - building, industrial development and other fields which he feels his administration has achieved.

He noted that the major increase in a proposed state operating budget of $148,374,000 from general revneue for the year to begin next July 1 is for education, including $2.5 million more in state aid for schools.

But Barron also came up with numerous other recommendations, including legislation to permit counties and cities to issue industrial development bonds to help finance new and expanding industries.

He took note of $16 million worth of tax increases scheduled to expire next June 30 by stressing that loss of the revenue would force drastic cutbacks in "education, highways, welfare, commerce and other services."

Included among the expiring "temporary" increases is the boost in the consumers sales tax rate from 2 to 3 per cent on purchases of more than $1. It, alone, represents about $10 million worth of general fund revenue.

Barron outlined his educational program this way:

1. An improvement in the read-

Workers Flee Empire State Building Fire

NEW YORK (AP)— A troublesome fire whipped through a pipe shaft running the height of the 102-story Empire State Building today, shooting flames into offices an eighth of a mile above the ground.

Firemen closed two floors of the building—the world's tallest— as they continued finding and fighting smouldering blazes. No injuries were reported.

The building was twice evacuated, the first time before dawn, the second time when the bulk of the 16,000 people who man the 910 offices in the super-skyscraper had begun to arrive for work. In all, 60,000 persons normally move through the man-made colossus each day.

By 9 a.m., the building was finally reopened, but firemen continued to bar persons from the 66th and 67th floors.

Flames had badly damaged offices on the 64th, 65th and 66th floors, and at one time or another, evidence of fire was seen on eight floors.

A tower atop the building houses the transmitting antennae of all seven New York City television stations, as well as some stations.

Several stations also have transmitting equipment in the building, and for a time WNBC-TV, the local NBC affiliate, was forced off the air as its engineers joined the evacuees. Also knocked out for a short period was a local radio station, WNEW-FM.

It was the second fire reported in the building in a week. A minor blaze broke out Monday and was put out by the Fire Department.

The mammoth structure, first opened in 1931, is as symbolic of this bustling city as the Eiffel Tower is of Paris.

Leader Threatens To Blow Up Vital Katanga Facilities

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Renewed threats by Moise Tshombe to blow up vital industrial installations in Katanga placed the United Nations' Congo reunification drive at a delicate juncture today.

Woes also piled up for the U.N. Command with the reported outbreak of serious tribal fighting in the diamond-mining province of Kasai, a region just northwest of Katanga. The United Nations is short of men there, having moved much of its strength to embattled Katanga.

"My ministers and I have been very busy in Kolwezi preparing the demolition of all industries," Tshombe said on his return to Elisabethville Tuesday from Kolwezi, an industrial city 150 miles from the U.N.-occupied capital.

Union Miniere, the giant company that owns most of the province's mines and utilities, described the sabotage threat as real and appealed "to all responsible parties" for measures to prevent it.

Union Miniere said two dams and power stations in the Kolwezi region which provide more than three-fourths of Katanga's hydro-electric power have been mined. The company said Tshombe's gendarmerie occupy its pits and plants in the area.

With only five days remaining before Secretary-General U Thant's deadline for reintegrating Katanga into the Congo, the United Nations must decide whether to brook further delays in order to prevent serious destruction.

Drivers Rush To Pay Old Parking Charges

Motorists are continuing a rush to pay penalties on parking tickets issued in 1962 to avoid the possibility of being haled into Municipal Court on warrants, the "Meter Maid" office at City Hall said today.

The meter attendants warned Friday warrants would be issued for about 100 motorists who ignored citations they received last year. The fee for a belated payment is $2. If the driver waits until a warrant is issued, he faces the possibility of paying $7.50 in court costs in addition to a fine.

The "Meter Maids" said they will go into court Thursday to obtain the first of the warrants. About 50 per cent of the overdue tickets have been settled in a rush that started when the warning was issued.

Junior GOP Group Stages Caucus Blitz

Elects Rep. Ford Chairman, Wins 8 Policy Unit Votes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A formidable group of junior Republicans has blitzed its way into GOP party councils in the House.

In a quickly hatched coup they elected 49-year-old Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan chairman of their party conference at Tuesday's initial 1963 GOP huddle and won themselves eight votes in the 36-member party policy committee.

Emphasizing their claim that their action was not a revolt against the old-line leadership, they then joined in unanimously re-electing Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana as their party floor leader and Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin as chairman of the policy committee.

Ford unseated Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa as conference, or caucus, chairman by secret ballot of 86 to 78. Hoeven, 67, had held the post since 1957, when he was elected with Halleck's backing.

Hoeven, starting his 21st year in the House, bitterly disputed claims of his opposition that the fight had as its goal only a larger voice in party councils for relatively newer members. Ford has been in the house 10 years.

"I was the victim of a power play," Hoeven angrily told report-

Police Crack Lottery Setup In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — State and local police cracked an alleged multi - million dollar lottery operation in downtown Harrisburg Tuesday night and arrested a man believed to be the son of a long-time national rackets figure.

State Police Commissioner Frank G. McCartney said more than $5 million worth of fake lottery tickets were seized at the Industrial Press Office of the Telegraph Building here.

Arrested were Murray Baker, 38, of Miami, Fla., and Victor O. Gates, 48-year-old, a printer from nearby Camp Hill.

McCartney identified Baker as the son of the late Lou Cohen, alleged lottery king of the United States for almost half a century before his death in 1962.

Baker and Gates were charged with manufacturing lottery tickets being concerned with lottery and conspiracy at arraignment.

DiSalle Looks To Past And Into Future

Outgoing Governor Gives His Farewell Talk To Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Outgoing Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, in his farewell speech to the legislature, looked both into the past and into the future.

He told the legislators they should not become the servants of the governor (Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes, Republican) nor should they try to make him theirs.

DiSalle has been Ohio's first four-year-term governor. During the second two years of his tenure, he had a hostile Republican legislature. Rhodes, in last fall's campaign, accused DiSalle of bickering with the lawmakers. Some of Rhodes' newspaper support was based on the assumption that, since a Republican legislature was almost certain, a Republican governor could get along with it better.

It was in that framework that the defeated DiSalle asserted:

"It was never intended under our system of government that a legislative body must accept, without reservation, directives of a governor nor that a governor should become subservient and silent when his requests go unheeded."

Lawmakers—both old and new —stood and applauded when Di-

Hancock Grand Jury To Convene Tuesday

The Hancock County Grand Jury will convene Tuesday morning at 10 in New Cumberland for the January session of Circuit Court.

The office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny is summoning prospective jurors.

Judge James G. McClure of Wheeling will occupy the Hancock bench for the first time, succeeding Judge Ralph E. Pryor who moved on to Ohio County for the next two years.

Tractor-Trailer Flips And Holds Up Traffic

A tractor-trailer truck delivering sewer pipe for the Freeway Extension project in California Hollow overturned on its side this morning about 9:30 and blocked traffic temporarily, but no one was injured, witnesses said.

The rig was placed back on its wheels with only moderate damage, it was reported. The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon had no report of the mishap.

Kennedy Makes Introduction

Science Failure Spoils Mona Lisa's U.S. Debut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mona Lisa is a sight to behold, but it must be related with sadness today that her American debut was spoiled by a failure of science.

The loudspeaker system in the marble-halled National Gallery of Art, where President Kennedy introduced her Tuesday night amid hands-across-the-sea felicitations with France, could not cope with the acoustics.

"I cannot," she said, "hear a word."

This was when a linguistic expert was translating remarks in which Andre Malraux, French minister of cultural affairs, was trying to solve the enigma of Mona Lisa's smile.

Anyway, Mona exerts her spell silently, not through words, and the public has its chance today to fall under that spell when doors of the National Gallery open to ordinary folk at 10 a.m. In the next four weeks it is expected that perhaps a million people will view the Leonardo da Vinci masterpiece, on loan from the Paris Louvre. The painting will then be taken to New York for a special

Army's March Draft Quota Set At 9,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has set the Army's draft quota for March at 9,000 men — the biggest monthly quota since January 1962.

The higher quota, announced Tuesday, was signaled in November when the Army disclosed it would increase its strength by 20,000 men through larger draft calls for six months. The aim is to build the Army manpower to 980,000.

The quota for January and February is 4,000. In December, 6,000 were drafted.

Local Soldier Sought In Cambridge Escape

Eastern Ohio authorities searched today for two allegedly AWOL soldiers, one identified as an East Liverpool man, who escaped early this morning from cells in the Guernsey County Jail at Cambridge.

Sheriff's deputies at Cambridge identified the two as Raymond Emmler, 23, of East Liverpool and Robert Jeffries, 18, of Neffs in Belmont County. They said the two were taken into custody Saturday by the State Highway Patrol on AWOL charges.

Disappearance of the men was discovered early today by a deputy checking cells, the sheriff's office said. It theorized the men squeezed through an opening used to pass food from the jail kitchen to the cells.

Relay Beams First Full-Scale TV Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Relay, the newest U. S. communications satellite, beamed its first full-scale television program simultaneously to Europe and the United States today.

Grand Jury Inquiry Termed On Schedule

LISBON—Columbiana County's January Grand Jury is on schedule, according to Prosecutor G. William Brokaw. The panel inspected the County Jail Tuesday morning after being sworn in by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp, and then began hearing testimony at 1 p. m.

The 15-member panel has 13 witnesses in 11 cases against 10 defendants set for Thursday and Brokaw hopes it will report sometime late Thursday afternoon.

Today's schedule included 14 witnesses against 14 defendants in 17 cases.

Most Difficulty In Senate

Ohio Legislature's Off To 'Hard-Nosed' Start

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Legislature has somehow gotten itself off to one of the most hard-nosed beginnings in recent years. Most of the difficulty appears to lie in the Senate.

While Republicans control the Senate by a larger margin— 20-13 this session as against 20-18 in 1961 — the Democratic pressure against the GOP has developed earlier and appears more experienced and unrelenting.

So far, in the two legislative days before its inaugural recess, nothing really vital to the welfare of the state has been disturbed, but there are definite signs that both Republicans and Democrats are individually disturbed by the prospects of a bitterly fought and vital session.

The chief area of Republican-Democratic disagreement in the Senate came Tuesday afternoon when Minority Leader Frank W. King, Toledo Democrat, objected to a resolution offered by Republicans which, he said, gave short shrift to the patronage claims of Democrats. His objection stalled the resolution until the 105th Gen-

British Say Secessionist Drops Fight

Tshombe Report Indicates Dropping Independence Bid

LONDON (AP) — The British government said today President Moise Tshombe has issued a statement indicating he is giving up the fight for an independent Katanga.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Tshombe issued the statement in Elisabethville after being strongly urged by British Consul Derek Dodson to cooperate with the United Nations plan for Congo reconciliation and unification and abandon any thoughts of a scorched earth policy.

Tshombe was reported as saying he had returned to Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, to restore calm and peace and declared it was essential to apply the U. N. plan "without new spilling of blood and without useless destruction."

Dodson and the Belgian consul general met with Tshombe shortly after the secessionist leader returned to the Katangan capital Tuesday.

Dodson also deplored any last ditch action by the Katangans involving destruction of property or continued fighting.

The reconciliation plan, drawn up by U. N. Secretary-General U Thant, provides for an end to the secession of Katanga and a formula for sharing the revenue from Katanga's mineral wealth with the Central Congo government.

Kennedy Previews Top Democrats

88th Congress Convenes With Oath-Taking Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 88th Congress opens its doors today for a politically charged showdown on the reception it intends to give President Kennedy's legislative program.

The President called Democratic leaders to a White House breakfast for a last-minute review of his proposals before the formal convening of Congress at noon.

In both Houses, new members will be sworn in as the new session gets under way. All House members begin new two-year terms, and on the other side of Capitol Hill 41 newcomers will take the senatorial oaths.

A coalition of liberal Senate Democrats and Republicans has delayed seeking a rules change which would make it easier to stop filibusters against civil rights and other measures. It plans to move after Kennedy delivers his State of the Union message to Congress next Monday.

Since Southern opponents expected to filibuster against this rules move, there was little likelihood of reaching any early decision on a proposal to give a majority of the 100 members the right to end debate. Presently this can be accomplished only by a two-thirds majority of those voting.

In preliminary action, younger, House Republicans ousted 67-year-old Rep. Charles Hoeven of Iowa Tuesday and replaced him with 49-year-old Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan as chairman of their party's caucus.

Caucusing Senate Democrats hoped to retain their leadership intact under Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana. However, Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida submitted his resignation as secretary of the party conference. Mansfield and other leaders asked him to reconsider.

Barron Gives 6-Point Plan On Education

Urges Sales Tax Extension; Budget Seen $148 Million

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Barron outlined a six-point educational program for the new Legislature today and also told the lawmakers that the consumers sales tax increase must be extended if West Virginia's economy is to continue to grow.

"Improvement of our schools is basic to the solution of West Virginia's difficulties," Barron said.

"We simply cannot sustain the economic and social gains . . unless we put our schools in tune with the times."

The governor devoted much of his address at the opening meeting of the 1963 Legislature to accomplishments in road - building, industrial development and other fields which he feels his administration has achieved.

He noted that the major increase in a proposed state operating budget of $148,374,000 from general revneue for the year to begin next July 1 is for education, including $2.5 million more in state aid for schools.

But Barron also came up with numerous other recommendations, including legislation to permit counties and cities to issue industrial development bonds to help finance new and expanding industries.

He took note of $16 million worth of tax increases scheduled to expire next June 30 by stressing that loss of the revenue would force drastic cutbacks in "education, highways, welfare, commerce and other services."

Included among the expiring "temporary" increases is the boost in the consumers sales tax rate from 2 to 3 per cent on purchases of more than $1. It, alone, represents about $10 million worth of general fund revenue.

Junior GOP Group Stages Caucus Blitz

Elects Rep. Ford Chairman, Wins 8 Policy Unit Votes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A formidable group of junior Republicans has blitzed its way into GOP party councils in the House.

In a quickly hatched coup they elected 49-year-old Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan chairman of their party conference at Tuesday's initial 1963 GOP huddle and won themselves eight votes in the 36-member party policy committee.

Emphasizing their claim that their action was not a revolt against the old-line leadership, they then joined in unanimously re-electing Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana as their party floor leader and Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin as chairman of the policy committee.

Ford unseated Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa as conference, or caucus, chairman by secret ballot of 86 to 78. Hoeven, 67, had held the post since 1957, when he was elected with Halleck's backing.

Hoeven, starting his 21st year in the House, bitterly disputed claims of his opposition that the fight had as its goal only a larger voice in party councils for relatively newer members. Ford has been in the house 10 years.

"I was the victim of a power play," Hoeven angrily told report-

Local Soldier Sought In Cambridge Escape

Eastern Ohio authorities searched today for two allegedly AWOL soldiers, one identified as an East Liverpool man, who escaped early this morning from cells in the Guernsey County Jail at Cambridge.

Sheriff's deputies at Cambridge identified the two as Raymond Emmler, 23, of East Liverpool and Robert Jeffries, 18, of Neffs in Belmont County. They said the two were taken into custody Saturday by the State Highway Patrol on AWOL charges.

Disappearance of the men was discovered early today by a deputy checking cells, the sheriff's office said. It theorized the men squeezed through an opening used to pass food from the jail kitchen to the cells.

Police Crack Lottery Setup In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — State and local police cracked an alleged multi - million dollar lottery operation in downtown Harrisburg Tuesday night and arrested a man believed to be the son of a long-time national rackets figure.

State Police Commissioner Frank G. McCartney said more than $5 million worth of fake lottery tickets were seized at the Industrial Press Office of the Telegraph Building here.

Arrested were Murray Baker, 38, of Miami, Fla., and Victor O. Gates, 48-year-old, a printer from nearby Camp Hill.

McCartney identified Baker as the son of the late Lou Cohen, alleged lottery king of the United States for almost half a century before his death in 1962.

Baker and Gates were charged with manufacturing lottery tickets being concerned with lottery and conspiracy at arraignment.

Relay Beams First Full-Scale TV Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Relay, the newest U. S. communications satellite, beamed its first full-scale television program simultaneously to Europe and the United States today.

Stations on both continents saw films of the ceremonies at Washington's National Art Gallery Tuesday night where President Kennedy opened the display of the painting Mona Lisa.

DiSalle Looks To Past And Into Future

Outgoing Governor Gives His Farewell Talk To Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Outgoing Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, in his farewell speech to the legislature, looked both into the past and into the future.

He told the legislators they should not become the servants of the governor (Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes, Republican) nor should they try to make him theirs.

DiSalle has been Ohio's first four-year-term governor. During the second two years of his tenure, he had a hostile Republican legislature. Rhodes, in last fall's campaign, accused DiSalle of bickering with the lawmakers. Some of Rhodes' newspaper support was based on the assumption that, since a Republican legislature was almost certain, a Republican governor could get along with it better.

It was in that framework that the defeated DiSalle asserted:

"It was never intended under our system of government that a legislative body must accept, without reservation, directives of a governor nor that a governor should become subservient and silent when his requests go unheeded."

Lawmakers—both old and new—stood and applauded when Di-

Kennedy Makes Introduction

Science Failure Spoils Mona Lisa's U.S. Debut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mona Lisa is a sight to behold, but it must be related with sadness today that her American debut was spoiled by a failure of science.

The loudspeaker system in the marble-halled National Gallery of Art, where President Kennedy introduced her Tuesday night amid hands-across-the-sea felicitations with France, could not cope with the acoustics.

"I cannot," she said, "hear a word."

This was when a linguistic expert was translating remarks in which Andre Malraux, French minister of cultural affairs, was trying to solve the enigma of Mona Lisa's smile.

Anyway, Mona exerts her spell silently, not through words, and the public has its chance today to fall under that spell when doors of the National Gallery open to ordinary folk at 10 a.m. In the next four weeks it is expected that perhaps a million people will view the Leonardo da Vinci masterpiece, on loan from the Paris Louvre. The painting will then be taken to New York for a special

Most Difficulty In Senate

Ohio Legislature's Off To 'Hard-Nosed' Start

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Legislature has somehow gotten itself off to one of the most hard-nosed beginnings in recent years. Most of the difficulty appears to lie in the Senate.

While Republicans control the Senate by a larger margin— 20-13 this session as against 20-18 in 1961 — the Democratic pressure against the GOP has developed earlier and appears more experienced and unrelenting.

So far, in the two legislative days before its inaugural recess, nothing really vital to the welfare of the state has been disturbed, but there are definite signs that both Republicans and Democrats are individually disturbed by the prospects of a bitterly fought and vital session.

The chief area of Republican-Democratic disagreement in the Senate came Tuesday afternoon when Minority Leader Frank W. King, Toledo Democrat, objected to a resolution offered by Republicans which, he said, gave short shrift to the patronage claims of Democrats. His objection stalled the resolution until the 105th Gen-

Grand Jury Inquiry Termed On Schedule

LISBON—Columbiana County's January Grand Jury is on schedule, according to Prosecutor G. William Brokaw. The panel inspected the County Jail Tuesday morning after being sworn in by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp, and then began hearing testimony at 1 p. m.

The 15-member panel has 13 witnesses in 11 cases against 10 defendants set for Thursday and Brokaw hopes it will report sometime late Thursday afternoon.

Today's schedule included 14 witnesses against 14 defendants in 17 cases.

Hancock Grand Jury To Convene Tuesday

The Hancock County Grand Jury will convene Tuesday morning at 10 in New Cumberland for the January session of Circuit Court.

The office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny is summoning prospective jurors.

Judge James G. McClure of Wheeling will occupy the Hancock bench for the first time, succeeding Judge Ralph E. Pryor who moved on to Ohio County for the next two years.

Tractor-Trailer Flips And Holds Up Traffic

A tractor-trailer truck delivering sewer pipe for the Freeway Extension project in California Hollow overturned on its side this morning about 9:30 and blocked traffic temporarily, but no one was injured, witnesses said.

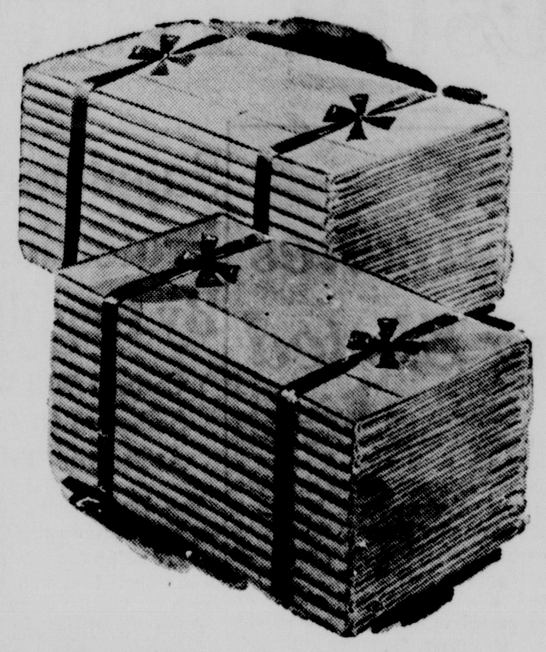

The rig was placed back on its wheels with only moderate damage, it was reported. The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon had no report of the mishap.

Special Committee Report

Grid Game Riot Called Serious Racial Conflict

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special committee reports that the capital's Thanksgiving Day football riot was "a serious racial conflict" brewed in what it calls an overcrowded public school system with lax discipline and a pattern of violence and lawlessness.

This situation, plus the frustration of defeat in a championship high school football game, resulted in "pitting of angry Negroes against whites," the report said.

This was the unanimous verdict Tuesday of an 11-member committee of Negroes and whites after a five-week investigation of a riot at the city title game.

Over 50,000 persons attended the game at D.C. Stadium, in which the predominantly white St. John's team defeated the predominantly Negro team from Eastern High School.

More than 42 persons were treated for injuries suffered in the fighting that began in the stadium spilled out into the parking lots and spread over the surrounding neighborhood.

Police have said that scores of others nursed their injuries in quiet without reporting them.

The committee, headed by Dr. Shane MacCarthy, former head of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Council on Youth Fitness, had been directed by school Superintendent Carl F. Hansen to make a complete study of the riot and its probable cause.

The report said "the hoodlums who went on a rampage at the stadium would have attacked supporters of any victorious team, including a predominantly Negro one, as they have in the past without interference."

The result however, the report said, was a racial incident that damaged relations in the city between Negroes and white persons.

The committee said testimony had shown "administrative lack of control over hoodlum elements in the school system and a deteriorating condition in mass audience events outside of the school buildings.

"Fear rages through many school buildings which have become trampling grounds for outside influences, including thugs, hoodlums and persons of the lowest character."

The report said the basic causes went back to the problems of the school system.

In recent years, MacCarthy said, the District of Columbia school system had been swamped by "the rapid growth in numbers of Negro pupils, many with low mental ratings, coupled with increasing crowding of facilities."

Negroes now make up about 75 per cent of the pupils in Washington's public schools.

88 Reported On Probation

LISBON — The Columbiana County adult probation office said today a total of 88 persons are currently on probation.

Richard V. Rose of Lisbon, adult probation officer, said in his 1962 report the list includes 59 residing in the county, 19 living elsewhere in Ohio and five residing outside the state, all supervised by his department.

In addition, there are three cases supervised by other probation departments, two by his department for other probation departments, one supervised by him for county Juvenile Court and two active cases whose whereabouts are unknown.

Ten cases were terminated and rights restored to the defendants last year. Twelve were cited for probation violations and three were sentenced. He completed 35 investigations, has nine pending for hearing, 24 already granted probation and five still being investigated.

In 51 probation cases, the court costs have been paid in full. Rose collected $2,612.89 during the year with $1,783.74 collected in restitution with a balance of $4,515.46 still collectible and owed from active cases.

Proposed Canal Rapped In Talk

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Water transportation systems are not as practical as railroads from a military standpoint and railroads should not be weakened by subsidies granted to waterway projects a railroad engineer says.

Addressing engineering students at Carnegie Institute of Technology Tuesday night, M. A. Michel, engineering staff representative for the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, said:

"It is patently absurb, at a time when billions are being spent for national defense, that simultaneously our nation's railroads should be weakened by enormous public subsidies being granted to the less defensible waterway projects."

He also said if a proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River canal were constructed, "the economic loss to railroads operating in Pennsylvania and Ohio would be of such magnitude that rail service in this area would deteriorate to a point far below the defense needs of the nation."

4-H News

The first of two training conferences for 4-H officers and advisors will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at Lincoln School at Lisbon, according to Tom Rudebock, assistant 4-H Club agent.

Proper ways of giving a demonstration will be shown by two members of the County Junior Leadership Club.

A session then will follow for each officer as well as advisors, with all urged to attend.

Those unable to attend may take part in a similar meeting scheduled April 4, Rudebock said.

Project books were distributed to members when the Liverpool Township 4-H Club met Monday night at the home of Diana Persohn of Campground Rd. Ten attended.

Lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be Jan. 21 at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Pethtel of Shadyside Ave. Roll call will be answered by: "Why do you like to skate?"

Certificates Given In First Aid Course

Certificates were awarded to those who completed the advanced first aid course sponsored by the St. Clair Township Civil Defense at the final lesson Tuesday night at the Mary Patterson Memorial.

A makeup meeting for those who have missed several meetings will be held later, it was announced.

Bernard Shone, a Red Cross instructor, directed the final lesson when different bandages were used on all attending. Thirteen attended.

Supervisors Fill Secretary Post

He succeeds Martin, who was named assistant secretary and will continue as road foreman.

Edward Wilkinson was returned for another term as chairman.

The board also agreed to change its meeting dates from the first to the second day of each month. When the meeting date falls on Sunday or a holiday, the meeting will be held the following day. Next meeting will be Feb. 2.

$50,000 Damage Set In Marysville Blaze

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Fire turned the town square in this Union County seat of 5,000 population from Weekday evening quietude into high excitement Tuesday night. The blaze damaged a two-story building and for a short time threatened an entire business block.

Damage of more than $50,000 was estimated by the manager of the Moore's Store which took the brunt of the blaze. Marysville's fire department, with four pumpers aided by a unit from Milford Center, kept the fire from spreading. No injuries were reported.

Officials were uncertain as to the cause of the fire.

Greene Supervisors Return All Officers

W. C. Roderick was returned as chairman; McGaffick is secretary-treasurer, and Earl Crooks as roadmaster.

The board will hold its regular meeting Friday night.

Hearing Rescheduled For Chester Husband

A hearing slated Tuesday night for Kenneth Alloway of Church Alley, Chester, charged with assault and battery by his wife, was continued until next Tuesday by Mayor Harry Abrams at the request of the plaintiff's attorney.

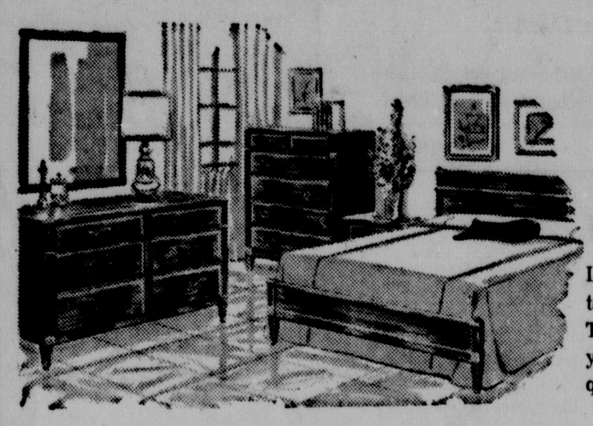

Alloway, cited Sunday morning on a complaint by his wife, who was treated at City Hospital, was placed under a $500 peace bond Monday by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

Special Committee Report

Grid Game Riot Called Serious Racial Conflict

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special committee reports that the capital's Thanksgiving Day football riot was "a serious racial conflict" brewed in what it calls an overcrowded public school system with lax discipline and a pattern of violence and lawlessness.

This situation, plus the frustration of defeat in a championship high school football game, resulted in "pitting of angry Negroes against whites," the report said.

This was the unanimous verdict Tuesday of an 11-member committee of Negroes and whites after a five-week investigation of a riot at the city title game.

Over 50,000 persons attended the game at D.C. Stadium, in which the predominantly white St. John's team defeated the predominantly Negro team from Eastern High School.

More than 42 persons were treated for injuries suffered in the fighting that began in the stadium spilled out into the parking lots and spread over the surrounding neighborhood.

Police have said that scores of others nursed their injuries in quiet without reporting them.

The committee, headed by Dr. Shane MacCarthy, former head of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Council on Youth Fitness, had been directed by school Superintendent Carl F. Hansen to make a complete study of the riot and its probable cause.

The report said "the hoodlums who went on a rampage at the stadium would have attacked supporters of any victorious team, including a predominantly Negro one, as they have in the past without interference."

The result however, the report said, was a racial incident that damaged relations in the city between Negroes and white persons.

The committee said testimony had shown "administrative lack of control over hoodlum elements in the school system and a deteriorating condition in mass audience events outside of the school buildings.

"Fear rages through many school buildings which have become trampling grounds for outside influences, including thugs, hoodlums and persons of the lowest character."

The report said the basic causes went back to the problems of the school system.

In recent years, MacCarthy said, the District of Columbia school system had been swamped by "the rapid growth in numbers of Negro pupils, many with low mental ratings, coupled with increasing crowding of facilities."

Negroes now make up about 75 per cent of the pupils in Washington's public schools.

88 Reported On Probation

LISBON — The Columbiana County adult probation office said today a total of 88 persons are currently on probation.

Richard V. Rose of Lisbon, adult probation officer, said in his 1962 report the list includes 59 residing in the county, 19 living elsewhere in Ohio and five residing outside the state, all supervised by his department.

In addition, there are three cases supervised by other probation departments, two by his department for other probation departments, one supervised by him for county Juvenile Court and two active cases whose whereabouts are unknown.

Ten cases were terminated and rights restored to the defendants last year. Twelve were cited for probation violations and three were sentenced. He completed 35 investigations, has nine pending for hearing, 24 already granted probation and five still being investigated.

In 51 probation cases, the court costs have been paid in full. Rose collected $2,612.89 during the year with $1,783.74 collected in restitution with a balance of $4,515.46 still collectible and owed from active cases.

Proposed Canal Rapped In Talk

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Water transportation systems are not as practical as railroads from a military standpoint and railroads should not be weakened by subsidies granted to waterway projects a railroad engineer says.

Addressing engineering students at Carnegie Institute of Technology Tuesday night, M. A. Michel, engineering staff representative for the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, said:

"It is patently absurb, at a time when billions are being spent for national defense, that simultaneously our nation's railroads should be weakened by enormous public subsidies being granted to the less defensible waterway projects."

He also said if a proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River canal were constructed, "the economic loss to railroads operating in Pennsylvania and Ohio would be of such magnitude that rail service in this area would deteriorate to a point far below the defense needs of the nation."

4-H News

The first of two training conferences for 4-H officers and advisors will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at Lincoln School at Lisbon, according to Tom Rudebock, assistant 4-H Club agent.

Proper ways of giving a demonstration will be shown by two members of the County Junior Leadership Club.

A session then will follow for each officer as well as advisors, with all urged to attend.

Those unable to attend may take part in a similar meeting scheduled April 4, Rudebock said.

Project books were distributed to members when the Liverpool Township 4-H Club met Monday night at the home of Diana Persohn of Campground Rd. Ten attended.

Lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be Jan. 21 at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Pethtel of Shadyside Ave. Roll call will be answered by: "Why do you like to skate?"

Certificates Given In First Aid Course

Certificates were awarded to those who completed the advanced first aid course sponsored by the St. Clair Township Civil Defense at the final lesson Tuesday night at the Mary Patterson Memorial.

A makeup meeting for those who have missed several meetings will be held later, it was announced.

Bernard Shone, a Red Cross instructor, directed the final lesson when different bandages were used on all attending. Thirteen attended.

Supervisors Fill Secretary Post

He succeeds Martin, who was named assistant secretary and will continue as road foreman.

Edward Wilkinson was returned for another term as chairman.

The board also agreed to change its meeting dates from the first to the second day of each month. When the meeting date falls on Sunday or a holiday, the meeting will be held the following day. Next meeting will be Feb. 2.

$50,000 Damage Set In Marysville Blaze

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Fire turned the town square in this Union County seat of 5,000 population from Weekday evening quietude into high excitement Tuesday night. The blaze damaged a two-story building and for a short time threatened an entire business block.

Damage of more than $50,000 was estimated by the manager of the Moore's Store which took the brunt of the blaze. Marysville's fire department, with four pumpers aided by a unit from Milford Center, kept the fire from spreading. No injuries were reported.

Officials were uncertain as to the cause of the fire.

Greene Supervisors Return All Officers

W. C. Roderick was returned as chairman; McGaffick is secretary-treasurer, and Earl Crooks as roadmaster.

The board will hold its regular meeting Friday night.

Hearing Rescheduled For Chester Husband

A hearing slated Tuesday night for Kenneth Alloway of Church Alley, Chester, charged with assault and battery by his wife, was continued until next Tuesday by Mayor Harry Abrams at the request of the plaintiff's attorney.

Alloway, cited Sunday morning on a complaint by his wife, who was treated at City Hospital, was placed under a $500 peace bond Monday by Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

The Issue In Chester

Now that Chester's dilemma has reached Charleston and use of state officers is in effect, a number of residents have cast aside their former amused and detached attitude todward the controversy.

Many for the first time are pondering the fundamentals of security, that vital protective force of any community which guarantees law and order and safety.

The issue over the police chief post appears essentially to be a clash of principles and beliefs.

Three Councilmen apparently want complete elimination of illegal liquor by the drink in city taverns and clubs and an end of all gambling activities.

There are a number of people who have indicated they want law and order to a degree that will assure the safety and well-being of the people, with a little leeway where liquor and gambling are concerned.

And there are many who simply want an end to the fussin' and feudin' and "let's get back to normal."

At the root of the issue is whether Council or the mayor is responsible for police policy. It is obvious that Council has the controlling hand for the time being.

Smoldering for many years, the whole law enforcement issue is now a full-grown crisis and Chester residents should take a realistic and calm appraisal of the problem in a sincere bid to solve it.

The recent high-jinx by young people baiting police officers and the ill-advised humor evidenced at Council meetings and scribbled on signs about town do not contribute to a dignified and serious approach to a solution.

The problem is on which will take a sincere, intelligent, moral-minded effort, including a spirit of compromise.

The time has passed for sneers and horse laughs when a city has to call in state policemen to keep the law.

We Lost The Argument, Too

Everything possible will be done to build up the illusion that the United States came out ahead in the Cuban showdown. The truth is, the United States will be whistling in the dark.

Once more there has been a tardy reaction after a harsh provocation. Once more it has been shown why the side that seizes the initiative and holds it in a cold war gets the breaks and the other side does the bumbling.

The Soviet Union seized the initiative in Cuba and held it.

It moved in on what appeared to be a genuine revolution against an oppressive dictatorship that had been shored up with U.S. assistance. It snatched Cuba from under Uncle Sam's nose.

It then added injury to insult by changing Cuba into a Communist state and in turn added insult to injury by fortifying it as a Communist bastion in the New World—a studied and insolent challenge to the Monroe Doctrine.

WHEN THE U.S. reaction to this was violent, the Soviet Union scored still another cold war triumph by withdrawing missiles and bombers on its own terms and in its own time and refusing to permit inspection of Cuba to see what might have been left there.

Meanwhile, it seized President Kennedy's ill-advised offer not to invade Cuba if the missiles and bombers were withdrawn and built this into a commitment. It will do no good for the United States to explain that it despairs of inspecting Cuba to find out if Russia acted in good and therefore withholds the promise not to invade Cuba.

If it became necessary to invade the island to eliminate a submarine base that might be deadlier than a missile base or a bomber base, the United States would be beaten over the head with its no-invasion promise by every Latin American diplomat.

It has never been grasped by U.S. critics of United Nations intervention in the Congo that Latin Americans have strong convictions about U.S. intervention in Cuba. Latin Americans believe as firmly in self-determination for Cubans as critics of the U.N. believe in self-determination for the Congolese.

THERE HAS BEEN a reversal for the United States in Cuban policy—if the absence of a policy can be referred to as "policy."

With formal termination of discussions between Washington and Moscow in the United Nations, the issue is officially closed.

We lost the ideological issue after six decades of relations with Cuba that gave free enterprise a black eye.

We lost the military issue. Cuba is now a heavily armed offshore island manned by thousands of unfriendly troops, and this fact has not been altered an iota by a show of U.S. military strength in the Caribbean and in the air over Cuba. The Russians are still there.

And on top of everything else we lost the argument. We had to back down on the Monroe Doctrine.

There must be days in the Kremlin when Khrushchev, Mikoyan and their pals are so busy laughing they can't find time to pick out another strategic place to make Uncle Sam bleed a little.

Go Through That Again, Sonny

"It says here in the paper that Bell Laboratory engineers figured out what ailed Telstar and fixed it by remote control."

"What's Telstar? What's remote control? What's a Bell Laboratory?"

"Well, grandpa, Telstar is a communications satellite, remote control is what you do here that has an effect somewhere else and Bell Laboratory is a place where electronic geniuses and other assorted geniuses figure out things."

"What's an electronic genius, sonny?"

"Electronics is the branch of physic which treats of the emission, behavior and effects of electrons, especially in vacuum tubes and photoelectric cells."

"Are you putting me on, Sonny? Are you forgetting you owe me respect and I can cut you out of my will?"

"No sir, Scout's honor. There are geniuses who know so much about why your hair stands on end when you comb it on cold mornings that they could figure out why a sphere whirling around the earth from 600 to more than 3,000 miles high wasn't relaying messages from Europe to America and vice versa that they could fix it from a laboratory."

"If it's true, boy, I wouldn't understand it anyway. I never understood the telegraph and the telephone. Or radio and television. Or even a magnet. This stuff is in the dark arts as far as I'm concerned. But don't get me wrong. I'm not turning my back on it.

"I want to ride the wave of the future as far as she goes, or until I fall off. But you know what, Sonny? You must take a lot of things on faith these days. For all we know these fellows could be funnin' us fumbleheads who can't fix a doorbell.

"So they can fix a little ball being batted around the Milky Way, Yup. They must be mighty smart operators, all right — and about that doorbell. Get me the number of that place—what did you call it? Bell Laboratory? I want to have a word with them."

Birthday Party

As about everybody knows, Carl Sandburg the poet-philosopher had a ball at his 85th birthday party. He and Mrs. Sandburg had their picture taken cutting the birthday cake at the Waldorf and millions of their fellow Americans enjoyed seeing these two senior citizens kicking up their heels.

It should surprise no one to know there was a special reason for the heel-kicking. Old Man Sandburg is coming out with a new book of poems, and his publishers used the birthday party to kick off the sales campaign.

Sandburg poems, thanks to the long life and fame of their author, have a market. Other poems, some better than Sandburg's, go begging because no one gives a damn.

But here is this oldster and his fellow poet-philosopher Robert Frost, who was born March 26, 1874, both going strong because they represent something pleasantly out of the ordinary.

The world has a special niche for oldsters who make use of their accumulated knowledge, wisdom and skill.

It does this in the spirit of dissent from the prevailing view that old men and women are used up after they pass a certain chronological age and thereafter are social problems.

How pleasant for a change to think of advanced age in some connotation other than the high cost of sickness. How refreshing to be reminded that in the creative arts there is addition of power with years, rather than attrition.

Men's minds can improve with age even though their physical strength dwindles. A wise man never quits growing wiser.

Only in those places where usefulness depends on the chance to be active, rather than on some endowment of personal skill and knowledge has it become the rule that usefulness can be terminated by decree.

It never has been properly understood that retirement plans in business and industry exist only to sweeten the bitter blow of being cast out arbitrarily and that the policy of casting out was decreed by cabals organized to shove the old walruses off the cliff onto the jutting rocks below so the young walruses could have things their own way.

The least thing anyone worried about was the old walruses. The era of the young walruses had been ushered in, said the young walruses, and they could not be denied because they had the upper hand and the backing of two new instruments of power — the labor union and cost accounting.

Accountants could show that it cost more for old walruses than for young walruses, and unions could show that it was good tactics to enroll new and younger members to keep their treasuries filled.

What was going to happen to aging men and women left with nothing but time on their hands was no concern of the bushy-tails who were hell-bent on making life sweeter for the young.

Never have so many uninvited guests enjoyed a birthday party as enjoyed Carl Sandburg's when he turned 85, still going strong. Everybody over 65 was there in spirit.

Only four governmental departments now existing in the United States are older than the government under the Constitution. These are the Departments of State, Treasury, War and Post Office.

Just Don't Get Any Ideas!

Reuther Sets Organizing Drive

By Victor Riesel

Red-headed Walter Reuther is all set for an attempt to repeat in the age of automation the hard-hitting unionizing campaign which rocketed him into the national headlines during the assembly-line age of 25 years ago.

Victor Riesel

He is set to pour millions of dollars into a "coordinated" organizing drive. It will be aimed at big industrial centers across the land. And it will have an 18 - month deadline for action.

This being the fifth year of the space age, Reuther will specialize this time in "white collar, technical and professional" men and women who now jampack the modern plants.

Reuther plans to hit hardest with the mostest first in such areas as Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth. This will take money. But he'll have it — at least $1 million immediately from his own United Auto Workers Union.

Within a week he may raise millions more. Reuther has just summoned a war council of his old colleagues in the former CIO.

THESE MEN are the leaders of something called the Industrial Union Dept. (IUD) of the AFL-CIO. Reuther's call had the old urgent sound. It went out by telegram and was received on the morning of Jan. 4.

"Special meeting IUD Executive Committee," said the wire, "10 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 15, Pan American Room, Statler - Hilton Hotel, Washington, D.C., to consider legislative matters and to implement organizational program adopted unanimously last meeting IUD Executive Board. Urge your attendence. Walter P. Reuther, president."

This will bring together the leaders of millions of union members. If they pledge a dollar a member to the new drive this could raise $5 - $6 million. If even half is collected, Reuther can draw several million from this meeting.

In addition the IUD itself has more than $3 million in cash in its kitty. Add to this a million from the auto union. It makes an awesome organizing total — even these days. And not to be ignored is the auto union's $47.23 million strike fund.

ACTUALLY THIS money is set aside for UAW stoppages. But Reuther's new organization drive can borrow from it, I'm informed.

Reuther will need all his old force and fury in this campaign. He's got a lot riding on it. At 55 he can't afford to launch a big city "spectacular" and see it fade away quietly like some bad B picture. It's make or break.

The pros inside labor, the veterans of the old AFL, are watching this game of union roulette. Nor are they amused. They have been telling each other recently that Reuther got them into a showcase drive in lower California. He is chairman of the AFL-CIO's Organization Committee which set it up. He prepared a long blueprint for unionization in that part of the United States.

Reuther's reply simply is: Since the AFL-CIO has chosen to apply the Los Angeles concept in only one industrial area, the IUD will apply it to a number of other major industrial areas in all parts of the United States.

TO SUCCEED Reuther can't just walk into some city and set up an executive suite.

This kind of far-flung operation needs central coordination, regional headquarters, manpower, public relations men, special organizers, liaison men for contact with the national, state and local political leaders, strike centers, car pools, even relief kitchens.

Such an intricate apparatus must be based on regional councils, since it is really a network of unions converging on special targets. So, Reuther plans to set up such councils in many states. They'll be Industrial Union Councils.

His critics will say that this, in effect, will be the revival of the old CIO, inside the seven-year - old AFL-CIO. They will charge that he is launching his own labor movement.

And they may not wait long to tell it to him face to face. This probably will happen at the AFL-CIO high command mid-winter session in Florida, opening Feb. 18.

Reuther has marched up to this brink several times before. Now he'll either have to retreat permanently or go on through. But it will take a lot of broken-field running to get around the old AFL's husky safety man, George Meany.

It will be quite a game.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

J. S. Lambing of Wellsville was re-elected president of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective.

Wilfred Southern was named master councilor of Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Miss Margaret Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dunlap of Louisiana Ave., Chester, was graduated from Geneva College with a bachelor of arts degree.

James M. Huston of East Liverpool was appointed a member of the group of supervisors of the Columbiana County soil conservation district.

T. H. Fisher was re-elected president of the First National Bank.

Earl G. Shoub, city auditor of Wellsville since 1940, announced he would seek the Republican nomination for mayor in the primary election.

Miss Martha Davis was elected treasurer and Mrs. Dominic Amedeo reporter of the Chester Beldonna Club.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The crying towel industry recently had the biggest boom in its history.

Since Nixon wept on TV a few years ago, the Republicans seem to have made it a habit — in the form of editorials, the David Lawrence column and letters to the editor.

When President Kennedy was elected to office there wasn't a dry towel or a dry shoulder in the country. This constant whining would get tiresome unless you look at it from the comedy angle. For instance, as a Review editorial pointed out, the Cuban situation developed during Eisenhower's tenure in office. Isn't it odd that columnists, most editors and most letter - writers omit this little fact?

All Republicans know how to run the country better than Mr. Kennedy, while their own towns and cities are neck deep in trouble financially, with inadequate housing, school and hospital facilities and a hundred other things.

It seems logical to assume that if we can solve national and world problems with a few words a small town or even a large city would be a snap. Mr. Kennedy bids well to become the second greatest president in our history, if he wins another term in office. Just think, four more years of sobbing and weeping by the GOP.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By George Lichty

"Rest assured the new Congress is mindful of problems both large and small . . . and is prepared to discuss them at length!"

Meddling With Congress

By David Lawrence

White House Criticized On Influence

Yes, there is a Congress. It is composed of 433 representatives and 100 senators—all of them elected directly by the people of the United States.

David Lawrence

For two months now, day after day, newspapers and television and radio have told of the activities of the President—conferences and speeches, statements on public policy and plans for legislative proposals. The country may have indeed gotten the impression that the President runs the government. Actually, the President proposes, but Congress disposes.

For, under a written Constitution, the president cannot interfere with the operations of Congress as specified in the document, and Congress cannot interfere with the exercise of any constitutional power delegated to the president.

Yet, as the 88th Congress goes into its first session this week, the impression the country has been given by some news dispatches and radio and TV discussions is that the President is trying to tell Congress what rules it shall adopt for the size of its committees or for the length of its debates.

Again and again, the Supreme Court has decided that these rules are solely within the power of Congress itself to prescribe.

THE PRESIDENT constitutionally can have nothing to say about the fight over the Senate or House rules. He has no voice in such matters. Strictly speaking, it is unconstitutional for him to endeavor improperly to influence the votes of the members of either house on these questions, even though they may indirectly relate to the progress of his legislative proposals.

The Constitution gives the president no right to lobby or to use his presidential office to secure the passage of legislation at any time, whether by the promise of or threats to withhold favors to members of Congress. He can recommend legislation to Congress, but he cannot coerce members of either house to vote as he demands.

This is important to the integrity of democratic government today and in the future. Specifically, the House and Senate may each decide for itself how much power a minority in its membership shall have. This is a function that cannot be legally tampered with from the outside.

The authority of the House Rules Committee to conduct its business is entirely independent of the merits of legislative proposals themselves. A bill can be pigeonholed in any committee by a majority of the committee but the House can, by petition of a majority of the members, get a bill to the floor for action.

As for the anti-filibuster rule in the Senate, in some instances it makes little difference, theoretically, whether a two-thirds or a three-fifths majority is necessary to end debate.

ACTUALLY, the measures that are debated at length often have better than a one-third minority for example, the so-called conservative coalition draws votes from both parties. Nobody knows whether giving the power to three-fifths, or 60 members, of the Senate to end debate will make it any easier to get such a vote in specific instances than under the present rule requiring two-thirds, or 67 members, of the Senate.

When issues become acute and only a narrow majority in the Senate itself is in favor of a measure, it isn't hard to pick up a few votes to keep a filibuster going. The right to debate amendments at length also gives the minority an opportunity to prolong the discussion by introducing new amendments, all of which can be debated thoroughly.

A controversy over the Senate rules has come up in recent years at the beginning of almost every session. No concrete legislative measures are usually being considered, though in the background generally is the "civil rights" issue. While the assumption is that only the southerners are interested in this question, there are growing indications that northern senators find themselves concerned about limitation on debate and "gag rule."

MEANWHILE, a lot of time will be used up on the rules problem in the first few days of the session. Oddly enough, if the rules are modified so as to diminish the rights of the minority in either the House or the Senate, this will be erroneously hailed in the headlines as a victory for the President for he is not permitted under the Constitution to have a part in the making of the rules of either house.

The reason for playing it up as a presidential victory or defeat is the assumption that back stage the administration—in disregard of the Constitution—is using whatever influence it can command to cause members of Congress to vote as the White House dictates, rather than as they might really want to from the standpoint of their constituents.

Kennedy Reluctant

By James Marlow

President Kennedy's reluctance to have pitched battles with Congress for his programs has caused some puzzlement and criticism. He's still reluctant.

But for this he has reasons, although they may not please everyone.

They can be put together from what he said in his hour-long television interview last month and what was told reporters covering his Christmas vacation at Palm Beach.

Some of the reasons are fear for his popularity if he got into tangles with Congress and, if he did, that his chances for re-election in 1964 would suffer.

He has a reluctance to "raise hell" if he's not sure of winning, and he doubts he could damage some of his conservative opponents because they're too well entrenched with their own voters back home.

Nevertheless, his favorable biographer, Professor James MacGregor Burns, said a week ago on television that Kennedy's place among the best presidents will pretty much depend on whether he "can solve his problem with Congress."

Burns indirectly suggested Kennedy, like President Franklin D. Roosevelt did, pays too much attention to the House and Senate committee chairmen and not enough to the rank and file in Congress.

Kennedy's tactics, while they actually involve the basic questions of presidential popularity and leadership, happen to be exactly the same as those used by his predecessor, President Eisenhower.

In both cases the tactics have been simple and obvious: Try persuasion mildly with Congress but, even though the programs get chopped up or slaughtered, nobody ever gets mad at anybody.

This worked all right for Eisenhower. He remained highly popular eight years and got re-elected without trouble. So far it's worked for Kennedy. He's highly popular although he thinks he may have trouble in 1964.

In his television interview Kennedy gave these views:

The 1962 elections didn't change much in Congress(his Democrats, far outnumbering the Republicans, still run the show) and that any time he offers a controversial bill he'll win or lose by three or four votes.

He said a President can get an insignificant program through all right, but 'if it is significant and affects important interests and is controversial . . . there is a fight and the President is never wholly successful."

Since he feels the going will be tough and the outcome questionable on much he says he wants, then his statement—"There is no sense in raising hell, and then not being successful"—becomes a handy excuse for raising no hell at all.

At Palm Beach reporters were told:

He's glad the opinion polls give him a high popularity rating. But he thinks this popularity is readily translated into congressional action only when he speaks on major issues of national security.

When a chief executive has to go repeatedly to bat for controversial domestic programs, Kennedy is convinced, the popularity melts away and he comes a special pleader or party manager.

And, since he feels he faces a hard battle for re-election, he's in no mood to declare war on Congress, particularly one run by his own party.

And, besides, Kennedy has this attitude toward some of the committee chairmen who opposed or blocked major legislation last year: Well, they helped him on other things and will help him on other things again.

The Issue In Chester

Now that Chester's dilemma has reached Charleston and use of state officers is in effect, a number of residents have cast aside their former amused and detached attitude todward the controversy.

Many for the first time are pondering the fundamentals of security, that vital protective force of any community which guarantees law and order and safety.

The issue over the police chief post appears essentially to be a clash of principles and beliefs.

Three Councilmen apparently want complete elimination of illegal liquor by the drink in city taverns and clubs and an end of all gambling activities.

There are a number of people who have indicated they want law and order to a degree that will assure the safety and well-being of the people, with a little leeway where liquor and gambling are concerned.

And there are many who simply want an end to the fussin' and feudin' and "let's get back to normal."

At the root of the issue is whether Council or the mayor is responsible for police policy. It is obvious that Council has the controlling hand for the time being.

Smoldering for many years, the whole law enforcement issue is now a full-grown crisis and Chester residents should take a realistic and calm appraisal of the problem in a sincere bid to solve it.

The recent high-jinx by young people baiting police officers and the ill-advised humor evidenced at Council meetings and scribbled on signs about town do not contribute to a dignified and serious approach to a solution.

The problem is on which will take a sincere, intelligent, moral-minded effort, including a spirit of compromise.

The time has passed for sneers and horse laughs when a city has to call in state policemen to keep the law.

We Lost The Argument, Too

Everything possible will be done to build up the illusion that the United States came out ahead in the Cuban showdown. The truth is, the United States will be whistling in the dark.

Once more there has been a tardy reaction after a harsh provocation. Once more it has been shown why the side that seizes the initiative and holds it in a cold war gets the breaks and the other side does the bumbling.

The Soviet Union seized the initiative in Cuba and held it.

It moved in on what appeared to be a genuine revolution against an oppressive dictatorship that had been shored up with U.S. assistance. It snatched Cuba from under Uncle Sam's nose.

It then added injury to insult by changing Cuba into a Communist state and in turn added insult to injury by fortifying it as a Communist bastion in the New World—a studied and insolent challenge to the Monroe Doctrine.

WHEN THE U.S. reaction to this was violent, the Soviet Union scored still another cold war triumph by withdrawing missiles and bombers on its own terms and in its own time and refusing to permit inspection of Cuba to see what might have been left there.

Meanwhile, it seized President Kennedy's ill-advised offer not to invade Cuba if the missiles and bombers were withdrawn and built this into a commitment. It will do no good for the United States to explain that it despairs of inspecting Cuba to find out if Russia acted in good and therefore withholds the promise not to invade Cuba.

If it became necessary to invade the island to eliminate a submarine base that might be deadlier than a missile base or a bomber base, the United States would be beaten over the head with its no-invasion promise by every Latin American diplomat.

It has never been grasped by U.S. critics of United Nations intervention in the Congo that Latin Americans have strong convictions about U.S. intervention in Cuba. Latin Americans believe as firmly in self-determination for Cubans as critics of the U.N. believe in self-determination for the Congolese.

THERE HAS BEEN a reversal for the United States in Cuban policy—if the absence of a policy can be referred to as "policy."

With formal termination of discussions between Washington and Moscow in the United Nations, the issue is officially closed.

We lost the ideological issue after six decades of relations with Cuba that gave free enterprise a black eye.

We lost the military issue. Cuba is now a heavily armed offshore island manned by thousands of unfriendly troops, and this fact has not been altered an iota by a show of U.S. military strength in the Caribbean and in the air over Cuba. The Russians are still there.

And on top of everything else we lost the argument. We had to back down on the Monroe Doctrine.

There must be days in the Kremlin when Khrushchev, Mikoyan and their pals are so busy laughing they can't find time to pick out another strategic place to make Uncle Sam bleed a little.

Go Through That Again, Sonny

"It says here in the paper that Bell Laboratory engineers figured out what ailed Telstar and fixed it by remote control."

"What's Telstar? What's remote control? What's a Bell Laboratory?"

"Well, grandpa, Telstar is a communications satellite, remote control is what you do here that has an effect somewhere else and Bell Laboratory is a place where electronic geniuses and other assorted geniuses figure out things."

"What's an electronic genius, sonny?"

"Electronics is the branch of physic which treats of the emission, behavior and effects of electrons, especially in vacuum tubes and photoelectric cells."

"Are you putting me on, Sonny? Are you forgetting you owe me respect and I can cut you out of my will?"

"No sir, Scout's honor. There are geniuses who know so much about why your hair stands on end when you comb it on cold mornings that they could figure out why a sphere whirling around the earth from 600 to more than 3,000 miles high wasn't relaying messages from Europe to America and vice versa that they could fix it from a laboratory."

"If it's true, boy, I wouldn't understand it anyway. I never understood the telegraph and the telephone. Or radio and television. Or even a magnet. This stuff is in the dark arts as far as I'm concerned. But don't get me wrong. I'm not turning my back on it.

"I want to ride the wave of the future as far as she goes, or until I fall off. But you know what, Sonny? You must take a lot of things on faith these days. For all we know these fellows could be funnin' us fumbleheads who can't fix a doorbell.

"So they can fix a little ball being batted around the Milky Way. Yup. They must be mighty smart operators, all right — and about that doorbell. Get me the number of that place—what did you call it? Bell Laboratory? I want to have a word with them."

Birthday Party

As about everybody knows, Carl Sandburg the poet-philosopher had a ball at his 85th birthday party. He and Mrs. Sandburg had their picture taken cutting the birthday cake at the Waldorf and millions of their fellow Americans enjoyed seeing these two senior citizens kicking up their heels.

It should surprise no one to know there was a special reason for the heel-kicking. Old Man Sandburg is coming out with a new book of poems, and his publishers used the birthday party to kick off the sales campaign.

Sandburg poems, thanks to the long life and fame of their author, have a market. Other poems, some better than Sandburg's, go begging because no one gives a damn.

But here is this oldster and his fellow poet-philosopher Robert Frost, who was born March 26, 1874, both going strong because they represent something pleasantly out of the ordinary.

The world has a special niche for oldsters who make use of their accumulated knowledge, wisdom and skill.

It does this in the spirit of dissent from the prevailing view that old men and women are used up after they pass a certain chronological age and thereafter are social problems.

How pleasant for a change to think of advanced age in some connotation other than the high cost of sickness. How refreshing to be reminded that in the creative arts there is addition of power with years, rather than attrition.

Only in those places where usefulness depends on the chance to be active, rather than on some endowment of personal skill and knowledge has it become the rule that usefulness can be terminated by decree.

It never has been properly understood that retirement plans in business and industry exist only to sweeten the bitter blow of being cast out arbitrarily and that the policy of casting out was decreed by cabals organized to shove the old walruses off the cliff onto the jutting rocks below so the young walruses could have things their own way.

The least thing anyone worried about was the old walruses. The era of the young walruses had been ushered in, said the young walruses, and they could not be denied because they had the upper hand and the backing of two new instruments of power — the labor union and cost accounting.

Accountants could show that it cost more for old walruses than for young walruses, and unions could show that it was good tactics to enroll new and younger members to keep their treasuries filled.

What was going to happen to aging men and women left with nothing but time on their hands was no concern of the bushy-tails who were hell-bent on making life sweeter for the young.

Never have so many uninvited guests enjoyed a birthday party as enjoyed Carl Sandburg's when he turned 85, still going strong. Everybody over 65 was there in spirit.

Only four governmental departments now existing in the United States are older than the government under the Constitution. These are the Departments of State, Treasury, War and Post Office.

Just Don't Get Any Ideas!

Reuther Sets Organizing Drive

By Victor Riesel

Red-headed Walter Reuther is all set for an attempt to repeat in the age of automation the hard-hitting unionizing campaign which rocketed him into the national headlines during the assembly-line age of 25 years ago.

Victor Riesel

He is set to pour millions of dollars into a "coordinated" organizing drive. It will be aimed at big industrial centers across the land. And it will have an 18 - month deadline for action.

This being the fifth year of the space age, Reuther will specialize this time in "white collar, technical and professional" men and women who now jampack the modern plants.

Reuther plans to hit hardest with the mostest first in such areas as Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth. This will take money. But he'll have it — at least $1 million immediately from his own United Auto Workers Union.

Within a week he may raise millions more. Reuther has just summoned a war council of his old colleagues in the former CIO.

THESE MEN are the leaders of something called the Industrial Union Dept. (IUD) of the AFL-CIO. Reuther's call had the old urgent sound. It went out by telegram and was received on the morning of Jan. 4.

"Special meeting IUD Executive Committee," said the wire, "10 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 15, Pan American Room, Statler - Hilton Hotel, Washington, D.C., to consider legislative matters and to implement organizational program adopted unanimously last meeting IUD Executive Board. Urge your attendence. Walter P. Reuther, president."

This will bring together the leaders of millions of union members. If they pledge a dollar a member to the new drive this could raise $5 - $6 million. If even half is collected, Reuther can draw several million from this meeting.

In addition the IUD itself has more than $3 million in cash in its kitty. Add to this a million from the auto union. It makes an awesome organizing total — even these days. And not to be ignored is the auto union's $47.23 million strike fund.

ACTUALLY THIS money is set aside for UAW stoppages. But Reuther's new organization drive can borrow from it, I'm informed.

Reuther will need all his old force and fury in this campaign. He's got a lot riding on it. At 55 he can't afford to launch a big city "spectacular" and see it fade away quietly like some bad B picture. It's make or break.

The pros inside labor, the veterans of the old AFL, are watching this game of union roulette. Nor are they amused. They have been telling each other recently that Reuther got them into a showcase drive in lower California. He is chairman of the AFL-CIO's Organization Committee which set it up. He prepared a long blueprint for unionization in that part of the United States.

Reuther's reply simply is: Since the AFL-CIO has chosen to apply the Los Angeles concept in only one industrial area, the IUD will apply it to a number of other major industrial areas in all parts of the United States.

TO SUCCEED Reuther can't just walk into some city and set up an executive suite.

This kind of far-flung operation needs central coordination, regional headquarters, manpower, public relations men, special organizers, liaison men for contact with the national, state and local political leaders, strike centers, car pools, even relief kitchens.

Such an intricate apparatus must be based on regional councils, since it is really a network of unions converging on special targets. So, Reuther plans to set up such councils in many states. They'll be Industrial Union Councils.

His critics will say that this, in effect, will be the revival of the old CIO, inside the seven-year - old AFL-CIO. They will charge that he is launching his own labor movement.

And they may not wait long to tell it to him face to face. This probably will happen at the AFL-CIO high command mid-winter session in Florida, opening Feb. 18.

Reuther has marched up to this brink several times before. Now he'll either have to retreat permanently or go on through. But it will take a lot of broken-field running to get around the old AFL's husky safety man, George Meany.

It will be quite a game.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

J. S. Lambing of Wellsville was re-elected president of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective.

Wilfred Southern was named master councilor of Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Miss Margaret Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dunlap of Louisiana Ave., Chester, was graduated from Geneva College with a bachelor of arts degree.

James M. Huston of East Liverpool was appointed a member of the group of supervisors of the Columbiana County soil conservation district.

T. H. Fisher was re-elected president of the First National Bank.

Earl G. Shoub, city auditor of Wellsville since 1940, announced he would seek the Republican nomination for mayor in the primary election.

Miss Martha Davis was elected treasurer and Mrs. Dominic Amedeo reporter of the Chester Beldonna Club.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The crying towel industry recently had the biggest boom in its history.

Since Nixon wept on TV a few years ago, the Republicans seem to have made it a habit — in the form of editorials, the David Lawrence column and letters to the editor.

When President Kennedy was elected to office there wasn't a dry towel or a dry shoulder in the country. This constant whining would get tiresome unless you look at it from the comedy angle. For instance, as a Review editorial pointed out, the Cuban situation developed during Eisenhower's tenure in office. Isn't it odd that columnists, most editors and most letter - writers omit this little fact?

All Republicans know how to run the country better than Mr. Kennedy, while their own towns and cities are neck deep in trouble financially, with inadequate housing, school and hospital facilities and a hundred other things.

It seems logical to assume that if we can solve national and world problems with a few words a small town or even a large city would be a snap. Mr. Kennedy bids well to become the second greatest president in our history, if he wins another term in office. Just think, four more years of sobbing and weeping by the GOP.

Meddling With Congress

By David Lawrence

White House Criticized On Influence

Yes, there is a Congress. It is composed of 433 representatives and 100 senators—all of them elected directly by the people of the United States.

David Lawrence

For two months now, day after day, newspapers and television and radio have told of the activities of the President— conferences and speeches, statements on public policy and plans for legislative proposals. The country may have indeed gotten the impression that the President runs the government. Actually, the President proposes, but Congress disposes.

For, under a written Constitution, the president cannot interfere with the operations of Congress as specified in the document, and Congress cannot interfere with the exercise of any constitutional power delegated to the president.

Yet, as the 88th Congress goes into its first session this week, the impression the country has been given by some news dispatches and radio and TV discussions is that the President is trying to tell Congress what rules it shall adopt for the size of its committees or for the length of its debates.

Again and again, the Supreme Court has decided that these rules are solely within the power of Congress itself to prescribe.

THE PRESIDENT constitutionally can have nothing to say about the fight over the Senate or House rules. He has no voice in such matters. Strictly speaking, it is unconstitutional for him to endeavor improperly to influence the votes of the members of either house on these questions, even though they may indirectly relate to the progress of his legislative proposals.

The Constitution gives the president no right to lobby or to use his presidential office to secure the passage of legislation at any time, whether by the promise of or threats to withhold favors to members of Congress. He can recommend legislation to Congress, but he cannot coerce members of either house to vote as he demands.

This is important to the integrity of democratic government today and in the future. Specifically, the House and Senate may each decide for itself how much power a minority in its membership shall have. This is a function that cannot be legally tampered with from the outside.

The authority of the House Rules Committee to conduct its business is entirely independent of the merits of legislative proposals themselves. A bill can be pigeonholed in any committee by a majority of the committee but the House can, by petition of a majority of the members, get a bill to the floor for action.

As for the anti-filibuster rule in the Senate, in some instances it makes little difference, theoretically, whether a two-thirds or a three-fifths majority is necessary to end debate.

ACTUALLY, the measures that are debated at length often have better than a one-third minority for example, the so-called conservative coalition draws votes from both parties. Nobody knows whether giving the power to three-fifths, or 60 members, of the Senate to end debate will make it any easier to get such a vote in specific instances than under the present rule requiring two-thirds, or 67 members, of the Senate.

When issues become acute and only a narrow majority in the Senate itself is in favor of a measure, it isn't hard to pick up a few votes to keep a filibuster going. The right to debate amendments at length also gives the minority an opportunity to prolong the discussion by introducing new amendments, all of which can be debated thoroughly.

A controversy over the Senate rules has come up in recent years at the beginning of almost every session. No concrete legislative measures are usually being considered, though in the background generally is the "civil rights" issue. While the assumption is that only the southerners are interested in this question, there are growing indications that northern senators find themselves concerned about limitation on debate and "gag rule."

MEANWHILE, a lot of time will be used up on the rules problem in the first few days of the session. Oddly enough, if the rules are modified so as to diminish the rights of the minority in either the House or the Senate, this will be erroneously hailed in the headlines as a victory for the President for he is not permitted under the Constitution to have a part in the making of the rules of either house.

The reason for playing it up as a presidential victory or defeat is the assumption that back stage the administration—in disregard of the Constitution—is using whatever influence it can command to cause members of Congress to vote as the White House dictates, rather than as they might really want to from the standpoint of their constituents.

Kennedy Reluctant

By James Marlow

President Kennedy's reluctance to have pitched battles with Congress for his programs has caused some puzzlement and criticism. He's still reluctant.

But for this he has reasons, although they may not please everyone.

They can be put together from what he said in his hour-long television interview last month and what was told reporters covering his Christmas vacation at Palm Beach.

Some of the reasons are fear for his popularity if he got into tangles with Congress and, if he did, that his chances for re-election in 1964 would suffer.

He has a reluctance to "raise hell" if he's not sure of winning, and he doubts he could damage some of his conservative opponents because they're too well entrenched with their own voters back home.

Nevertheless, his favorable biographer, Professor James MacGregor Burns, said a week ago on television that Kennedy's place among the best presidents will pretty much depend on whether he "can solve his problem with Congress."

Burns indirectly suggested Kennedy, like President Franklin D. Roosevelt did, pays too much attention to the House and Senate committee chairmen and not enough to the rank and file in Congress.

Kennedy's tactics, while they actually involve the basic questions of presidential popularity and leadership, happen to be exactly the same as those used by his predecessor, President Eisenhower.

In both cases the tactics have been simple and obvious: Try persuasion mildly with Congress but, even though the programs get chopped up or slaughtered, nobody ever gets mad at anybody.

This worked all right for Eisenhower. He remained highly popular eight years and got re-elected without trouble. So far it's worked for Kennedy. He's highly popular although he thinks he may have trouble in 1964.

In his television interview Kennedy gave these views:

The 1962 elections didn't change much in Congress(his Democrats, far outnumbering the Republicans, still run the show) and that any time he offers a controversial bill he'll win or lose by three or four votes.

He said a President can get an insignificant program through all right, but "if it is significant and affects important interests and is controversial . . . there is a fight and the President is never wholly successful."

Since he feels the going will be tough and the outcome questionable on much he says he wants, then his statement—"There is no sense in raising hell, and then not being successful"—becomes a handy excuse for raising no hell at all.

At Palm Beach reporters were told:

He's glad the opinion polls give him a high popularity rating. But he thinks this popularity is readily translated into congressional action only when he speaks on major issues of national security.

When a chief executive has to go repeatedly to bat for controversial domestic programs, Kennedy is convinced, the popularity melts away and he comes a special pleader or party manager.

And, since he feels he faces a hard battle for re-election, he's in no mood to declare war on Congress, particularly one run by his own party.

And, besides, Kennedy has this attitude toward some of the committee chairmen who opposed or blocked major legislation last year: Well, they helped him on other things and will help him on other things again.

Youngster Swallows Pellets Used For Toy Train 'Smoke'

Misfortune took some bizarre twists in causing injuries which sent seven to City Hospital Tuesday and today for treatment after separate accidents.

Pamela Walters, 2, daughter of Regis Walters of John St., was taken to the hospital about 9 p. m. after she swallowed some smoke pellets used in electric trains.

The Poison Control Center at Youngstown was consulted on the hazards of the pellets used to create a smoke illusion in toy trains, and the child was subsequently released.

David Jolly, 13, son of Delmar (Bud) Jolly of Cannons Mills Rd., was first bitten on one leg by a dog while visiting the home of a school friend yesterday afternoon, and a short time later injured the other foot when his sled hit a stump while coasting.

Flora Adrian of Lisbon R. D. 3 was treated early yesterday afternoon for particles of a hearing aid in her right ear after the hearing piece broke when her head struck the side of an auto in which she was riding as the car swerved.

Florence Winland, 355 Ogden St., was treated this morning at 7 for injuries suffered in a fall down 12 steps at home.

David Wright, 2, son of Ottomar Wright of Chester R. D. 1, received a laceration of an eyebrow in a fall against the corner of a coffee table.

Youngster Swallows Pellets Used For Toy Train 'Smoke'

Misfortune took some bizarre twists in causing injuries which sent seven to City Hospital Tuesday and today for treatment after separate accidents.

Pamela Walters, 2, daughter of Regis Walters of John St., was taken to the hospital about 9 p. m. after she swallowed some smoke pellets used in electric trains.

The Poison Control Center at Youngstown was consulted on the hazards of the pellets used to create a smoke illusion in toy trains, and the child was subsequently released.

David Jolly, 13, son of Delmar (Bud) Jolly of Cannons Mills Rd., was first bitten on one leg by a dog while visiting the home of a school friend yesterday afternoon, and a short time later injured the other foot when his sled hit a stump while coasting.

Flora Adrian of Lisbon R. D. 3 was treated early yesterday afternoon for particles of a hearing aid in her right ear after the hearing piece broke when her head struck the side of an auto in which she was riding as the car swerved.

Florence Winland, 355 Ogden St., was treated this morning at 7 for injuries suffered in a fall down 12 steps at home.

David Wright, 2, son of Ottomar Wright of Chester R. D. 1, received a laceration of an eyebrow in a fall against the corner of a coffee table.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

Deaths and Funerals

C. D. Simpson Claimed At 63

Clarence D. Simpson, 1041 St. George St., a Prudential Insurance Co. agent for 36 years, died of a heart attack Tuesday about 10:30 a. m. at his home. He was 63.

Mrs. Simpson worked last on Monday.

He was born here, to the late Fred Simspon and Clara Price Simpson. He was a member of St. Ann's Catholic Church and the Elks Lodge.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Frances Nolan Simpson at home; two daughters, Mrs. Madalyn Tyler of Arlington, Va., and Mrs. Irene Kent of Annandale, Va.; a son, Richard D. Simpson of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; two brothers, Earl Simpson of Newell and Alvin Simpson of the San Fernando Valley in California; a sister, Mrs. Grace Simpson Martin of Burbank, Calif., and five grandsons.

The Dawson Funeral Home is arranging services.

Thomas Jarvis

Thomas O. Jarvis, 60, of the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd., a stockroom clerk at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., died this morning at 2:30 at City Hospital, where he had been a patient since Saturday. He had been in failing health many months.

Mr. Jarvis was born in Yellow Creek Township Aug. 5, 1902, to the late William Jarvis and Dora Jewell Jarvis.

He resided in Wellsville at 323 Broadway for many years previous to moving to this area. While in Wellsville, he worked at the former Adams Food Market and then for some years was employed at Milligan's Hardware. For the past 10 years, he was employed at the pottery and worked last Jan. 2. He attended the Longs Run United Presbyterian Church.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lillian Peterson Jarvis at home; two daughters, Mrs. Thelma Gamble and Mrs. Emma Jean Snyder, both of East Liverpool R. D.; two sons, William Thomas Jarvis of Albuquerque, N. M., and Harry O. Jarvis of East Liverpool; three sisters, Mrs. Cora Hampson of Lisbon, Mrs. Emma Sweet of Garrettsville and Mrs. Elizabeth Wollam of Wellsville; a brother, Herman Jarvis of Hammondsville R. D., and 16 grandchildren.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the MacLean Funeral Home by the Rev. Robert K. Fogal. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home in Wellsville Thursday afternoon and evening.

Donald L. Custer

LISBON — Donald LeRoy Custer, 44, of West Point died suddenly Tuesday at 2 p.m. of a heart attack at his home.

Born June 19, 1918, in West Point to LeRoy Custer and Laura Nuzum Custer, he spent his entire life in the community.

Mr. Custer was a member of the Madison Presbyterian Church, the West Point Grange and the West Point volunteer fire department.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Laura Belle Huff Custer, and a son, Donald Custer Jr., both at home.

Services will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. at the Henry Funeral Home by the Rev. Frank Hare, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Regis Scharf. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home any time after 3 p.m. Thursday.

Henry Shelton

Services for Henry H. Shelton, formerly of Cleveland Ave., will be held Friday at 10:30 a. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by John N. Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ.

Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Maxine Coleman of East Liverpool.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon and evening.

4 Auxiliary Members Get Coast Guard Test

Four members underwent tests for volunteer service as inspector examiners at a meeting of Flotilla 7 of the Coast Guard Auxiliary Tuesday night at the headquarters of the Wellsville Boat Club.

The examinations will be sent to St. Louis headquarters and the results announced later. Inspector examiners served on a volunteer basis to enforce safety regulations on the river.

Capt. Paul Shively of Division 7 in Pittsburgh discussed boating. Eight attended.

New members will receive examinations at the next meeting with the date to be set later, Otis Weekley, commander, said.

Merry Christmas— A Ft. Knox Sergeant

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP) — Every time a new class of recruits reports to this armored center, one of the sergeants tells them:

"No, I don't have a brother named Happy New Year. Nor do I have one named Fourth of July."

The sergeant: Merry Christmas.

"Some day, says Christmas, "a recruit by the name of Scrooge is going to walk in here, and when he does, I'm going AWOL."

PTA Has Skit At Grandview

Taking part in the skit based on a magazine article were Mrs. Shirley Mumaw, Mrs. Ruth Coil, Mrs. Elizabeth Hillyard, Mrs. Pauline Bryan and Mrs. Winifred Hetzler.

Mrs. Irma Morgan directed the playlet, which was followed by a discussion.

Plans were discussed for a Founder's Day program to be held at the next meeting Feb. 5 and to which past presidents will be invited.

The attendance banner was won by the second and third grades taught by Mrs. Hetzler. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Jean Whittington, president.

The group is sponsoring a clothing drive for needy children in the community. Donations are being received at the school.

Board Reorganizes

EAST PALESTINE — Roy S. Blackburn, president, and Ralph Lemley, vice president, were returned at a reorganization meeting of the East Palestine School District Board of Education Monday night.

DiSalle

Salle appeared for his swan song Tuesday. The galleries were filled. Spectators included a number of cabinet members.

Parts of DiSalle's address remarkably resembled sections of his State-of-the-State address he delivered in 1959. Most of the differences: In 1959 he had said, "We should do thus and so." Tuesday he asserted, "We have done thus and so."

Although his administration has been plagued for months by a shortage of ready cash to meet the state's bills, DiSalle asserted that, with careful management:

"It will be possible to meet the authorized expenditures of the remainder of this fiscal year (ending June 30) and have a small cash balance on hand."

The governor told the legislators, both old and new, that failure to catch up with needed programs in the state will tear down Ohio's future growth potential.

He said:

"If your choice lies between reducing needed services even more or producing necessary revenues, there is only one clear choice you can make. . . . Only in keeping Ohio abreast of opportunity and needs can you maintain a real sense of satisfaction that must be the objective of life itself."

The cash shortage during the last two years of the DiSalle administration occurred despite a $155-million-a-year tax - increase program he pushed through in 1959.

He pointed to increases in state foundation program school costs as pupil population rises, as well as other increases in state subsidies builtin under law. He also pointed out that the population explosion of the 1940s is about to hit the state universities.

DiSalle said he gives his complete support to a recent report by the Commission on Problems of Higher Education, including a key section on medical education.

"The increase in capacity of the medical schools at Ohio State (University), the establishment of a school in Toledo (on the campus of the University of Toledo), the expansion of facilities at the University of Cincinnati, together with the inclusion of facilities in Akron and Dayton will give Ohio a balanced educational System," DiSalle said.

Whether The Weather Changes With Moon

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Farmers who figure the phases of the moon have a bearing on the weather may be right, geographer says.

Clyde J. Bollinger, professor emeritus of the University of Oklahoma geography department, told a recent Oklahoma Academy of Science meeting here that studies of daily weather reports for 91 years show that heavy rains occur most frequently in the first and third quarters of the lunar month.

Chester

pointment of Davis as chief and Lennens as patrolman.

The controversy over the police situation has sparked warm discussions from dinner tables to organization meetings.

Held Too Controversial

At a meeting of the Kiwanis Club last night, Lee Adams, president, asked if members wished to discuss the situation. Paul Finley and Dr. Howard Matthew said they believed the matter too controversial and the club should not discuss it nor take a stand.

However, R. M. McFarland, high school principal, said he wanted to "take a one - man stand," and said club members should "get behind the councilmen who have promised to enforce the laws as they are on the books, or to change the laws that do not suit our needs so we can live as citizens should live."

The Rev. Donald Vogel of the First United Presbyterian Church declared the club should support Council and the mayor, adding, "Council should act for the good of the community."

Pastor Expresses Concern

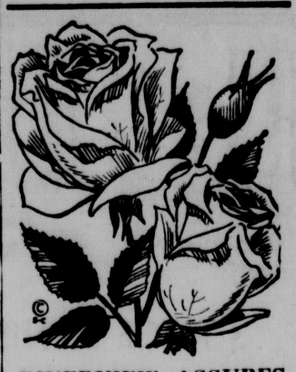

The minister said he was concerned "that some in Chester seem to want to return to a town meeting form of government. This," he said, "results in dissension and discouragement."

He said the Kiwanians should help Council and the mayor act as the town's representative government.

Dr. Matthews said Council is currently creating too much attention on one issue and neglecting many important issues which need attention.

However, R. M. McFarland, high school principal, said he wanted to "take a one - man stand," and said club members should "get behind the councilmen who have promised to enforce the laws as they are on the books, or to change the laws that do not suit our needs so we can live as citizens should live."

The Rev. Donald Vogel of the First United Presbyterian Church declared the club should support Council and the mayor, adding, "Council should act for the good of the community."

Pastor Expresses Concern

The minister said he was concerned "that some in Chester seem to want to return to a town meeting form of government. This," he said, "results in dissension and discouragement."

He said the Kiwanians should help Council and the mayor act as the town's representative government.

Dr. Matthews said Council is currently creating too much attention on one issue and neglecting many important issues which need attention.

Lisbon Board Returns 2 To Office For '63

LISBON — Dr. Wade Bacon, president, and Edwin L. Kaufman, vice president, were re-elected by unanimous vote of the Lisbon Board of Education at the annual reorganization meeting Tuesday night. This is Dr. Bacon's sixth consecutive year in the post.

The board also approved temporary appropriations of $145,000 until permanent funds are set up in March. Of this total $115,000 is for salaries.

In other business, the board discussed proposed changes in bus transportation on Adams Rd. between Franklin Square Rd. and Route 164, north of Lisbon, and to Gander Flats, just southeast. Supt. Oliver Payne was instructed to make any changes necessary to include these areas for pickup.

A discussion was held on making an application for funds for a new 66-passenger bus to replace one for next year but no official action was taken.

The board also held a lengthy discussion concerning renewal of a 16-mill operating levy which must be submitted again as it expires this year. Action was tabled until more definite figures are received from the county auditor.

Principal Jack Lewis was authorized to attend the elementary principals' convention at Columbus Feb. 7-9.

Supt. Payne reported that the termite control program has been completed at the high school and that installation of the language laboratories completed with the exception of student amplifiers. Drapes were placed in Room 206.

The board was told Earl McClintock has assumed the duties of head custodian of the three schools and that the school Jeep was repaired during the holidays.

The Thompson Electric Co. has installed a heater in the shop room at a cost of $216. The need for filters at the McKinley Addition was discussed and the board said water will be analyzed to determine the need for a boiler compound.

Payne also said the State Board of Education has approved a resolution to discourage boards from setting up grade requirements before pupils can take advanced courses. He said all superintendents were notified to report to their boards on this resolution following an attorney general's ruling of last November.

Eleven text books have been ordered for the trigonometry class. A discussion was held on participating in the World Day of Prayer in the schools and Supt. Payne was instructed to act.

Bills ordered paid and $35,756.45 was authorized for salaries.

Next meeting is Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Beaver Boosters Discuss Festival

Further discussion on the planned Beaver Local Spring Festival June 3-8 was held at a meeting of the Beaver Local Boosters Club Tuesday night at the high school.

George Dunn of Lisbon R. D. 3 announced any area groups desiring to operate booths or concessions at the fete may notify him.

Dunn reported on a meeting of the Athletic Association Tuesday night, and the group discussed some of the association projects including basketball, wrestling and football clinics later this year and the annual budget.

The group expressed willingness to serve a Blue and Gold Cub Scout dinner Feb. 15 for some 150 if the scout group agrees.

Bills totaling $365 were paid. Mrs. Charles Smith, vice president, was in charge. Next meeting is Jan. 22.

Dr. Walter Reed (1851-1902) developed a successful treatment for yellow fever.

Tshombe didn't say what would cause him to give the signal to blow up the mines and utilities of the rich copper-producing region. He has threatened before to resort to scorched-earth tactics rather than accept forced reintegration into the Congo.

U.N. forces have all but shattered Tshombe's military resources in a drive that began late last month. Representatives of the central Congo government followed the U.N. armies and have begun to take over the provincial administration.

There was no immediate word from the United Nations on how it proposed to deal with Tshombe's threatened sabotage. When he arrived in the capital, Tunisian United Nations troops withdrew from the presidential palace and Katangan gendarmes resumed duty there.

Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. undersecretary, left by plane to tour northern Katanga. He has said that he and Tshombe had nothing to talk about.

Nearly 400 Congolese and two Belgians were reported killed in the outbreak of fighting in south Kasai, where tribal conflict is chronic.

Hammondsville Students Return To Their Studies

They include Tommy Rawlings and Curtis Rose of Kent State University, Keith Burgett of Ohio State University, Ernest Leedy, Jimmy Leedy and Doris Taylor of Malone College in Canton, and Douglas Logan of Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky.

Tony Joe Smolinsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Smolinsky, entered City Hospital Friday for treatment of a foot infection. He is a member of the Stanton junior high basketball team.

Mrs. Craig Hawley and son, Jeffery, of Ravenna are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baker.

Airman 2C John F. Grafton has completed his enlistment in the Air Force. He was assigned last at Clark Field in the Philippines and was in an Air Police squad. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Grafton and a graduate of Stanton Local High School.

Pfc. and Mrs. Steve Mase have concluded a two - week visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sprouse, and family of Chestnut Grove. He is with the Army Security forces and Mrs. Mase works in the post finance office at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Servicemen who have returned to duty after holiday visits include Airman 3C Thomas Grafton of Goodfellow Air Base in Texas, Airman 3C Calvin Householder to Seymour Johnson Air Base in North Carolina, and Navy Seaman Wayne Ketchum to Great Lakes, Ill.

Congregation Recalls Minister At Mission

The Rev. Paul Brookes was recalled as pastor of the Emmanuel Mission near Chester at a congregational meeting Sunday afternoon. Church officers elected were Mrs. Brookes, treasurer; Mrs. Hattie Cunningham, secretary, and Ted Cunningham, choir leader.

Merger Plan Aired By Area School Board

Merging of the six districts comprising the Southern Beaver County Joint Schools was discussed at the meeting of the Joint Board of Education Monday night at South Side High School near Hookstown.

Under the proposal discussed at the meeting, the joint board will enact a resolution at its meeting Feb. 4 asking the proposal be placed on the ballot at the May 8 primary.

Its action will be taken after the individual boards in Hookstown, Georgetown, Shippingport, Hanover Township, Greene Township and Frankfort Springs submit resolutions urging the joint board to act.

Victor Thomas, supervising principal, emphasized the proposal is not connected with the state's compulsory school merger plan.

The board approved field trips for the Future Nurses Club to East Liverpool City Hospital and to Dixmont State Hospital during Mental Health Week. Mrs. Lois Frazier, school nurse, sponsors the club.

It also authorized Charles P. Henderson, high school principal, to attend the convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals in Pittsburgh next month.

Because of the absence of Harvey M. Todd, president, appointment of standing committees was deferred until the meeting Feb. 4. David L. McKenzie, vice president, presided.

exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Da Vinci, a man of science as well as an artist, might have been able to do something about the technical defects Tuesday night, but nobody on the scene could.

First failure came when President and Mrs. Kennedy arrived at the gallery after eating dinner at the French ambassador's. The elevator failed to work. Mrs. Kennedy had to hitch up her long pink chiffon dress, a strapless number embroidered with pearls and brilliants, and hike up the broad marble stairs.

So also did Mme. Malraux, looking like a Renaissance picture in a black velvet dress with a rope of pearls looping down to her waist.

For the benefit of the 1,500 distinguished listeners, including members of Congress, who could not hear a word: M. Malraux has a theory that Leonardo tried to improve on pagan antiquity by endowing his painting with "sight, soul, spirituality."

36 At Annual Grange Meal

Thirty - six attended the annual coverdish dinner of the Fairview Grange Tuesday night at the Pughtown Grange Hall.

It was reported the home economics committee donated $5 each to the Salk Institute, CARE and fruit baskets for invalids.

Mrs. Norma Buffington of Jefferson Grange, Hancock County Grange deputy, outlined plans for the county group for the year.

Plans were aired for entertaining the Pomona Grange Saturday night at the Pughtown hall.

A reading was given by Mrs. Rose Hukill. The dinner was served by the social committee headed by Mrs. Marie Pugh.

A memorial service was held for the late Charles Jones, and the charter was draped by Mrs. Charles Mills and Mrs. Hilary Johnston.

Campbell Herron, master, presided. Next meeting is Jan. 22.

Mrs. Dolores Moore was elected chairman of the McLain Circle of the Women's Association of the Grace United Presbyterian Church when she entertained Monday night at her home on St. George St.

Other officers are Mrs. Edith Hilditch, co-chairman; Mrs. Agnes Barrett, secretary; Mrs. Marilyn Cowan, treasurer, and Korean orphan fund chairman; Mrs. Shirley Leonard, prayer circle chairman, and Mrs. Carrie Hargraves, World Service chairman.

During business conducted by Mrs. Moore, study leaders and hostesses for the current year were chosen. Prayer circles were set up. Plans were made to serve as hostesses for the general meeting in February and to conduct the worship for the May meeting.

Mrs. Helen Reed led the Bible study on "The One People of God," from the book, "A Call and a Promise." The group sang "I Need Thee Every Hour." Mrs. Moore offered prayer.

Mrs. Barrett discussed the study subject as reviewed in an article in the magazine Concern. Mrs. Gertrude Blevins, association president, led prayer for missionaries remembered in "The Yearbook of Prayer."

Bandages were rolled during the project session. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hargraves.

Mrs. Hilditch and Mrs. Hargraves will be hostesses for the meeting Feb. 4 with Mrs. Moore.

Travel award at 500 was won by Mrs. Elsie Grafton when the Hi Scorers Club met Monday night with Mrs. Dorothy Young of Garner Ave.

Other winners at the two tables in play were Mrs. Jo Ann McCauley, Mrs. Joan Leedy and Mrs. Mary Sanford.

Lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. Mary Pysniak of Hammondsville will entertain Jan. 28.

The Pairs and Spares Class of the Grace United Presbyterian Church will meet Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dotson of Louise St.

A new constitution will be adopted at the combined circle meeting of Lutheran Church Women Jan. 21 in the Parish Hall of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Marion Miller, social chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Marie Stier, Mrs. Doris Cameron, Mrs. Agnes Hood, Mrs. Robert Madish and Mrs. Lee Bricker.

Mrs. Ellen Wolfe will be councilor; Mrs. Mildred Pepin, vice councilor; Mrs. Fern Fawcett, conductor, and Mrs. Victoria Willis, trustee.

Mrs. Willis, retiring councilor, presided for business. Reports were heard on the sick and shutins.

Mrs. Olive White of Toronto, district deputy, spoke on the work of the lodge.

The auditing committee, Mrs. Fawcett, Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Dorothy Mountford and Mrs. Pepin, will meet Friday night at the latter's home on Minerva St.

The group reconvened at the Pepin home where refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Wolfe and Mrs. Fawcett.

Rotary Hears Hiles

Beaver Park Head Urges 'Prodding' Of Legislature

Elmer Hiles urged more public sentiment to prod the Ohio Legislature into appropriating funds for expansion of Beaver Creek State Park in addressing the Rotary Club Tuesday afternoon.

The park manager declared the area could be "something the whole community could be proud of" if expanded and its historic features restored.

Beaver Creek State Park was established in 1945 and was originally to have been a tract of 8,000 acres, but to date only 1,700 have been purchased.

Speaking from an outdoorsman's point of view, at the club's meeting in the Travelers Hotel, Hiles described in detail many of the park's attractions which he said should be restored and preserved for the future.

"Gaston's Mill," historic grist mill erected at Echo Dell in 1837, "has not always been Gaston's Mill," Hiles told the Club.

"It was owned at one time by a man named Whittaker, and was known as Whittaker's Mill. But Gaston and Whittaker swapped their property — the mill for a hotel — and there have been five owners," Hiles related.

"Gaston's Mill was operated by water until 1897, then converted to steam until the steam engine exploded. Then, it was powered by gasoline, also the source of power for a saw mill there, until 1924 when it was abandoned," he continued.

"It would be a great thing to restore the mill to show people the kind of work done in that period," Hiles said.

The manager noted the park's rich geological history, pointing out it has glacial drift remnants of the four major glaciations that creeped across the nation.

The glaciers created steep gorges and sharp hillsides. Besides the terrain, other evidence of the park's glacial history can be seen in northern-type flora not found elsewhere in this area, and a variety of Canadian associated birds.

Hiles related the ruins of the old dam at Gaston's Mill on the Sandy-Beaver Canal "still are good after 125 years." The dam was dynamited long ago but the framework can be seen resting on the bottom of the creek when the water is clear.

The approximately 40 locks along the canal are also "well preserved" and include the Simon Girty or Lusk Locks, "still intact although abandoned a century ago," Hiles continued. Famous Indian renegade Simon Girty camped with a Delaware tribe near the locks that bear his name, the park manager told the club.

In addition to the historical side of the park, its assets also include native animals such as the beaver, dense forests, rugged terrain, the rippling creek, trails through primitive countryside and scenic views, Hiles said.

Hiles measured the tourist value of such a natural attraction located near at hand to large communities, citing survey figures of money spent by visitors.

The park manager listed a number of improvements needed at Beaver Creek in addition to its attractions.

Needed most, Hiles said, is money from the legislature to expand the area. With state or federal funds, land could be acquired to eliminate the confusion of visitors invading private property. In the park area at present are disconnected areas flanking the stream, he related.

"Acquisition of land has held the park back. We can't build it up with private strips of land in between the park-owned ground," he said. "In five or six miles, the park is separated in three or four different places along Beaver Creek," he added.

Also a threat to conservation of the park's natural beauty is the leasing of about 1,000 acres to stripping firms who eventually plan to strip the ground of coal deposits, he said.

Hiles described the roads as "terrible, dusty and muddy; we'll have to work on that project," he said.

Responding to a question, Hiles said he had spotted only one copperhead snake in the park during his nearly two years as park manager. Many visitors confuse harmless water snakes with the poisonous variety, he explained.

Hiles also related that a primitive camping area opened last summer didn't prove as big an attraction as expected. Only $27.80 in fees was collected from visitors to the primitive area, but Hiles explained that "perhaps many people didn't know it was there."

The charge for using the primitive camp is 10 cents a person. Its facilities include only outdoor toilets and waste containers. A sign has been erected at a spot nearby called "Lookout Point," where a visitor can see for miles, Hiles said.

The speaker was introduced by William H. Vodrey Jr., program chairman.

Sidney C. Porter Jr., inducted four new members, H. James Allison, John T. Hall, Richard Witherow and Leland Pittenger, who were also given lapel pins and scrolls.

3 Music Students To Attend Event

Three students of East Liverpool High School will participate in the District 8 music conference Jan. 19 at Northwest High School in Canal Fulton.

Joe Judge, Ted Waters and Gary Wynn will be accompanied by Vincent Maola, supervisor of instrumental music, and his wife.

Registration will begin at 8 a. m. and clinics for directors will be conducted throughout the day. Arthur Theil of Carrollton is president of District 8.

Performing groups include the Capitol Concert Band of Columbus, the Canal Fulton Clinic Band, Select Band, District Conference band, Northwest Community Band and Northwest High School band.

A. Jerd Bayless will direct the District 8 band.

Legislature

eral Assembly meets again Monday night.

King objected that he, as minority leader of the Senate, did not have "a single page boy assigned to my office" to handle errands.

He added it was customary for both parties to share Senate patronage and said he was under the impression—until the resolution was offered—that the traditional sharing was to be maintained.

Clerks of the two houses got around an apparent impasse on legislative printing as the result of a lawsuit on the subject by the simple expedient of ordering the printing on a day-to-day basis.

Despite a dispute involving the F.J. Heer Printing Co. of Columbus and the Columbus Blank Book Co. over who should get the legislative printing business—Heer has done the work for more than 50 years—the clerks pointed out that one day's legislative work is not valid unless the journal of the day is read and approved the following day. Therefore, they said, the journal is absolutely essential to legislative activity.

In other major orders of business:

The Senate's minority Democrats selected former Rep. Francis D. Sullivan of Cleveland to fill the vacancy created by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's appointment of Sen. Eugene J. Sawicki, D-Cuyahoga, as Cleveland Municipal Court judge. Sullivan was the first new senator selected under the constitutional amendment adopted in 1961 which enables a party's senators to select a successor to a vacancy in their own ranks.

The House gave Clerk Carl Guess, former Carroll County representative, a pay raise to $14,000 to equalize his salary with that of veteran Senate Clerk Thomas E. Bateman.

The House passed and sent to the Senate the first bill of the session, an emergency measure to correct hundreds of minor errors in the Ohio code. Passage is necessary before lawmakers tackle the job of revising laws because a number of section numbers have been changed.

Wetzel And Sargus Get Committee Posts

Special To The Review

COLUMBUS — Columbiana County legislators nailed a couple of the top committee assignments in the 105th General Assembly, announcement of the Senate and House lineups showed Tuesday.

Sen. Edmund Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, won seats on the important judiciary committee and the commerce and labor committee. The judiciary committee is expected to handle any legislation introduced in this session in Ohio's controversial Blue Laws.

In the house, Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon, R-Columbiana, will serve as chairman of the mines and natural resources committee and will hold a seat on the busy finance committee. He held the same posts in the 104th Assembly.

Fluoridation Values Cited

The effectiveness of fluoridation in curbing tooth decay was cited by Dr. Reid Calcott of Chester at a meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night at the City Hall auditorium.

Calcott, a dentist, listed statistics showing the reduction of tooth decay in Illinois and Colorado.

He said Chester, where fluoridation was introduced into the water supply about eight years ago, is fortunate to have this modern medical advance.

Albert Kell reported plans have been completed for installation of officers and a Ladies Night program next Tuesday at 6 at the First Christian Church.

Carroll Dingess, operator of a service station, was introduced as a new member.

James Waggle and Denver Carter were guests, along with Bob Taylor and Jim Oyster of the high school Key Club. Oyster reported a Key Club dance held Saturday night for the Glenn Reed family, whose home was recently destroyed in a fire, netted $75 in money and an equal amount in food and clothing.

Alvin Fineman, chairman of the club-sponsored March of Dimes drive, said Key Club members have placed coin receptacles in business places, and letters are to be mailed to businesses and industries next week.

Council Delays Filling Vacancy

NEW CUMBERLAND — Town Council Tuesday night tabled applications for the post of clerk and will delay considering an appointment until the fiscal year ends in June.

Mrs. Mary Lou Newburn, clerk for many years, submitted her resignation in December, effective Jan. 1, but agreed to continue serving until a new clerk is appointed this summer.

Mayor Albert Fuccy asked Solicitor Edwin Flowers to inquire into the city's eligibility for federal funds under an accelerated public works program.

County Realtor Board Inducts New Officers

New officers were installed when the Columbiana County Board of Realtors met Tuesday evening at the Timberlane's Restaurant in Salem.

Installed were: Robert Stamp, president; Richard Capel, vice president; Chester D. Gow, secretary-treausrer, and Joseph Fisher, director. All are of Salem.

Theodore Hart, retiring secretary - treasurer, presented the year-end financial report and plans for the coming year were discussed. The group will meet again in February.

Highlandtown Corps Will Aid Homecoming

Plans were discussed for operating a booth in the annual village homecoming celebration in July when the Highlandtown Women's Corps met Tuesday night in the fire station.

Mrs. Janet Taggart, vice president, said possibilities of disbanding were also aired due to poor attendance. Volunteers are needed to supervise record hops and other activities at the fire hall, she said. Those interested may contact the vice president.

Five were present. Next meeting is Feb. 12.

St. Stephen's Meeting Set

The annual parish meeting of the congregation of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church will be held Sunday in the Parish Hall with supper at 5 p. m. and business at 6.

The Women of St. Stephen's of which Mrs. William E. Dunlap Jr. is president, will sponsor the supper, the first to precede the annual meeting.

During business, four vestrymen will be elected to replace Charles M. Horton, senior warden; Clyde A. Cox, junior warden; Charles Larcombe, clerk, and Dr. Melbourne P. Burnett, all of whom retired at the end of 1962.

Vestrymen who retired a year ago and are eligible for re-election are Alwyn Purinton Jr., Lester Jones and John T. Eccleston.

The Rev. D. R. Salisbury Jr., rector, will preside and address the congregation on the state of the parish.

A first showing of color slides of the parish activities during 1962 will be presented by Ronald K. Mason, parish photographer.

2 Children Save 4 In Fire, Infant Dies

CINCINNATI (AP) — When the one-floor home of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hayes near Loveland caught fire Tuesday, two of the couple's seven children were able to save all but the baby of the family.

Firemen said Darlene Hayes, 11, and Ralph Hayes, 13, were unable to get back inside to save 16-month-old Doris. The parents were away from home at the time.

Ex-Thin Girl Shares Rules For Gaining

Ida Jean Kain

"I was one of those 'painfully thin' girls described in a recent column. Until a few months ago I weighed a mere 85 pounds. I have a small frame, and I am 5 feet 2. My weight is now 95 pounds and I'm pushing toward my goal of 105 pounds, which is a good weight for me.

"Because I am a breakfast skipper and a smoker, I thought other thin girls might like to know what I did to gain those ten pounds.

"Rule 1: No smoking before breakfast. Also, I made it a rule not to smoke for at least one hour before lunch, and before dinner. Now I have a keener appetite for my meals — food tastes so much better.

"RULE 2: Drink a high calorie beverage at breakfast. Breakfast is not my favorite meal, and it must be quick. So, in place of coffee or tea I switched to cocoa-malt. It's loaded with calories and gives more staying satisfaction. Now I also have toast and sometimes an egg.

"Rule 3: Prepare good meals. With my new interest in food I'm becoming a much better cook. I try to fix attractive meals and add a delicious dessert at dinner. My husband and two pre-schoolers are of course delighted with this!

"Rule 4: Take booster calories before retiring. I add extra calories by having hot milk and bread and butter about an hour before bedtime.

"For the first time in years my parents, relatives and husband no longer harp on how skinny I am... even strangers used to comment. I got so tired of hearing about it I decided to buckle down and gain some needed weight. Now I fill out my clothes, they no longer hang on me. Perhaps my plan can help other underweights to gain."

Smart girl! She planned a gaining program and then works her plan. You can too. Our model devised ways to sharpen her appetite and ways to round out the calories. The extra calories are taken in foods which provide vital nutrients...not just in empty calories.

I TIP MY dietitians cap to this former skinny girl. Our sincere thanks for sharing.

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for two leaflets: "Grade A Nutrition For Gaining," and "Weight - Training For Curve Making." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Negotiations Stepped Up In Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Representatives of Cleveland's two strike-bound daily newspapers and the striking unions meet again today in stepped up negotiations brought about by the intervention of Mayor Ralph Locher in attempts to settle the 41 - day - old walkout.

Bargaining teams for the Plain Dealer, the Press and News and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild scheduled a morning meeting in the mayor's office at City Hall. Negotiators for the papers and Teamsters Local 473 will meet there this afternoon. Two federal mediators also will be present at both sessions.

Management and Guild representatives met with the mayor Tuesday morning and again in the afternoon. When he emerged from the latter meeting, which lasted 2½ hours, the mayor said, "There are several proposals under consideration."

Between meetings involving the Guild, the mayor met for an hour with Teamster and management representatives.

"It was a friendly session and I think it helped put us back on the track," said Moses Krislov, counsel for the Teamsters. "The Teamsters will cooperate in this and do everything in their power to reach a settlement as soon as possible."

The mayor intervened Monday, saying, "The public interest demands that there be a settlement" of Cleveland's longest newspaper strike.

Lorain County Girl Suffers Fatal Burns

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—A 3-year-old Lorain County girl died Tuesday night in Elyria Memorial Hospital of burns received in her home.

Hospital attendants said Terry Lou Cather, Rt. 2., Wellington, was burned Monday night when she climbed onto a kitchen stove and accidentally turned on a burner.

Vending Firm Robbed During Lunch Hour

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Five hundred pounds of money has been taken in a theft at the Ohio Vending Co. offices.

Consisting of 19 bags of coins, the loot hauled out while employes were lunching Tuesday amounted to $5,300.

St. Stephen's Meeting Set

The annual parish meeting of the congregation of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church will be held Sunday in the Parish Hall with supper at 5 p. m. and business at 6.

The Women of St. Stephen's of which Mrs. William E. Dunlap Jr. is president, will sponsor the supper, the first to precede the annual meeting.

During business, four vestrymen will be elected to replace Charles M. Horton, senior warden; Clyde A. Cox, junior warden; Charles Larcombe, clerk, and Dr. Melbourne P. Burnett, all of whom retired at the end of 1962.

Vestrymen who retired a year ago and are eligible for re-election are Alwyn Purinton Jr., Lester Jones and John T. Eccleston.

The Rev. D. R. Salisbury Jr., rector, will preside and address the congregation on the state of the parish.

A first showing of color slides of the parish activities during 1962 will be presented by Ronald K. Mason, parish photographer.

2 Children Save 4 In Fire, Infant Dies

CINCINNATI (AP) — When the one-floor home of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hayes near Loveland caught fire Tuesday, two of the couple's seven children were able to save all but the baby of the family.

Firemen said Darlene Hayes, 11, and Ralph Hayes, 13, were unable to get back inside to save 16-month-old Doris. The parents were away from home at the time.

Ex-Thin Girl Shares Rules For Gaining

Ida Jean Kain

"I was one of those 'painfully thin' girls described in a recent column. Until a few months ago I weighed a mere 85 pounds. I have a small frame, and I am 5 feet 2. My weight is now 95 pounds and I'm pushing toward my goal of 105 pounds, which is a good weight for me.

"Because I am a breakfast skipper and a smoker, I thought other thin girls might like to know what I did to gain those ten pounds.

"Rule 1: No smoking before breakfast. Also, I made it a rule not to smoke for at least one hour before lunch, and before dinner. Now I have a keener appetite for my meals — food tastes so much better.

"RULE 2: Drink a high calorie beverage at breakfast. Breakfast is not my favorite meal, and it must be quick. So, in place of coffee or tea I switched to cocoa-malt. It's loaded with calories and gives more staying satisfaction. Now I also have toast and sometimes an egg.

"Rule 3: Prepare good meals. With my new interest in food I'm becoming a much better cook. I try to fix attractive meals and add a delicious dessert at dinner. My husband and two pre-schoolers are of course delighted with this!

"Rule 4: Take booster calories before retiring. I add extra calories by having hot milk and bread and butter about an hour before bedtime.

"For the first time in years my parents, relatives and husband no longer harp on how skinny I am... even strangers used to comment. I got so tired of hearing about it I decided to buckle down and gain some needed weight. Now I fill out my clothes, they no longer hang on me. Perhaps my plan can help other underweights to gain."

Smart girl! She planned a gaining program and then works her plan. You can too. Our model devised ways to sharpen her appetite and ways to round out the calories. The extra calories are taken in foods which provide vital nutrients...not just in empty calories.

I TIP MY dietitians cap to this former skinny girl. Our sincere thanks for sharing.

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for two leaflets: "Grade A Nutrition For Gaining," and "Weight - Training For Curve Making." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Quota Group To Nominate

A nominating committee was named at the luncheon meeting of the Quota Club Tuesday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel. Seventeen attended.

Miss Mildred McGregor was elected chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. Doris Locke and Miss Phyllis Crook.

Mrs. Nellie McLain, president, conducted business. Mrs. Clara Hall read the minutes.

A letter was read from the Quota International concerning a change in the rules and bylaws.

Mrs. Marie Hays, ways and means chairman, reported on proceeds from the sale of pecans and fruit cake.

Greetings for the new year were read from the Collins Management Co., which promoted the travelogues the group has sponsored.

Mrs. Jennie Deering will give the program for the meeting Jan. 24 with Miss Gladys DeBolt of W. 4th St. Mrs. Mildred McKim and Miss Luella Thompson are co-hostesses.

Negotiations Stepped Up In Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Representatives of Cleveland's two strike-bound daily newspapers and the striking unions meet again today in stepped up negotiations brought about by the intervention of Mayor Ralph Locher in attempts to settle the 41 - day - old walkout.

Bargaining teams for the Plain Dealer, the Press and News and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild scheduled a morning meeting in the mayor's office at City Hall. Negotiators for the papers and Teamsters Local 473 will meet there this afternoon. Two federal mediators also will be present at both sessions.

Management and Guild representatives met with the mayor Tuesday morning and again in the afternoon. When he emerged from the latter meeting, which lasted 2½ hours, the mayor said, "There are several proposals under consideration."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower does not intend to make his permanent home in California, an aide said as the general and his wife arrived at Palm Desert, a Southern California resort, for their sixth winter vacation there.

The aide, Brig. Gen. Robert Schulz, said there was no basis for a rumor that the Eisenhowers would give their Gettysburg, Pa., farm to the Department of the Interior as a national shrine and move permanently to California.

Dr. Edwin Ruthvan Henry will direct the selection of volunteers for the Peace Corps during the next year.

Henry, 57, was given a one-year leave of absence from the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, for which he is manager of the social science research division. He lives in Oradell, N.J.

Terry Jo Duperrault, 12, sole survivor of the sinking of the ketch Bluebell in 1961, has received an out-of-court settlement of $61,750 in her claims against Harold Pegg, owner of the boat, her attorneys said in Miami.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I fear I may need psychiatric help. I'm a bookkeeper in a small firm. I needed some money to pay bills which have been long overdue and on my mind. I took $75 out of the petty cash fund and marked the slip "balanced."

I could have gone to my boss and received a loan for this amount with no trouble but I had too much pride. My husband makes a small salary and I was ashamed to admit we were having a difficult time financially.

I'm paying the money back at the rate of $15 a week. In three weeks I'll have it all paid back and no one will know it was missing. But I have a horrible fear that one day I'll take a much larger amount and be unable to replace it. Then I'll be in serious trouble.

Don't suggest a clergyman. I've never been a churchgoer and am not inclined to start. Should I see a psychiatrist?—ASHAMED.

Dear Ashamed: By all means see a psychiatrist or you may be seeing a district attorney. Unburdening yourself will be useful — and perhaps the doctor may help you see that personal integrity is essential to self-respect and mental health.

Telltale Letters

Dear Ann: A buddy gave me the phone number of a girl who lives in another city. I was being transferred there and wanted some sure-fire numbers, if you know what I mean.

He told me this girl was a real swinger, plenty brainless but gorgeous. Then he showed me some scorching letters she had written. This was pretty lousy of him but it proved his point.

Before I had a chance to phone this girl I met her at a party. It was a real shock. She was beautiful, intelligent and a perfect lady. I dated her a few times and fell hard.

I want to marry this girl but those letters haunt me, and I'm afraid they always will. I know I must break up with her before I get in d e e p e r. The point of this letter is to warn girls never to write anything they might be ashamed to see two years later. It could spoil plenty. It did in this case.—ROB.

Dear Rob: People change and perhaps this girl has. It's unfortunate you can't accept her for what she is today. Your position, though not admirable, is understandable. Perhaps YOUR inability to forget the past could spoil plenty for YOU, too.

Reception Pests

Dear Ann: Please tell me why parents insist on taking small children to wedding receptions and other social affairs where they don't belong? Some fairly intelligent people make this mistake and I'm at a loss to understand it.

The poor kids get so tired and cranky it's small wonder they nag and are a general nuisance. This is an embarrassment for the parents and it spoils the evening for everybody.

I've seen youngsters get hurt on the dance floor, fall asleep in corners and go into crying spells from sheer exhaustion. Please, Ann, print this letter for the benefit of parents who think they are doing their kids a favor by dragging them places where they don't belong.—BECKY.

Dear Becky: I am delighted to print your letter. It's nonsense to assume that children of all ages should go everywhere with their parents so they will not feel rejected.

Confidentially

TO TO DO OR NOT TO DO: I say DO. It's far better to bend a little than to break.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The R e v i e w, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ironic Background Marks Ceremonies

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Gov. Elmer L. Andersen was giving the traditional chief executive's advice to the Minnesota Legislature today, but against an ironic background.

He was bypassed when oaths of office were administered to other state officials at opening ceremonies Tuesday, and he doesn't know yet if he'll be around to sign the bills the legislature passes.

The Republican governor is awaiting results of a recount to determine whether he or Democrat Karl Rolvaag, former lieutenant governor, was elected by Minnesota voters Nov. 6.

The court-supervisied recheck, currently beset with 95,980 contested ballots, may not be completed for several weeks.

Anderson continues in office under Minnesota law until his successor—himself or Rolvaag — is duly elected and certified.

Officer Reports Thievery Of Gas And Wheel Discs

Patrolman Leonard E. Richard had a personal interest in a theft report filed with the police department Tuesday afternoon. It involved theft of 18 gallons of gasoline and four wheel discs from the officer's private auto.

The officer reported the thievery took place between midnight Monday and 9 a. m. Tuesday while the auto was parked in front of his home at 1706 Idaho Ave. He filed the report at 4:08 p. m. with Patrolman Robert B. Pyle.

Meanwhile, John S. Shamp, 1356 Etruria St., told police a side mirror was stolen from his auto about 11:15 a. m. Tuesday while it was parked at his home.

Patrolman Howard W. Bosworth filed a supplemental report after determining the method of entry used by vandals who ransacked high school offices and lockers early Tuesday.

The intruder removed the putty from a ground floor window on the north side of the building, took out the glass to manipulate t h e catch and then replaced the pane, he reported. The method of entry could not be learned in the initial investigation yesterday morning.

Dairyman's Talk Set For Area Herd Group

LISBON — Kenneth B r o w n, Trumbull County dairyman, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Columbiana-Mahoning County Dairy Herd Improvement Association Jan. 17 at the Goshen Grange Hall north of Salem, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

He will discuss use of the electronic data processing method of keeping dairy herd records.

Three board members w i l l be elected and secretary and treasurer reports will be given. J. Harold McCullough of Salem R. D. 2 is president.

Elks To Hold State Session

Lawrence D e r r y of Barnesville, first vice president of the Ohio Elks Association, will speak at a state association meeting of Elks Lodge 258 Thursday night, Michael J. Gerace Jr., exalted ruler, announced.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 for lodge officers, committee chairmen, out-of-town guests and candidates who will be inducted at the meeting. Six candidates will also be considered by vote. Spaghetti will be served members after the meeting at 8.

Gerace said a large turnout is expected. Derry will become state president of the Ohio Elks Association next year and is from the Southeast District, which includes the local lodge.

The state official will discuss the charitable projects sponsored by the order, including cerebral palsy treatment clinics, youth and scholarship activities, veterans hospital entertainment, c o m m u n i t y welfare and Americanism.

An Elk for many years, Derry is a Charter member and past exalted ruler of Barnesville lodge, and is also past district deputy exalted ruler. He is a past president of the Barnesville Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce, past commander of the American Legion, and served several years as chairman of the Belmont County Red Cross.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I fear I may need psychiatric help. I'm a bookkeeper in a small firm. I needed some money to pay bills which have been long overdue and on my mind. I took $75 out of the petty cash fund and marked the slip "balanced."

I could have gone to my boss and received a loan for this amount with no trouble but I had too much pride. My husband makes a small salary and I was ashamed to admit we were having a difficult time financially.

I'm paying the money back at the rate of $15 a week. In three weeks I'll have it all paid back and no one will know it was missing. But I have a horrible fear that one day I'll take a much larger amount and be unable to replace it. Then I'll be in serious trouble.

Don't suggest a clergyman. I've never been a churchgoer and am not inclined to start. Should I see a psychiatrist?—ASHAMED.

Dear Ashamed: By all means see a psychiatrist or you may be seeing a district attorney. Unburdening yourself will be useful — and perhaps the doctor may help you see that personal integrity is essential to self-respect and mental health.

Telltale Letters

Dear Ann: A buddy gave me the phone number of a girl who lives in another city. I was being transferred there and wanted some sure-fire numbers, if you know what I mean.

He told me this girl was a real swinger, plenty brainless but gorgeous. Then he showed me some scorching letters she had written. This was pretty lousy of him but it proved his point.

Before I had a chance to phone this girl I met her at a party. It was a real shock. She was beautiful, intelligent and a perfect lady. I dated her a few times and fell hard.

I want to marry this girl but those letters haunt me, and I'm afraid they always will. I know I must break up with her before I get in deeper. The point of this letter is to warn girls never to write anything they might be ashamed to see two years later. It could spoil plenty. It did in this case.—ROB.

Dear Rob: People change and perhaps this girl has. It's unfortunate you can't accept her for what she is today. Your position, though not admirable, is understandable. Perhaps YOUR inability to forget the past could spoil plenty for YOU, too.

Reception Pests

Dear Ann: Please tell me why parents insist on taking small children to wedding receptions and other social affairs where they don't belong? Some fairly intelligent people make this mistake and I'm at a loss to understand it.

The poor kids get so tired and cranky it's small wonder they nag and are a general nuisance. This is an embarrassment for the parents and it spoils the evening for everybody.

I've seen youngsters get hurt on the dance floor, fall asleep in corners and go into crying spells from sheer exhaustion. Please, Ann, print this letter for the benefit of parents who think they are doing their kids a favor by dragging them places where they don't belong.—BECKY.

Dear Becky: I am delighted to print your letter. It's nonsense to assume that children of all ages should go everywhere with their parents so they will not feel rejected.

Confidentially

TO TO DO OR NOT TO DO: I say DO. It's far better to bend a little than to break.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ironic Background Marks Ceremonies

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Gov. Elmer L. Andersen was giving the traditional chief executive's advice to the Minnesota Legislature today, but against an ironic background.

He was bypassed when oaths of office were administered to other state officials at opening ceremonies Tuesday, and he doesn't know yet if he'll be around to sign the bills the legislature passes.

The Republican governor is awaiting results of a recount to determine whether he or Democrat Karl Rolvaag, former lieutenant governor, was elected by Minnesota voters Nov. 6.

The court-supervisied recheck, currently beset with 95,980 contested ballots, may not be completed for several weeks.

Anderson continues in office under Minnesota law until his successor—himself or Rolvaag — is duly elected and certified.

Officer Reports Thievery Of Gas And Wheel Discs

Patrolman Leonard E. Richard had a personal interest in a theft report filed with the police department Tuesday afternoon. It involved theft of 18 gallons of gasoline and four wheel discs from the officer's private auto.

The officer reported the thievery took place between midnight Monday and 9 a. m. Tuesday while the auto was parked in front of his home at 1706 Idaho Ave. He filed the report at 4:08 p. m. with Patrolman Robert B. Pyle.

Meanwhile, John S. Shamp, 1356 Etruria St., told police a side mirror was stolen from his auto about 11:15 a. m. Tuesday while it was parked at his home.

Patrolman Howard W. Bosworth filed a supplemental report after determining the method of entry used by vandals who ransacked high school offices and lockers early Tuesday.

The intruder removed the putty from a ground floor window on the north side of the building, took out the glass to manipulate the catch and then replaced the pane, he reported. The method of entry could not be learned in the initial investigation yesterday morning.

Dairyman's Talk Set For Area Herd Group

LISBON — Kenneth Brown, Trumbull County dairyman, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Columbiana-Mahoning County Dairy Herd Improvement Association Jan. 17 at the Goshen Grange Hall north of Salem, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

He will discuss use of the electronic data processing method of keeping dairy herd records.

Three board members will be elected and secretary and treasurer reports will be given. J. Harold McCullough of Salem R. D. 2 is president.

Elks To Hold State Session

Lawrence Derry of Barnesville, first vice president of the Ohio Elks Association, will speak at a state association meeting of Elks Lodge 258 Thursday night, Michael J. Gerace Jr., exalted ruler, announced.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 for lodge officers, committee chairmen, out-of-town guests and candidates who will be inducted at the meeting. Six candidates will also be considered by vote. Spaghetti will be served members after the meeting at 8.

Gerace said a large turnout is expected. Derry will become state president of the Ohio Elks Association next year and is from the Southeast District, which includes the local lodge.

The state official will discuss the charitable projects sponsored by the order, including cerebral palsy treatment clinics, youth and scholarship activities, veterans hospital entertainment, community welfare and Americanism.

An Elk for many years, Derry is a Charter member and past exalted ruler of Barnesville lodge, and is also past district deputy exalted ruler. He is a past president of the Barnesville Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce, past commander of the American Legion, and served several years as chairman of the Belmont County Red Cross.

Ruritan Zone Meeting Set

District Ruritan Club officers will meet tonight at Lisbon to discuss club work in their communities and hold workshops for officers.

Ralph Schneider of North Georgetown, lieutenant governor, will conduct the zone meeting, which will be held at the Morgan House of The Christian Church.

Participating from the Liverpool-Calcutta Club will be Richard Brian, president; John Geren, president-elect; Jerry Steele, vice president; William Whiteman, secretary; Hal Emerson, treasurer, and board members, Richard Sanford, James Sheets and Ernest Lowe.

Plans will be discussed for attendance at the 32nd annual national convention Jan. 20-22 in Atlantic City. Floyd Lower of Lisbon, national president, said about 25 county members and delegates will participate.

It will be held in the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall Hotel for members from the 19 states which have clubs.

Speakers will include Lt. Gov. Mills E. Godwin of Virginia, Adml. James W. Kelly, head chaplain of the U. S. Naval Academy; Sen. Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller of Maryland.

Patterned after the service organizations of the cities, Ruritan National is adapted to the needs of rural communities and residents. Founded in Holland, Va., in 1928, Ruritan now ranks sixth among the 12 leading civic clubs and leads in percentage of growth by a wide margin, Lower said.

Fifty-five members of the Lisbon club and guests attended its meeting Tuesday night in the First Christian Church when Lower discussed "The Objectives Of National Ruritan." Essel Hadley, president, presided.

ing ability of school children, with sufficient funds to enable the State Education Department to obtain up to seven well - qualified reading specialists.

2. Continuation and expansion of school testing and guidance services "to determine more fully what children and youth should be doing that they are not now doing, and then to provide for their needs."

3. Establishment of a program of expanded vocational education opportunities, with appropriation of funds for a pilot project under which two or more county school systems could join forces to offer instruction in various fields.

4. Authorization for county school systems to act jointly in capital outlays and approval of levies for better use of revenues in development, maintenance and operation of combined educational opportunities.

5. Appropriation of funds for additional teaching aids and instructional materials, including more money for the free textbook fund.

6. Revision of professional qualifications, effective in 1968, for county school superintendents, with minimum requirements to include two years of planned graduate study in school administration.

In other areas, Barron said that the state's Industrial Development Authority Act of 1961 should be broadened to permit loans from a development fund for new tourist facilities.

He said the state should also be permitted to match on a 50-50 basis expenditures made by local organizations to promote and advertise tourist attractions.

"Legislation," he said, "is needed to permit creation of a Forest Industries Foundation which, by public subscription, could develop the risk capital so sorely needed to establish new wood products industries."

Following up on an earlier statement, Barron urged the Legislature to review the state's Sunday-closing "blue" law. He said confusion apparently has resulted from tightened enforcement in some areas.

—The state's economy, "with substantial and broad-based advances, set a new record in 1962 . . . This improvement has been quite widespread. . . I am confident that this recovery will be sustained in 1963."

—An appropriation of about $6.3 million again should be made from the state's general revenue to service the Road Commission's bonded indebtedness and free more highway user tax money for construction and related uses.

—As of Dec. 31, West Virginia ranked seventh nationally in participation in the accelerated, federal-aid public works program. A total of 129 project applications representing a value of more than $38 million had been submitted, with 19 approved assuring more than 5,500 man-months of work.

—The emergency employment, or West Virginia Work and Training, program has provided more than $20.5 million for 31,588 families made up of 135,407 persons, with almost 14.5 million man-hours of work performed on state, county and municipal projects.

"They just started on me because they thought I was the member of the leadership group they could deal with easiest."

Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois is Republican whip and had no opposition for re-election.

Ford's backers denied that the ouster of Hoeven was the first step in a carefully planned campaign to eventually boost Ford into the party's floor leadership.

Ford, a high-ranking member of the Appropriations Committee, calls himself neither a conservative nor a liberal, but "a good Republican—squarely within the traditional Republican policy."

Parakeets, which are more properly called budgerigars, can be expected to live from 15 to 20 years. They begin to slow down a bit at about the age of 10, which is roughly equivalent to the human age of 44. The birds' lives are shortened considerably if they are not given frequent opportunity to stretch their wings.

Ruritan Zone Meeting Set

District Ruritan Club officers will meet tonight at Lisbon to discuss club work in their communities and hold workshops for officers.

Ralph Schneider of North Georgetown, lieutenant governor, will conduct the zone meeting, which will be held at the Morgan House of The Christian Church.

Participating from the Liverpool-Calcutta Club will be Richard Brian, president; John Geren, president-elect; Jerry Steele, vice president; William Whiteman, secretary; Hal Emerson, treasurer, and board members, Richard Sanford, James Sheets and Ernest Lowe.

Plans will be discussed for attendance at the 32nd annual national convention Jan. 20-22 in Atlantic City. Floyd Lower of Lisbon, national president, said about 25 county members and delegates will participate.

It will be held in the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall Hotel for members from the 19 states which have clubs.

Speakers will include Lt. Gov. Mills E. Godwin of Virginia, Adml. James W. Kelly, head chaplain of the U. S. Naval Academy; Sen. Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller of Maryland.

Patterned after the service organizations of the cities, Ruritan National is adapted to the needs of rural communities and residents. Founded in Holland, Va., in 1928, Ruritan now ranks sixth among the 12 leading civic clubs and leads in percentage of growth by a wide margin, Lower said.

Fifty-five members of the Lisbon club and guests attended its meeting Tuesday night in the First Christian Church when Lower discussed "The Objectives Of National Ruritan." Essel Hadley, president, presided.

ing ability of school children, with sufficient funds to enable the State Education Department to obtain up to seven well - qualified reading specialists.

2. Continuation and expansion of school testing and guidance services "to determine more fully what children and youth should be doing that they are not now doing, and then to provide for their needs."

3. Establishment of a program of expanded vocational education opportunities, with appropriation of funds for a pilot project under which two or more county school systems could join forces to offer instruction in various fields.

4. Authorization for county school systems to act jointly in capital outlays and approval of levies for better use of revenues in development, maintenance and operation of combined educational opportunities.

5. Appropriation of funds for additional teaching aids and instructional materials, including more money for the free textbook fund.

6. Revision of professional qualifications, effective in 1968, for county school superintendents, with minimum requirements to include two years of planned graduate study in school administration.

In other areas, Barron said that the state's Industrial Development Authority Act of 1961 should be broadened to permit loans from a development fund for new tourist facilities.

He said the state should also be permitted to match on a 50-50 basis expenditures made by local organizations to promote and advertise tourist attractions.

"Legislation," he said, "is needed to permit creation of a Forest Industries Foundation which, by public subscription, could develop the risk capital so sorely needed to establish new wood products industries."

Following up on an earlier statement, Barron urged the Legislature to review the state's Sunday-closing "blue" law. He said confusion apparently has resulted from tightened enforcement in some areas.

—The state's economy, "with substantial and broad-based advances, set a new record in 1962 . . . This improvement has been quite widespread. . . I am confident that this recovery will be sustained in 1963."

—An appropriation of about $6.3 million again should be made from the state's general revenue to service the Road Commission's bonded indebtedness and free more highway user tax money for construction and related uses.

—As of Dec. 31, West Virginia ranked seventh nationally in participation in the accelerated, federal-aid public works program. A total of 129 project applications representing a value of more than $38 million had been submitted, with 19 approved assuring more than 5,500 man-months of work.

—The emergency employment, or West Virginia Work and Training, program has provided more than $20.5 million for 31,588 families made up of 135,407 persons, with almost 14.5 million man-hours of work performed on state, county and municipal projects.

"They just started on me because they thought I was the member of the leadership group they could deal with easiest."

Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois is Republican whip and had no opposition for re-election.

Ford's backers denied that the ouster of Hoeven was the first step in a carefully planned campaign to eventually boost Ford into the party's floor leadership.

Ford, a high-ranking member of the Appropriations Committee, calls himself neither a conservative nor a liberal, but "a good Republican—squarely within the traditional Republican policy."

'Hillbillies' Sharpens Class Struggle

Hal Humphrey

Another segment of observers does not deny the overabundance of corn, but claims that the series still is funny—albeit ridiculously so. Loftier scanners of our social scene, who constantly seem to be discovering satire where no one else even smells it, have gone so far as to class "Hillbillies" as an incisive commentary on the power of heredity as opposed to environment.

-:-

IN MY HUMBLE opinion, none of these hits the mark. The plain fact is, despite our country's past decade of prosperity, most Americans are extremely class conscious.

It's fun to watch an ignorant family of hillbillies suddenly become outrageously rich and then get the better of their so-called intellectual superiors, who live the elegant life in Beverly Hills.

No matter how well off the "common man" of the Franklin Roosevelt days has become, he continues to resent those whom he still looks upon as the "idle rich," and he takes malicious glee in seeing such people ridiculed.

Granny and Jed Clampett and their clan are lovable enough, but they are slobs. Banker Drysdale is a mercenary, conniving big shot with a social-climbing wife and a boob son.

What a field day that makes! We Joe Doakses get to see a bunch of raggedy (but proud!) hill people, who obviously are inferior to us, outsmarting another bunch of rich (but undeserving!) snobs—and the whole thing is beautifully camouflaged with laughs, so that the boss can't justifiably get sore at us for enjoying the whole thing.

PAUL HENNING, the shrewd creator-writer for "Beverly Hillbillies," no doubt will deny these are his motives. He's be crazy if he didn't.

Imagine what it could do to Henning should he be silly enough to confess that his TV series theory of the class struggle—or was that Karl Marx?

One might have thought that Madison Avenue would be sharp enough to detect Henning's cunning plot to divide the American people, leaving us easy prey for Fidel Castro, who, come to think of it, casts a kind of hillbilly image himself.

Ah! But why should Madison Avenue be concerned with the moral fiber of our society? Its job, in this case, is to sell the most breakfast cereal and cigarettes to the most people. If this can be done by convincing millions of viewers that indolence and ignorance are virtues, then who's to say it's wrong?

OF COURSE, there are a few American mothers who have been trying to get their kids to wear shoes and put the letter "G" on the end of words like "eatin' " and "drinkin'," but now that the "Beverly Hillbillies" have entered their household it would seem a hopeless task.

If the Clampetts can get by without such fancy talkin' and walkin' and still live in Beverly Hills, why can't everybody, huh?

Eventually, if it hasn't happened already, "Beverly Hillbillies" will be sold for export to other countries, and peoples in those lands will be able to confirm what they've always suspected about Americans—that we're either very rich or very poor, but either way we are uncouth and stupid, and we prove it by making "Beverly Hillbillies" the most popular TV show in America.

How would a viewer in Vienna or Tokyo know that we watch "Beverly Hillbillies" because we think we're better than the Clampetts and the Drysdales?

Improvement Of Downtown Aired By Merchants' Group

New projects for improvement of the downtown business district were discussed Tuesday when the East Liverpool Merchants Association met in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Ralph Finley, chairman of the association, and Don Eckert, a member of the downtown improvement committee, joined in making the report, concerned principally with additional off-street parking space and modernization of store fronts.

A committee headed by Harold Allison was designated to investigate the possibility of purchasing new refuse containers for use on business district streets. The present containers were donated to the city several years ago as a project of the merchants and the Chamber.

It was the downtown improvement committee which initiated and pushed to completion a project for installation of a modern street lighting system in the downtown area.

Owners of business property signed agreements providing they will pay assessments representing the difference in cost between operation of the present system and modern fluorescent fixtures.

Much of yesterday's meeting centered on a review of the recent Christmas activities.

Dayton Allen presented a report on the program sponsored by the merchants with the assistance of the Jaycees.

It was pointed out that financial support of merchants was insufficient to meet expenses of the program. It was decided a solicitation will be made of downtown merchants who did not contribute to the cost in an effort to make up the deficit.

E. R. Chandler, secretary, read letters complimenting the merchants on East Liverpool's downtown Christmas decorations in comparison with those in other communities.

Members directed that a letter of thanks be sent to Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Safety-Service Director Robert Owen for arranging free parking for shoppers on Wednesday afternoons and every other evening after 5 during the Christmas season.

Next meeting is Tuesday, Feb. 5.

The Suez Canal is the longest in the world. It covers 87½ miles from the Mediterranean to the Red Sea.

TONIGHT

7:30, WTAE, WEWS, WSTV, Wagon Train: Tommy Sands in "The Davey Baxter Story".

7:30, WTRF, WIIC, The Virginian: Tammy Grimes in "The Exiles". Judge Garth's claimed that he killed a neighbor in self-defense isn't going to stand up in court — there were no witnesses and the sheriff finds the dead man was unarmed.

9, KDKA, WSTV, Beverly Hillbillies: The Clampetts decide that it's time to head back to Beverly Hills.

9, WJAC, WTRF, WIIC, Perry Como: Guests include Jane Powell and Peter Ustinov.

9:30, KDKA, Dick Van Dyke: Rob sneaks in and plants a big kiss on Laura, only to discover that it isn't Laura after all.

9:30, WSTV, Peter Gunn: The Rico brothers' testimony is responsible for Matt Poliska's deportation.

10:00, KDKA, U.S. Steel Hour: Young Freddie Titus finds his dog lying dead in Mr. Matlin's driveway and accuses the man of killing the animal. When it becomes apparent that the boy intends to get even, Freddie's neighbor, Judge Kittinger, suggests an autopsy to determine how the dog actually died.

McElroy To File 5 More Suits In Sunday Closing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy announced today he is filing five more suits in the Ohio Supreme Court charging corporations with violating the state Sunday closing law.

The action by the Democrat who leaves office Monday brings to 12 the number of such suits he has filed in the past two weeks. The other seven also came in one cluster.

McElroy's latest suits name Clarkins, Inc., Akron; Big City Inc., Columbus; Ontario Store of Cincinnati, Ohio, Inc.; Mason Stove Inc., Toledo, and Giant Tiger Stores Inc., Cleveland.

The attorney general reiterated that the suits "constitute a culmination of his efforts and interest of the past four years relating to the Sunday closing law." He contends that allowing the so-called blue laws to be broken is harmful to respect for all laws.

Atty. Gen.-elect William Saxbe, Republican, has scoffed at McElroy's moves against Sunday business as a lame duck grandstand play.

Lake Erie Shipping Tonnage Reported Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Lake Carriers' Association reports that combined shipments of iron ore, coal, grain and limestone over the Great Lakes in 1962 totaled 157,412,003 net tons. This was 3.1 million tons, or 2 per cent, higher than the 1961 shipments.

The association, in its annual statement Tuesday, also noted that individual shipments of iron ore and bituminous coal were up over 1961 levels.

The 1962 iron ore movement amounted to 63,085,330 gross tons, up 2.25 million tons over the 1961 haul.

Bituminous coal shipments rose to 45,954,329 net tons, from 43,728,754 tons in 1961.

Grain shipments totaled 15,905,464 tons, down slightly from 1961, but the fifth highest in history, the association said.

'Hillbillies' Sharpens Class Struggle

Hal Humphrey

Another segment of observers does not deny the overabundance of corn, but claims that the series still is funny—albeit ridiculously so. Loftier scanners of our social scene, who constantly seem to be discovering satire where no one else even smells it, have gone so far as to class "Hillbillies" as an incisive commentary on the power of heredity as opposed to environment.

-:-

IN MY HUMBLE opinion, none of these hits the mark. The plain fact is, despite our country's past decade of prosperity, most Americans are extremely class conscious.

It's fun to watch an ignorant family of hillbillies suddenly become outrageously rich and then get the better of their so-called intellectual superiors, who live the elegant life in Beverly Hills.

No matter how well off the "common man" of the Franklin Roosevelt days has become, he continues to resent those whom he still looks upon as the "idle rich," and he takes malicious glee in seeing such people ridiculed.

Granny and Jed Clampett and their clan are lovable enough, but they are slobs. Banker Drysdale is a mercenary, conniving big shot with a social-climbing wife and a boob son.

What a field day that makes! We Joe Doakses get to see a bunch of raggedy (but proud!) hill people, who obviously are inferior to us, outsmarting another bunch of rich (but undeserving!) snobs—and the whole thing is beautifully camouflaged with laughs, so that the boss can't justifiably get sore at us for enjoying the whole thing.

PAUL HENNING, the shrewd creator-writer for "Beverly Hillbillies," no doubt will deny these are his motives. He's be crazy if he didn't.

Imagine what it could do to Henning should he be silly enough to confess that his TV series theory of the class struggle—or was that Karl Marx?

One might have thought that Madison Avenue would be sharp enough to detect Henning's cunning plot to divide the American people, leaving us easy prey for Fidel Castro, who, come to think of it, casts a kind of hillbilly image himself.

Ah! But why should Madison Avenue be concerned with the moral fiber of our society? Its job, in this case, is to sell the most breakfast cereal and cigarettes to the most people. If this can be done by convincing millions of viewers that indolence and ignorance are virtues, then who's to say it's wrong?

OF COURSE, there are a few American mothers who have been trying to get their kids to wear shoes and put the letter "G" on the end of words like "eatin' " and "drinkin'," but now that the "Beverly Hillbillies" have entered their household it would seem a hopeless task.

If the Clampetts can get by without such fancy talkin' and walkin' and still live in Beverly Hills, why can't everybody, huh?

Eventually, if it hasn't happened already, "Beverly Hillbillies" will be sold for export to other countries, and peoples in those lands will be able to confirm what they've always suspected about Americans—that we're either very rich or very poor, but either way we are uncouth and stupid, and we prove it by making "Beverly Hillbillies" the most popular TV show in America.

How would a viewer in Vienna or Tokyo know that we watch "Beverly Hillbillies" because we think we're better than the Clampetts and the Drysdales?

Improvement Of Downtown Aired By Merchants' Group

McElroy To File 5 More Suits In Sunday Closing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy announced today he is filing five more suits in the Ohio Supreme Court charging corporations with violating the state Sunday closing law.

The action by the Democrat who leaves office Monday brings to 12 the number of such suits he has filed in the past two weeks. The other seven also came in one cluster.

McElroy's latest suits name Clarkins, Inc., Akron; Big City Inc., Columbus; Ontario Store of Cincinnati, Ohio, Inc.; Mason Stove Inc., Toledo, and Giant Tiger Stores Inc., Cleveland.

The attorney general reiterated that the suits "constitute a culmination of his efforts and interest of the past four years relating to the Sunday closing law." He contends that allowing the so-called blue laws to be broken is harmful to respect for all laws.

Atty. Gen.-elect William Saxbe, Republican, has scoffed at McElroy's moves against Sunday business as a lame duck grandstand play.

Lake Erie Shipping Tonnage Reported Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Lake Carriers' Association reports that combined shipments of iron ore, coal, grain and limestone over the Great Lakes in 1962 totaled 157,412,003 net tons. This was 3.1 million tons, or 2 per cent, higher than the 1961 shipments.

The association, in its annual statement Tuesday, also noted that individual shipments of iron ore and bituminous coal were up over 1961 levels.

The 1962 iron ore movement amounted to 63,085,330 gross tons, up 2.25 million tons over the 1961 haul.

Bituminous coal shipments rose to 45,954,329 net tons, from 43,728,754 tons in 1961.

Grain shipments totaled 15,905,464 tons, down slightly from 1961, but the fifth highest in history, the association said.

3 Become Members When Midland Legion Post Meets

Woodrow Pflugh, chairman of the annual post Christmas toy program, and William Coble, co-chairman, reported 250 children of the Midland area received toys. The project was successful because of the co-operation of the Midland residents, the co - chairmen said.

Plans were made to operate the toy shop throughout the year, which will give members more time to repair good used toys, eliminating the rush at Christmas time.

Edward Cilli, chairman of the "get-out-to-vote" program in November, reported that 78 per cent of voters of the area went to the polls.

Woodrow Jones, chairman of the house committee, reported that new draperies will be installed in the near future. He said a new light has been installed in the office of Truman Rodfong, adjutant.

The Beaver County Committee of the American Legion will meet Jan. 16, at 8 p. m. in the Rochester post home.

The District 26 meeting will be held Jan. 19 in the Zelienople post home.

The next post meeting will be held Jan. 21 at 8 p. m. after an executive committee meeting at 7:30.

Woman Injured In Traffic Crash

A Waynesburg woman was injured in one of two area traffic mishaps Tuesday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A car driven by Dale W. Boyles, 22, of 384 Alice St., East Palestine, veered off a curb and struck a tree.

Madeleine McCune, 38, of Waynesburg, a passenger, suffered lacerations of the left leg and right side of the face and was treated by an East Palestine physician. She was later taken to Aultman Hospital at Canton.

A truck operated by Ronald B. Swan, 25, of East Canton and a car driven by Miles Ketchum of Lisbon R. D. 1 sideswiped on Route 30 about a half mile west of Lisbon last night at 8:25.

The two vehicles sideswiped as the drivers passed each other at the crest of a hill, officers said. Neither was injured.

Capital Pulse Faster, With Pace Quicker

WASHINGTON (AP) — The capital looked more like its old self today. Its pulse was faster, its pace quicker.

The change was a little like that which comes over a household when a rich but sometimes cranky uncle pays his annual visit.

As the taxicab driver said when he swung down Pennsylvania Avenue toward the Capitol — "I'm glad to see Congress come back, but it sure stirs up this traffic."

For the 12 new senators and 67 new representatives it was go, go, go.

Most of them planned informal receptions in their offices after the noontime office oathtaking in the chambers of the House and Senate.

For the new senator from Indiana, Birch E. Bayh, the Democratic Campaign Committee of Indiana was throwing an afternoon reception for which 1,500 Indiana meat balls had been ordered, 1,500 fancy finger sandwiches and 800 deviled eggs.

The President's brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was having an informal open house in his offices.

Added to the usual affairs this year are two receptions being given by Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson at their Washington home Thursday and Friday nights.

This innovation in the official social goings-on was planned to introduce new members of Congress to members of the executive branch, such as Cabinet heads and the White House staff.

2 First National Directors Named

Two new members were named when the Board of Directors of the First National Bank met Tuesday.

They are John C. Thompson, treasurer of the Hall China Co., and Winston A. Porter, president of the Globe Brick Co.

The directors will reorganize at a meeting Thursday.

Salineville Firemen Repair Furnace Pipe

SALINEVILLE — Minor smoke damage was caused when a faulty furnace pipe opened at the recently constructed home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McMillan of Foundry Hill early Tuesday afternoon.

Fire Chief Tony Brandonisio said firemen, summoned by Mrs. McMillan, made temporary repairs to the pipe, which was to be replaced today.

2 Given Posts In Presbytery

The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller, minister of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. H. Gene Toot, associate minister, were elected as committee chairmen at the Steubenville Presbytery's sessions Tuesday at the First church in Steubenville.

Rev. Miller will be chairman of the ecclesiastical responsibilities committee and Rev. Toot for Christian education.

The session began with a Communion service at 11:30, conducted by the Rev. Robert Thompson of Bloomingdale, retiring moderator. Business was conducted by the Rev. Mark Allen, pastor of the Toronto United Presbyterian Church and moderator.

For the past year the Presbytery has been working on a benevolence program which was adopted by the group yesterday. The program will be called "Mission In Our Midst." It involves giving funds from churches for camp work, aiding churches by small short-term loans and a ministerial emergency pension fund.

Nowell Loses Job

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Mel Nowell, former Ohio State star, has lost his job with the Chicago Zephyrs of the National Basketball Association. The Zephyrs asked waivers on Nowell, from Columbus, Tuesday to make room for Maury King, who formerly played in the now-folded American Basketball League.

Ohioan Re-Elected

Palestine Bank Lists $6.1 Million Assets

EAST PALESTINE — The First National Bank showed a yearend total of assets of $6.1 million, Paul Lange, president, announced at a meeting of the stockholders Tuesday night. He said this is a record in the history of the bank.

The assets were up $700,000 from 1961's $5.4 million, according to Lange, who was re-elected president.

G. A. Quay, chairman of the board, and Lloyd F. Lange, cashier, were re-elected as were the seven directors.

Reorganization meetings of the Union Commercial Savings Bank and East Palestine Savings & Loan Association will be held tonight.

Tigers Finish Strong To Wrap Up 5th Victory, 48-38

Central Five Dealt Second Setback

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Sailing from behind with a fourth quarter burst, Wellsville High went on to mow down previously once - beaten Steubenville Central Catholic, 48-38, in a roughhouse Tuesday night.

Coach Jack McDevitt's rangy club exercised its superior height advantage and checked the Crusaders with a lone field goal in the final period to wrap up the fifth victory of the season with a strong finish.

A NOISY crowd of 900 saw the Tigers enjoy some early foot to seize the lead, let Central slip ahead as the third quarter closed, then regain command for good by reeling off seven straight points.

A flurry of fisticuffs marked the action-packed fourth quarter after Wellsville had roared from behind to pull ahead to a 46-38 lead with 2:30 left. Two players were banished, one from each team.

Though still lacking a precisioned attack, the Tigers showed they could hit the target in the clutch, and overall turned in an improved performance for their second straight win in Sectional AA play.

FIRING mostly from close range, Wellsville finished with a 47.5 per cent average from the floor in hitting 19 of 40. Center Steve Baldwin, 6-5, and guard Jim Powell, 5-10, led the attack with 12 points each.

Attributing to Central's downfall were lack of size and a meager 29.6 shooting average. The Crusaders hit only 16 of 54 shots and faded from contention in the fourth quarter when they scored a total of two points on a lone fielder in 14 attempts.

"We showed a little improvement tonight, and I was well pleased with the rebounding of Baldwin, Forrest Harris and Ed Nelson," a happy McDevitt declared later. "But we're still not sharp enough offensively," he added.

HARRIS, 6-3 and plenty strong, and the lanky Baldwin swept the boards with authority and Central went through long periods without being able to pull down a defensive rebound.

Nelson, 6-3 senior, was credited with several assists in the pivot area and made eight points himself. Jim Powell, returning to his old form, led Wellsville's early surge by hitting 10 points in the opening period.

Central drew first blood on a free throw by Don Duco, but Wellsville scored after missing five shots in a row for a 2-1 lead and eventually built the spread to 16-10 by the end of the quarter.

The Tigers slowly increased their margin through the second period and went in front by 24-15 as Nelson whipped a long pass into the pivot and Baldwin hit an easy layup. Halftime ended with Wellsville ahead by 26-21.

WORKING from a deliberate, take-the-best-shot attack, Central methodically went to work in the third quarter on the point deficit and passed Wellsville, 34-33, with 1:14 remaining. Duco put the Crusaders in front with a drive shot after stealing a stray pass, and Leroy Chanoski, brawny center, hit from the corner to give Central a 36-33 lead. Baldwin hit from the pivot for Wellsville as the third quarter closed.

The fourth quarter was all Wellsville. Harris started the rally by drilling in a push shot from the corner, putting Wellsville in front by 37-36. Then Nelson came through with a three-point play and Baldwin added two free throws to hike Wellsville's lead to 42-36 and relieve the pressure.

CENTRAL'S lone field goal in the last period was made by Bill Barrett, 6-1 senior, making the score 42-38. Southpaw Don Welch of Wellsville bagged a pair of foul shots and then hit on a push shot from far in the back court for a 46-38 lead.

With 2:30 remaining, Wellsville's Andy Dash and Central's Duco scrambled for a loose ball and players from both sides streamed to one end of the court to trade wallops. The officials banished Chanoski of Central and Welch of Wellsville.

The Tigers got possession and stalled the final 40 seconds of the game. Nelson was the game's lone personal foul casualty, leaving with 4:09 to play in the last period.

CENTRAL had no players in the double figures. Barrett was high with nine points, while Duco had eight.

Wellsville takes a 5-1 record to Chester Friday night and will be a heavy favorite to sweep No. 6.

The young Tigers collected 22 points in the third period while holding Central to only six to win easily. Lester Bennett paced the scoring with 15 points. Carpellott of Central was the game's top scorer with 16 points.

Newell Checks Off 8th Win; Chester Stops Beavers, 48-40

Second Half Going Paced By Simmons

Getting off to a bad start, Newell, sparked in the second half by veteran Sam Simmons, shot past Stanton Local and registered a 58-44 victory Tuesday night on the Wells High court.

Coach John Robison, who can claim one of the winningest teams in the area, saw his charges chalk up their eighth victory in nine starts.

Harry Diehl's Stanton five shot into an early lead and was on top 15-8 at the end of the first period. A letdown in the second quarter saw Stanton fall behind 21-20 at halftime, then Simmons, who was held to five points in the first half, found the range for 15 more in the second half to pace the victory.

Simmons totaled 20 points to lead four Viking starters into the double figures. The balanced attack, which has marked the Newell club, showed Jim Johnson and Terry Robinson, a couple of good outside shots, wind up with 12 each, while steady Tom Franczek pitched in 10 points.

Stanton Local, which had conquered all opponents the last two seasons, dropped its fifth contest while winning three. The Red Raiders also find themselves on a three-game losing streak.

Newell wound up with a 37 per cent shooting mark, making good on 22 of 60 while Stanton took 52 shots, made 16 for 31 per cent.

Neil Rayle with 14 and Ed Ingram's 13 points paced the Newell reserves to a 46-34 victory over the Stanton jayvees in the preliminary. Ken Davidson fired in 13 points for the losers.

WEIRTON — Big Gene Trosch, 6-foot-4 pivot man for Weirton Madonna, pitched in 27 points in leading a 77-59 victory over New Cumberland here Tuesday night.

The loss only was the second suffered by Coach John Kuzio's Raiders who were defeated earlier by Chester.

Weirton seized a 14-9 first quarter lead and was on top at halftime 39-30. The issue was pretty well settled when the Madonna five checked in with a 56-41 margin after three periods.

Rich Ashburn Retires, Now Broadcaster

TILDEN, Neb. (AP) — Richie Ashburn, who spent 12 of his 15 National League seasons with the Philadelphia Phillies, has retired from baseball and will return to his "second home" as a broadcaster.

The veteran outfielder, one of a select group with 2,500 or more major league hits, said Tuesday he had been hired as a member of a three-man team which will broadcast Philadelphia Phillies games next season.

Ashburn, who will be 36 in March, played with the New York Mets last year and led the club with a .306 batting mark in 135 games. He twice led the National League in batting and finished with a lifetime mark of .308. He joined the Phillies in 1948 and remained through 1959.

Late Surge Gives Tilt To Chester

Chester spurted in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter to break up a tight contest and claim a 48-40 victory over Beaver Local Tuesday night on the Panthers' court.

Chester, under the direction of Dom Amedeo, has now pulled even for the season, standing in with a 3-3 mark but Beaver Local now only shows one victory in seven attempts.

Beaver Local led 12-11 at the end of the first quarter, but when the score changed back and forth as the two backyard rivals battled to a 25-25 halftime tie.

Chester trailed throughout the third quarter, but a field goal by Jim Tridico near the end of the period put the Panthers in front 35-34 and they were never headed again.

The Purple and Gold went on to score nine straight points to open the fourth quarter and took a commanding 44-34 advantage.

Tridico led all scorers, coming up with one of his better performances of the season by connecting for 18 points. Bob Myers was next in line with 14.

Beaver Local, lacking the scoring punch at the right time, was led by sophomore Dennis Horger who wound up with 12 points while veteran George Gaydos chipped in with 10.

Cumberland Drops Second

WEIRTON — Big Gene Trosch, 6-foot-4 pivot man for Weirton Madonna, pitched in 27 points in leading a 77-59 victory over New Cumberland here Tuesday night.

The loss only was the second suffered by Coach John Kuzio's Raiders who were defeated earlier by Chester.

Weirton seized a 14-9 first quarter lead and was on top at halftime 39-30. The issue was pretty well settled when the Madonna five checked in with a 56-41 margin after three periods.

Rich Ashburn Retires, Now Broadcaster

TILDEN, Neb. (AP) — Richie Ashburn, who spent 12 of his 15 National League seasons with the Philadelphia Phillies, has retired from baseball and will return to his "second home" as a broadcaster.

The veteran outfielder, one of a select group with 2,500 or more major league hits, said Tuesday he had been hired as a member of a three-man team which will broadcast Philadelphia Phillies games next season.

Ashburn, who will be 36 in March, played with the New York Mets last year and led the club with a .306 batting mark in 135 games. He twice led the National League in batting and finished with a lifetime mark of .308. He joined the Phillies in 1948 and remained through 1959.

Late Surge Gives Tilt To Chester

Chester spurted in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter to break up a tight contest and claim a 48-40 victory over Beaver Local Tuesday night on the Panthers' court.

Chester, under the direction of Dom Amedeo, has now pulled even for the season, standing in with a 3-3 mark but Beaver Local now only shows one victory in seven attempts.

Beaver Local led 12-11 at the end of the first quarter, but when the score changed back and forth as the two backyard rivals battled to a 25-25 halftime tie.

Chester trailed throughout the third quarter, but a field goal by Jim Tridico near the end of the period put the Panthers in front 35-34 and they were never headed again.

The Purple and Gold went on to score nine straight points to open the fourth quarter and took a commanding 44-34 advantage.

Tridico led all scorers, coming up with one of his better performances of the season by connecting for 18 points. Bob Myers was next in line with 14.

Beaver Local, lacking the scoring punch at the right time, was led by sophomore Dennis Horger who wound up with 12 points while veteran George Gaydos chipped in with 10.

South Side Drops 2nd WPIAL Battle, 67-39

AVELLA — South Side played Avella even for a quarter, but was no match in the later going in dropping a 67-39 decision here Tuesday night.

The defeat marked the second in Section 15 play and seventh in eight games this season. Avella now stands 2-0 in Section competition.

After a 14-14 first period deadlock, Avella stepped out to a 34-22 halftime lead and then reeled to a 52-27 margin after three quarters.

The Rams couldn't stop the scoring of Mike Popp, 6-foot-6 center, who finished with 27 points.

Vanlier Sparks 2nd Section Win

By ANDY NUZZO

A sparkling defensive performance by the Midland Leopards tied the offense of the Beaver Bobcats in knots and the Leopards rolled up a lop-sided 58-23 victory before a large crowd at Beaver Tuesday night.

Beaver never managed more than eight points in any one quarter and no Bobcat scored more than four points. The fine ball-handling Leopards had the Beaver players rushing their shots all night.

While the Beaver defense concentrated on stopping the high scoring of Bill Sallis, 6-2 senior center of the Leopards, sophomore guard Norman Vanlier picked up the slack and led the speedy Leopard attack.

VANLIER, a 5-8 guard, enjoyed the finest night of his young high school career, ripping the cords for four field goals and seven of 10 free throws for 15 points. He played another fine defensive game and was constantly in the hair of Beaver.

Sallis did not hit his first basket until the 6:27 mark of the second period. Despite all of Beaver's efforts, he still managed to finish the night with 12 points on four fielders and four of seven free throws. He was, once again, the big man on the boards, pulling down 14 rebounds.

ROD ALSTON, 6-0 junior center, played only the last five minutes of the game but he tallied 10 of the final 15 Leopard points. He meshed four fielders and two charity tosses.

Sophomore forward Sim Hill added nine points to the Midland attack. The 6-3 Hill hit on four fielders and one of four foul tosses for nine points. He also had played a fine game on the boards, hauling in 10 stray shots.

Ray Hoppa, 5-11 senior guard, played another steady floor game and added eight markers to the Leopard total. Senior Gary Perkins had his roughtest night from the field, manging only four points.

HANK KUZMA'S quintet hit on 22 of 60 field goal attempts for a 37 per cent shooting average. The rattled Bobcats of Jim Cutri managed only eight field goals in 48 attempts for a very cold 17 per cent.

Midland trailed only twice in the entire contest, both times coming early in the opening period. Vanlier swished a jumper from the top of the key and Perkins hit on a jumper from the side to give the Leopards a 7-4 lead, and they were never again headed.

At the close of the opening period Midland led by an 11-6 count. They increased their margin to 27-11 at halftime and 41-15 at the end of three quarters of play. Beaver did not score its 20th point until some three minutes remained in the game.

KUZMA'S five picked up their second win in Section 8 play this season and increased their sectional winning streak to 19 games.

Beaver suffered its second straight setback in section play.

The reserve contest was the exact opposite of the varsity game. The Beaver Jayvees edged the Midland subs, 47-45, in an overtime battle that had all of the early arrivers on their feet. Beaver's Tom Bentel layed in a rebound with two seconds left in the overtime to give the Bobcats the win.

FOR Ed Olkowski's Leopard Jayvee squad, the loss was a real heartbreaker. They had rallied from nine points back at the start of the final period to take a 45-44 lead, only to lose it when Jack Rowse of Beaver sank the front end of a one-and-one free throw situation with all of the regulation time expired.

Dave Davis of Beaver led all scorers with 20 points. Bill Haggerty paced Midland with 11 points, followed by Ray Oliver and Rich House, who contributed 10 and nine points respectively.

The Leopards will take to the road once again on Friday when they travel to Freedom to do battle with the Bulldogs.

Routine Check Continues

AFL Head Denies Rumors Of Pro Betting Scandal

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League, taking the stage only hours after his National League counterpart stepped down, denied today the rumors linking his league with the increasing talk of a betting scandal.

Foss, in Los Angeles, told The Associated Press:

"No governmental investigatory agency, at either the federal or state level, has been in contact with the AFL office."

Foss also said that no information had come to the AFL which would cause him to order lie detector tests, a power he has under league rules.

"I'm not so naive, however," said Foss, "to think that in any league of this kind, with so many players, that there may not be a few boys who would have some contact or association with people who might be considered tainted.

"All you have to do," continued Foss, "is bump into the wrong kind of person on the street, let someone stretch a point, and they will say you're associating with him. We're always on the lookout in such a matter, but there's been no contact by government bodies and as far as the league knows there's no cause for any contact."

Foss stepped into the situation that first flared Friday and since has produced little fire but much smoke after newspaper reports linked the AFL with the same rumors of betting coups and point-shaving that originally hit the NFL.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle emphasizing that no investigation in his league "stemmed from federal agencies," said Tuesday that league investigations being conducted in Chicago and Detroit have uncovered "nothing more than questionable associations."

Names that have been injected into the report, include halfback Paul Hornung of the champion Green Bay Packers, tackle Alex Karras and linebacker Wayne Walker of the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears' fullback Rick Casares.

There have been no charges made against any NFL player and the league has continually maintained that its investigations, routinely conducted as in past years, have turned up nothing of a criminal nature.

Rozelle said it has been NFL policy to check down even the flimsiest rumor.

Weeb Ewbank Let Out At Baltimore

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the National Football League club, announced the change Tuesday, calling it "probably the most difficult task I've ever faced."

Ewbank's dismissal confirmed weeks of speculation that he would lose his job. He coached the Colts to NFL championships in 1958 and 1959. Since then Baltimore has been just another team in the Western Division.

Shula, 33, accepted a two-year contract for 1963-64 in his first head coaching position. Salary was not disclosed.

Rosenbloom said Ewbank, 55, was offered another job with the Colts. The club owner denied reports that it was the general manager's position now held by Don Kellett.

"They offered me another job in the organization, but I've had no chance to think it over," said Ewbank.

Ewbank's over-all record in nine seasons with the Colts is 59-52-1. In 1960, the year after the two NFL titles, Baltimore slumped to a 6-6 record. It was 8-6 in 1961 and 7-7 last season.

The 1962 defeats included a 57-0 drubbing by the Chicago Bears, the worst defeat in Baltimore's professional football history.

Baylor And West Combine To Stop St. Louis String

By The Associated Press

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, a deadly duo, have scored another knockout punch to snap St. Louis' 13-game home court winning streak as the Los Angeles Lakers increased their lead in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

West revived the Lakers in their game with the Hawks Tuesday night and Baylor put over the crusher with two baskets in the final 16 seconds for a 99-96 victory.

In other games, Bob Cousy's six points in the last 3 minutes enabled the Boston Celtics to defeat the San Francisco Warriors 118-112. Hal Greer paced Syracuse to a 119-116 conquest of Cincinnati and the Detroit Pistons walloped the New York Knicks 109-93.

The reserve contest was the exact opposite of the varsity game. The Beaver Jayvees edged the Midland subs, 47-45, in an overtime battle that had all of the early arrivers on their feet. Beaver's Tom Bentel layed in a rebound with two seconds left in the overtime to give the Bobcats the win.

FOR Ed Olkowski's Leopard Jayvee squad, the loss was a real heartbreaker. They had rallied from nine points back at the start of the final period to take a 45-44 lead, only to lose it when Jack Rowse of Beaver sank the front end of a one-and-one free throw situation with all of the regulation time expired.

Dave Davis of Beaver led all scorers with 20 points. Bill Haggerty paced Midland with 11 points, followed by Ray Oliver and Rich House, who contributed 10 and nine points respectively.

The Leopards will take to the road once again on Friday when they travel to Freedom to do battle with the Bulldogs.

AFL Head Denies Rumors Of Pro Betting Scandal

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League, taking the stage only hours after his National League counterpart stepped down, denied today the rumors linking his league with the increasing talk of a betting scandal.

Foss, in Los Angeles, told The Associated Press:

"No governmental investigatory agency, at either the federal or state level, has been in contact with the AFL office."

Foss also said that no information had come to the AFL which would cause him to order lie detector tests, a power he has under league rules.

"I'm not so naive, however," said Foss, "to think that in any league of this kind, with so many players, that there may not be a few boys who would have some contact or association with people who might be considered tainted.

"All you have to do," continued Foss, "is bump into the wrong kind of person on the street, let someone stretch a point, and they will say you're associating with him. We're always on the lookout in such a matter, but there's been no contact by government bodies and as far as the league knows there's no cause for any contact."

Foss stepped into the situation that first flared Friday and since has produced little fire but much smoke after newspaper reports linked the AFL with the same rumors of betting coups and point-shaving that originally hit the NFL.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle emphasizing that no investigation in his league "stemmed from federal agencies," said Tuesday that league investigations being conducted in Chicago and Detroit have uncovered "nothing more than questionable associations."

Names that have been injected into the report, include halfback Paul Hornung of the champion Green Bay Packers, tackle Alex Karras and linebacker Wayne Walker of the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears' fullback Rick Casares.

There have been no charges made against any NFL player and the league has continually maintained that its investigations, routinely conducted as in past years, have turned up nothing of a criminal nature.

Rozelle said it has been NFL policy to check down even the flimsiest rumor.

Weeb Ewbank Let Out At Baltimore

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the National Football League club, announced the change Tuesday, calling it "probably the most difficult task I've ever faced."

Ewbank's dismissal confirmed weeks of speculation that he would lose his job. He coached the Colts to NFL championships in 1958 and 1959. Since then Baltimore has been just another team in the Western Division.

Shula, 33, accepted a two-year contract for 1963-64 in his first head coaching position. Salary was not disclosed.

Rosenbloom said Ewbank, 55, was offered another job with the Colts. The club owner denied reports that it was the general manager's position now held by Don Kellett.

"They offered me another job in the organization, but I've had no chance to think it over," said Ewbank.

Ewbank's over-all record in nine seasons with the Colts is 59-52-1. In 1960, the year after the two NFL titles, Baltimore slumped to a 6-6 record. It was 8-6 in 1961 and 7-7 last season.

The 1962 defeats included a 57-0 drubbing by the Chicago Bears, the worst defeat in Baltimore's professional football history.

Baylor And West Combine To Stop St. Louis String

By The Associated Press

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, a deadly duo, have scored another knockout punch to snap St. Louis' 13-game home court winning streak as the Los Angeles Lakers increased their lead in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

West revived the Lakers in their game with the Hawks Tuesday night and Baylor put over the crusher with two baskets in the final 16 seconds for a 99-96 victory.

In other games, Bob Cousy's six points in the last 3 minutes enabled the Boston Celtics to defeat the San Francisco Warriors 118-112. Hal Greer paced Syracuse to a 119-116 conquest of Cincinnati and the Detroit Pistons walloped the New York Knicks 109-93.

The new George L. Manley field house at Syracuse seats 5,200 for basketball.

Pollution is something that has been going on in Columbiana long before I ever arrived in this section, and it looks as if it will continue long after I am gone.

Game protectors can't make arrests for companies or corporations polluting our streams and killing both fish and animal life. All they can do is make out reports.

Game protectors are duty bound to arrest individuals killing fish with a bow and arrow or a hook and line without a fishing license. Also arrest any individual killing fish with poison. There's no license that allows an individual to kill fish with poison in public waters.

IF I DRIVE my car, I had better have insurance protection plus a driver's license in case of an accident.

On the other hand, an oil line might break and spill fuel oil into a stream and kill a lot of fish. This has happened many times in Columbiana County. I haven't heard of any oil company paying damages, even though it was an accident.

There is no such thing as a license or permit for anyone to pollute public waters. There is such a thing as allowing an industry or company to do limited polluting under the form of an agreement. The agreement is to correct the situation as fast as possible and the company has to make a progress report to the Health Department, proving that means are being taken to end the pollution.

Right now there is a major form of pollution being dumped into Beaver Creek from a Salem concern, but I cannot say what is being done. This situation is handled according to law by the state attorney and the Health Department. Game protectors are not provided with a progress report, therefore, cannot say what is being done.

THE ONLY thing that is obvious to all is: "The wheels of the Gods grind slowly."

Even in our Common Pleas Courts there is what might be called a "waiting period" for a man in jail charged with murder. These cases are handled eventually on a sort of a first come first served basis. The defendant is not picked up at home or some place else and taken directly before the judge. He has to be booked, indicted, then tried when his turn rolls around.

The only thing I can say to the numerous people who have called me about this pollution is the powers that be have been informed and without a doubt action is under way.

NCAA, AAU Headed For Arbitration Today

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After a 72-hour period packed with intrigue and rumor, the raging U.S. amateur sports war was headed for arbitration today and at least a temporary peace.

Both the National Collegiate Athletic Association and Amateur Athletic Union went on record Tuesday as ready to begin deliberations under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, appointed by President Kennedy to referee the dispute that has threatened to ruin the U.S. squad for the Olympic games next year.

The next step was expected from the attorney general's office in Washington, where a spokesman said a meeting tentatively was scheduled today to set a date for the start of arbitration procedure between the NCAA-supported U.S. Track and Field Federation and the AAU.

Both sides, if nothing else, were apparently agreed that the first hurdle—consent to the President's call for binding arbitration under the famous Army general—had been negotiated.

The break in the 2½-year squabble over the administration of amateur sports in the U.S. developed Tuesday when college leaders announced at their annual convention here—after a cloak-and-dagger exchange of telegrams with the President—their willingness to proceed with arbitration as members of the federation, and AAU officials conceded in New York that such an arrangement was agreeable to them.

The AAU had refused to recognize the federation as anything but a "puppet," organization of the NCAA.

The movement against the AAU began when college and high school groups sought more say in the administration of U.S. amateur athletics, particularly in regard to international competition.

The NCAA has steadfastly refused to arbitrate alone in the dispute with the AAU. And, in announcing its official stand Tuesday in release of a weekend exchange of telegrams with the President, the NCAA made a point of its continued recognition of the federation as the group that should administer track and field in the United States—a position delegated by international authority to the AAU.

The NCAA delegates at today's closing business session will vote withdrawal of proposed legislation that would have provided a penalty for a collegian entering an AAU event not also sanctioned by the federation. The move to withdraw was recommended by NCAA leaders Tuesday.

'Rajah' To Be Buried At Hornsby's Bend

CHICAGO (AP) — The body of Rogers Hornsby, baseball hall of famer, will be buried at Hornsby's Bend near Austin, Tex., Thursday.

Funeral services for Hornsby were held in Chicago Tuesday where a standing room only crowd of some 250 jammed the chapel and listened to Dr. August M. Hintz of the North Shore Baptist Church conduct services.

He Will Sign With Somebody

VanderKelen Puts Offers Away, Returns To Classes

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Ron VanderKelen could devote full time to the happy task of sorting out pro football offers but the University of Wisconsin's sensational quarterback got down to earth today to cram for examinations coming up soon.

VanderKelen, whose forward passing exploits in the Rose Bowl and Hula Bowl caused the football world to flip, put in his first full day of classroom routine Tuesday since returning home.

The pro contracts will have to wait — at least for the present, while VanderKelen hits the books. But admittedly, he tore himself away from the offers with some reluctance.

"It's kind of a pleasure to be in this position and I hope it will all work out," VanderKelen said. "I'm pretty sure I'll sign with somebody."

Vandy's great show in the Rose Bowl, where he set records by passing for 401 yards on 33 completions and gaining a total of 406 yards, put virtually every pro team in this country and Canada on his trail. He was by-passed in the National Football League draft and picked up by the New York Titans, almost as an afterthought, in the American League draft.

But the business at hand, VanderKelen said, is work on some term papers. Then he wants to talk with Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn "and some other people."

Recalling the 1962 season, when he directed Wisconsin to the Big Ten championship, VanderKelen said "everything got a little bigger right up to the Rose Bowl."

"There was no pressure on me because of that though," he said. "I just wanted to help win the game and I knew if we could do that everything else would take care of itself."

Beaver Local Wrestlers Wallop Boardman, 45-0

It was practically no contest at Boardman Tuesday afternoon when Coach Jack O'Rourke's Beaver Local wrestling team walked off with a 45-0 victory in a meet staged before the student body at Boardman High.

The Beavers in posting their seventh straight victory, checked off six pins including a quicky posted by Ken Matheny who threw his opponent, Ruccutti, in the heavyweight match in only 26 seconds.

Beaver Local plays host to Warren Harding, Friday night at 7:30.

California Throws Scare Into Other Big Six Foes

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

California, a meek kitten in the Big Five last year, suddenly has turned tiger and the rest of the conference—now the Big Six—is practically biting its collective finger nails.

Last year, the Bears were picked on by just about everyone and finished their league season with a sorry 2-10 record.

Things have changed. First, the Bears upset Southern California twice last weekend and found themselves riding atop the conference. Tuesday night, they were supposed to get their lumps from Stanford, the team rated the strongest in the league.

They were beaten, all right, but only after two overtimes and scaring the Palo Alto Indians half to death. The final score was 70-68. Now the Bears are considered full-fledged threats for the title.

The game was the Indians' league opener and was their ninth victory in 11 games. Cal's over-all record now is 10-3.

In the Southwest Conference, Texas and Texas A&M stayed in a first-place tie, each registering its third straight victory. The Longhorns trounced Baylor 76-38 and the Aggies polished off Rice 71-61. Defending co-champion Southern Methodist came from behind a 13-point deficit to beat Texas Tech 70-61 and Texas Christian turned back Arkansas 59-31.

West Virginia, No. 9 team in the current Associated Press poll, left no doubt of who's boss in the Southern Conference. With Rod Thorn popping in 28 points, the Mountaineers defeated tough Davidson, 89-73. It was close until the final five minutes.

In other loop action, Virginia Tech ran its at-home winning streak to 40 games and its conference record to 3-0 with a 74-70 decision over VMI, and William and Mary climbed out of the cellar by downing The Citadel, 83-69.

Loyola of Chicago, the highest scoring squad in the country and No. 2 in the AP poll, rolled over Marquette 87-68 to run its record to 14-0. Jerry Harkness had 23 points for Loyola.

Connecticut smothered New Hampshrie 86-58 and Rhode Island got past Massachusetts 86-80 in the Yankee Conference.

Cage Fixer Guilty On 5 Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—Attorneys for convicted basketball fixer Jack Molinas planned an appeal today after the former Columbia University and professional star was convicted on five charges growing out of the collegiate gambling scandals.

Molinas, 30, faces a maximum prison sentence of 36 years and fines totaling $35,500.

A jury of eight men and four women debated for more than eight hours Tuesday night before finding Molinas guilty on three charges of bribing a college player, one count of conspiring to bribe players in about 25 games and one count of attempting to get a college player to commit perjury.

Molinas showed no emotion when the guilty verdicts were announced. His attorney, Jacob Evseroff, said he would appeal.

Judge Joseph A. Sarafite set Feb. 11 for sentencing and increased Molinas' bail from $5,000 to $25,000. Molinas, himself an attorney, was unable to post the increased bail, so he was sent to jail.

Molinas faces the following sentences:

Ten years and $10,000 on each of the bribery charges.

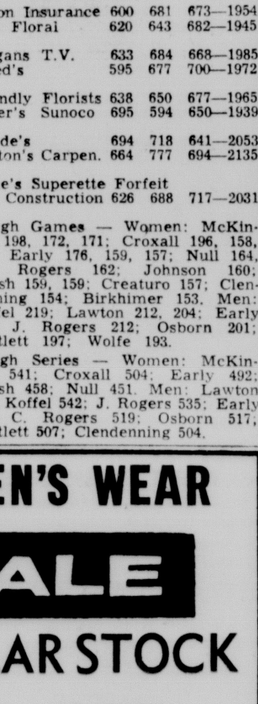

One year and a fine of $500 on the conspiracy charge.

Five years and a fine of $5,000 on the perjury charge.

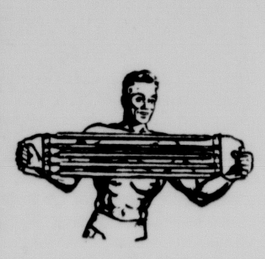

The three bribery charges involve Molinas' dealings with William Dennis Reed, a former Bowling Green, Ohio, player in 1959 and 1960. He was accused of paying Reed $1,000 for each game to shave points in Bowling Green games against DePaul and Bradley in 1959 and Canisius in 1960.

The perjury charge accused Molinas—who was barred from the National Basketball Association in 1954 when it was discovered that he bet on his own team, the Fort Wayne Pistons—of trying to induce Reed to commit perjury in testimony before the grand jury.

Pollution is something that has been going on in Columbiana long before I ever arrived in this section, and it looks as if it will continue long after I am gone.

Game protectors can't make arrests for companies or corporations polluting our streams and killing both fish and animal life. All they can do is make out reports.

Game protectors are duty bound to arrest individuals killing fish with a bow and arrow or a hook and line without a fishing license. Also arrest any individual killing fish with poison. There's no license that allows an individual to kill fish with poison in public waters.

IF I DRIVE my car, I had better have insurance protection plus a driver's license in case of an accident.

On the other hand, an oil line might break and spill fuel oil into a stream and kill a lot of fish. This has happened many times in Columbiana County. I haven't heard of any oil company paying damages, even though it was an accident.

There is no such thing as a license or permit for anyone to pollute public waters. There is such a thing as allowing an industry or company to do limited polluting under the form of an agreement. The agreement is to correct the situation as fast as possible and the company has to make a progress report to the Health Department, proving that means are being taken to end the pollution.

Right now there is a major form of pollution being dumped into Beaver Creek from a Salem concern, but I cannot say what is being done. This situation is handled according to law by the state attorney and the Health Department. Game protectors are not provided with a progress report, therefore, cannot say what is being done.

THE ONLY thing that is obvious to all is: "The wheels of the Gods grind slowly."

Even in our Common Pleas Courts there is what might be called a "waiting period" for a man in jail charged with murder. These cases are handled eventually on a sort of a first come first served basis. The defendant is not picked up at home or some place else and taken directly before the judge. He has to be booked, indicted, then tried when his turn rolls around.

The only thing I can say to the numerous people who have called me about this pollution is the powers that be have been informed and without a doubt action is under way.

He Will Sign With Somebody

VanderKelen Puts Offers Away, Returns To Classes

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Ron VanderKelen could devote full time to the happy task of sorting out pro football offers but the University of Wisconsin's sensational quarterback got down to earth today to cram for examinations coming up soon.

VanderKelen, whose forward passing exploits in the Rose Bowl and Hula Bowl caused the football world to flip, put in his first full day of classroom routine Tuesday since returning home.

The pro contracts will have to wait — at least for the present, while VanderKelen hits the books. But admittedly, he tore himself away from the offers with some reluctance.

"It's kind of a pleasure to be in this position and I hope it will all work out," VanderKelen said. "I'm pretty sure I'll sign with somebody."

Vandy's great show in the Rose Bowl, where he set records by passing for 401 yards on 33 completions and gaining a total of 406 yards, put virtually every pro team in this country and Canada on his trail. He was by-passed in the National Football League draft and picked up by the New York Titans, almost as an afterthought, in the American League draft.

But the business at hand, VanderKelen said, is work on some term papers. Then he wants to talk with Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn "and some other people."

Recalling the 1962 season, when he directed Wisconsin to the Big Ten championship, VanderKelen said "everything got a little bigger right up to the Rose Bowl."

"There was no pressure on me because of that though," he said. "I just wanted to help win the game and I knew if we could do that everything else would take care of itself."

Beaver Local Wrestlers Wallop Boardman, 45-0

It was practically no contest at Boardman Tuesday afternoon when Coach Jack O'Rourke's Beaver Local wrestling team walked off with a 45-0 victory in a meet staged before the student body at Boardman High.

The Beavers in posting their seventh straight victory, checked off six pins including a quicky posted by Ken Matheny who threw his opponent, Ruccutti, in the heavyweight match in only 26 seconds.

Beaver Local plays host to Warren Harding, Friday night at 7:30.

103 — Obney (BL) pinned Marrie (B) 4:45.
112 — Shasteen (BL) decisioned VanFossen (B) 7-3.
120 — Tychoneivich (BL) pinned Griffin (B) 3:16.
133 — Fisher (BL) decisioned Ciolli (B) 8-5.
138 — Hoppel (BL) pinned LaTronico (B) 5:15.
145 — Bookman (BL) pinned Patterson (B) 2:45.
154 — Grimm (BL) pinned Kay (B) 1:50.
165 — Moffett (BL) decisioned Butz (B) 10-4.
175 — Copestick (BL) decisioned Deiter (B) 5-0.

NCAA, AAU Headed For Arbitration Today

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After a 72-hour period packed with intrigue and rumor, the raging U.S. amateur sports war was headed for arbitration today and at least a temporary peace.

Both the National Collegiate Athletic Association and Amateur Athletic Union went on record Tuesday as ready to begin deliberations under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, appointed by President Kennedy to referee the dispute that has threatened to ruin the U.S. squad for the Olympic games next year.

The next step was expected from the attorney general's office in Washington, where a spokesman said a meeting tentatively was scheduled today to set a date for the start of arbitration procedure between the NCAA-supported U.S. Track and Field Federation and the AAU.

Both sides, if nothing else, were apparently agreed that the first hurdle—consent to the President's call for binding arbitration under the famous Army general—had been negotiated.

The break in the 2½-year squabble over the administration of amateur sports in the U.S. developed Tuesday when college leaders announced at their annual convention here—after a cloak-and-dagger exchange of telegrams with the President—their willingness to proceed with arbitration as members of the federation, and AAU officials conceded in New York that such an arrangement was agreeable to them.

The AAU had refused to recognize the federation as anything but a "puppet," organization of the NCAA.

The movement against the AAU began when college and high school groups sought more say in the administration of U.S. amateur athletics, particularly in regard to international competition.

The NCAA has steadfastly refused to arbitrate alone in the dispute with the AAU. And, in announcing its official stand Tuesday in release of a weekend exchange of telegrams with the President, the NCAA made a point of its continued recognition of the federation as the group that should administer track and field in the United States—a position delegated by international authority to the AAU.

The NCAA delegates at today's closing business session will vote withdrawal of proposed legislation that would have provided a penalty for a collegian entering an AAU event not also sanctioned by the federation. The move to withdraw was recommended by NCAA leaders Tuesday.

'Rajah' To Be Buried At Hornsby's Bend

CHICAGO (AP) — The body of Rogers Hornsby, baseball hall of famer, will be buried at Hornsby's Bend near Austin, Tex., Thursday.

Funeral services for Hornsby were held in Chicago Tuesday where a standing room only crowd of some 250 jammed the chapel and listened to Dr. August M. Hintz of the North Shore Baptist Church conduct services.

California Throws Scare Into Other Big Six Foes

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

California, a meek kitten in the Big Five last year, suddenly has turned tiger and the rest of the conference—now the Big Six—is practically biting its collective finger nails.

Last year, the Bears were picked on by just about everyone and finished their league season with a sorry 2-10 record.

Things have changed. First, the Bears upset Southern California twice last weekend and found themselves riding atop the conference. Tuesday night, they were supposed to get their lumps from Stanford, the team rated the strongest in the league.

They were beaten, all right, but only after two overtimes and scaring the Palo Alto Indians half to death. The final score was 70-68. Now the Bears are considered full-fledged threats for the title.

The game was the Indians' league opener and was their ninth victory in 11 games. Cal's over-all record now is 10-3.

In the Southwest Conference, Texas and Texas A&M stayed in a first-place tie, each registering its third straight victory. The Longhorns trounced Baylor 76-38 and the Aggies polished off Rice 71-61. Defending co-champion Southern Methodist came from behind a 13-point deficit to beat Texas Tech 70-61 and Texas Christian turned back Arkansas 59-31.

West Virginia, No. 9 team in the current Associated Press poll, left no doubt of who's boss in the Southern Conference. With Rod Thorn popping in 28 points, the Mountaineers defeated tough Davidson, 89-73. It was close until the final five minutes.

In other loop action, Virginia Tech ran its at-home winning streak to 40 games and its conference record to 3-0 with a 74-70 decision over VMI, and William and Mary climbed out of the cellar by downing The Citadel, 83-69.

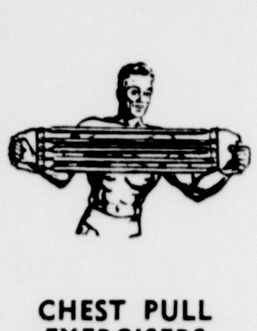

Loyola of Chicago, the highest scoring squad in the country and No. 2 in the AP poll, rolled over Marquette 87-68 to run its record to 14-0. Jerry Harkness had 23 points for Loyola.

Connecticut smothered New Hampshrie 86-58 and Rhode Island got past Massachusetts 86-80 in the Yankee Conference.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: My father-in-law solved the problem of keeping birds from nesting in the eaves of his house by wrapping moth balls in fine wire mesh and tacking it in their favorite nesting spots. They will leave immediately.

Do not use cheese cloth because they will take their time to peck at it. By using the wire, it has to be done only once a year. This is because rain and dampness dissolve the moth balls but the odor will eventually soak into the wood.

J.S.

DEAR HELOISE: I think of all the household chores we must do, ironing is the one I dread most.

I have found that when washing pinch-pleated curtains, the pinch-pleats will need very little ironing if. . . when you hang them on the clothesline, you hang them right side up instead of upside down!

Fasten headings to the line with clip-type clothespins without fold ing them over the line. This allows the folds to form more naturally.

While still wet, "form" the pinch-pleats and fasten two or three clip-type clothespins to each pleat. When dry, the pleats will hold and form beautifully. Then. . . only a touch of the iron and you'll have a job well done with less work.

MRS. G. VAN ARTSDALEN.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you really cut your own hair and give your own permanents? We really want to know the truth about this. If so, do you roll it in pincurls or on rollers?

AMY CLEVER.

DEAR AMY: Don't worry anymore. Certainly I cut my own hair. Sometimes I botch it up. . . but it always grows out!

Yes, I give my own permanents and have for 23 years, and Amy, I roll it on rollers all over my head.

HELOISE.

Ends Ironing Chore

DEAR HELOISE: I'm a working gal and take great pride in looking nice. In the spring and summer there is so much ironing to do because we wear fresh clothes every day.

I always drip-dry all of my dresses, blouses and full slips on hangers.

When I am ready to iron them, I sprinkle them with very hot water and hang them on the shower rod on the hangers. Then I drape a bedsheet around them. . . .

In two hours they are ready to iron with a dry, hot iron. This requires no steam! I find they iron faster because they are dampened and they iron beautifully.

VI.

DEAR HELOISE: An old remedy which I use to remove paint from my hands, face, and so forth is:

After I have finished painting, I take a small piece of butter and rub it on my hands, face, legs, or whatever the paint has splattered.

I rub it in well and wipe it off. Then wash with soda and water.

It is so much better for my skin than turpentine or paint remover.

DEAR HELOISE: I use a wire potato masher to decorate the top of my meat loaf and for fluting the edge of piecrust and cookies. Terrific!

Southern Local Club Sets Fund Drive Show

SALINEVILLE — Final plans are being made for a talent show to be sponsored Jan. 18 at Salineville High School by the Southern Local Athletic Boosters Club.

Lewis Higgenbotham, Salineville football coach, is director of the event, being held to raise funds for the club's drive to improve the football field at the new high school.

Anyone interested in participating in the show is to register Jan. 16 at the high school, Higgenbotham said.

4 Brazilian Students Visit Weirton Steel

WEIRTON — Four university students from Belo Horizonte, Brazil are visiting Weirton for 10 weeks to observe operations at the Weirton Steel Co.

All seniors at a university, they are studying sintering, steelmaking and research operations under sponsorship of Hanna Mining Co. of Cleveland, and will observe operations in these areas in the Weirton plants until mid-March. They are living in private homes during their visit.

Court Funds Up Slightly

Municipal Court's overall revenue and the city's share of receipts showed slight gains in December, Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon said today in his monthly report.

The court's December income was $3,382, a gain of $355 over the November total of $3,027, while the city's share of the receipts rose to $2,966, an increase of $193 above the $2,773 paid the city treasury in November, Harmon's report showed.

The city's share was comprised of $356 in civil costs; $2,595 in fines, costs and forfeitures in criminal cases, and $15 as the municipality's share of fines and forfeitures in State Highway Patrol cases.

The court also paid $15 to the state treasurer from patrol cases; $72 to the state from liquor control cases; $241 to the county treasury in state cases, and $86 to the Law Library Association.

The overall amount handled by the court, exclusive of trusteeships, judgments and garnishee fees, was $6,102 compared to $9,758 in November. The funds last month included $2,255 in the civil branch and $3,847 in the criminal branch.

A breakdown of the court's cases showed: 41 civil cases filed, 57 disposed of, and 174 pending; 39 city criminal cases filed, 35 disposed of, and 51 pending, and 20 state criminal cases filed, 18 disposed of, and 112 pending.

County Planners Slate 2 Meetings

LISBON — The county regional planning committee will meet as two units Feb. 4, expecting to map programs that will be discussed at a combined session Feb. 11.

The committee said it expects to have a definite plan to present to county commissioners following the combined meeting.

Plans for the two sessions were made Monday night when 19 members of the committee met in the county extension office.

Floyd Lower, county extension agent and a member of the committee, said there was a general discussion of all phases of regional planning. The meeting Feb. 11 also will be held in the extension office.

Speed Cited In Accidents

Excessive speed for road conditions was blamed for the majority of Columbiana County traffic mishaps which occurred throughout 1962 and which showed increases in the number of dead and injured, Sgt. E. W. Mallery of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said.

The number of motorists arrested and warned also rose, he added.

A total of 3,444 motorists was arrested for various infractions of motor vehicle laws and 8,092 other drivers were warned. The number of arrests is an increase over the previous year, Mallery said.

Total accidents investigated was 765, with 21 persons dying in 15 mishaps. The number of injured in all mishaps was 488.

The fatalities occurred in: March (8); May (4); June (1); July (2); August (2); October (2) and November (2).

The highway patrolmen gave assistance to 176 motorists stranded along roads, gave talks before 6,819 persons at meetings, recovered stolen property worth $17,680; enforced the registration of unregistered motor vehicles to the tune of $1,896, and handed 15,000 telephone calls during the year.

City Scouts Win Camping Contest

Explorer Post 12 of East Liverpool was first-place winner in the competition held at a scout winter session at Camp McKinley near Lisbon over the weekend, Scout officials announced.

Troop 36 of Calcutta was the second-place winner, edging out Troop 59 of Yellow Creek in a playoff contest.

Some 150 scouts and leaders attended the event. Star Scout Ned Craven, son of Dale Craven of Idaho Ave. and member of Troop 41 of East Liverpool, was selected the best camper.

DiSalle Letters Due Historical Society

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, in his farewell address to the legislature, reported he is turning over to the Ohio Historical Society a collection of letters he has written and received during his four years in office.

DiSalle, a Democrat, said he treasures some "kind letters received from some of the majority (Republican) membership after the last election."

He said he will have the Historical Society keep these and others sealed for some years "in order that the senders may not become concerned over the possible political consequences of publication."

Presidential Timber, Or At Least A Sprig

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's shrewd political eye has lighted on one of his family as presidential timber or at least a sprig.

The evidence, on Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's office wall, is a photograph of his son David, 7, sitting beside the pool on the White House south grounds.

"A future president inspects his property."

1 Killed, 2 Injured As Cars Sideswipe

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Autos going opposite ways on U. S. 30N sideswiped Tuesday night in an accident that killed one driver, severely injured the other and hurt a passenger in each car.

Speed Cited In Accidents

Excessive speed for road conditions was blamed for the majority of Columbiana County traffic mishaps which occurred throughout 1962 and which showed increases in the number of dead and injured, Sgt. E. W. Mallery of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said.

The number of motorists arrested and warned also rose, he added.

A total of 3,444 motorists was arrested for various infractions of motor vehicle laws and 8,092 other drivers were warned. The number of arrests is an increase over the previous year, Mallery said.

Total accidents investigated was 765, with 21 persons dying in 15 mishaps. The number of injured in all mishaps was 488.

The fatalities occurred in: March (8); May (4); June (1); July (2); August (2); October (2) and November (2).

The highway patrolmen gave assistance to 176 motorists stranded along roads, gave talks before 6,819 persons at meetings, recovered stolen property worth $17,680; enforced the registration of unregistered motor vehicles to the tune of $1,896, and handed 15,000 telephone calls during the year.

City Scouts Win Camping Contest

Explorer Post 12 of East Liverpool was first-place winner in the competition held at a scout winter session at Camp McKinley near Lisbon over the weekend, Scout officials announced.

The post, sponsored by the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, won the Klondyke pickax, symbolic of the top prize.

Troop 36 of Calcutta was the second-place winner, edging out Troop 59 of Yellow Creek in a playoff contest.

Some 150 scouts and leaders attended the event. Star Scout Ned Craven, son of Dale Craven of Idaho Ave. and member of Troop 41 of East Liverpool, was selected the best camper.

DiSalle Letters Due Historical Society

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, in his farewell address to the legislature, reported he is turning over to the Ohio Historical Society a collection of letters he has written and received during his four years in office.

DiSalle, a Democrat, said he treasures some "kind letters received from some of the majority (Republican) membership after the last election."

He said he will have the Historical Society keep these and others sealed for some years "in order that the senders may not become concerned over the possible political consequences of publication."

Presidential Timber, Or At Least A Sprig

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's shrewd political eye has lighted on one of his family as presidential timber or at least a sprig.

The evidence, on Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's office wall, is a photograph of his son David, 7, sitting beside the pool on the White House south grounds.

"A future president inspects his property."

1 Killed, 2 Injured As Cars Sideswipe

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Autos going opposite ways on U. S. 30N sideswiped Tuesday night in an accident that killed one driver, severely injured the other and hurt a passenger in each car.

Downtown Honolulu Jolted By Lightning

Snowfall in the mountains marooned two men overnight and the heaviest rain in five years drenched the city for the second straight day.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Bickering Child Should Be Loved

In any family of two or more children, there may be considerable quarreling and contention among them. This warfare may occur most frequently after the ages of eight or ten, especially if the children are not far apart in age. A New Jersey mother writes: "How can I get a boy of 12 and his ten - year - old sister to be friends? They bicker over any and all things. He resents her singing around the house, her phone calls, doesn't want her to set his place at the dinner table, etc. "He gets along fine with friends outside and is really a good child, except with his sister. She is friendly and, although not without fault, gets the brunt of his outbursts and even his hand.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"I CAN'T TAKE it lightly any more. I get very upset and find myself acting hostile to him (I am ashamed to admit this). And that doesn't improve anything. If I get too upset, I hit him and then I find myself in tears regretting my temper. You can see it's a very unhealthy atmosphere.

"After these outbursts, he is as sweet as can be, but I find myself seething with resentment. Maybe it is I who need help along with him.

"My husband and I work together and have a happy relationship and a fine life. There is no squabbling that he can learn at our home."

My reply in part: You should expect some bickering between those children, but it seems to be more than is bearable. Look first to see if their possessions and jobs overlap. Don't set both of them to do a job together. See that they take turns at it.

PERHAPS THE LAD feels that his sister stands in with your parents better than he does. As he seems to be the chief annoyer and therefore gets more rebuke and punishment, he must feel more sure of this.

Perhaps you could induce some friends to call him by phone occasionally. His sister might be willing to reduce her singing, especially when he is at homework or listening to a program on the air.

Wonderful if the family, including the boy, were to sing together sometimes. Help each child cultivate playmates outside the family.

If you are sure his interference with his sister's rights is unreasonable, set a penalty such as sending him to another room or withholding some cherished privilege. If he strikes his sister, use decisive punishment. But don't let yourself go around mad and jawing at him. Maybe she purposely annoys him at times.

IF THEY ARE merely engaged in moderate word - warfare, try not to be too much disturbed. But when it surpasses your endurance, do something. If at the dinner table, send them both away, each to finish the meal in a separate room, not trying to place the blame.

Perhaps Dad could do most for that lad, going places with him occasionally, with one or more of the lad's friends along. Give him some privileges she can't have as he is two years older. Be generous with worthy praise of him.

Enlist relatives and friends to help this boy feel more worthwhile and secure.

My bulletins, "Quarreling and Fighting" and "Preventing and Reducing Jealousy", may be had by sending a self - addressed, envelope to me in care of The Review.

Chronic Shortages

Moscow Has Bad Case Of Urban Overcrowding

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow, sometimes called "the beautiful lady" by its natives, is suffering from a bad case of urban overcrowding.

The problems include chronic shortages of housing, office space, stores and public services, as well as a shortage of municipal transportation.

The city fathers have allocated 455 million rubles for housing construction in their 1963 budget. This is about half the total budget. (Soviet authorities set the value of the ruble at $1.11 but there is no free exchange on it).

Soviet propaganda chiefs deny vigorously that the impressive housing construction rate in Moscow is a special effort to put up a showplace front. However, the city of Moscow, with probably 6½ million residents, represents less than 3 per cent of Soviet population. The capital is getting about 9 per cent of total national appropriations for housing construction.

Moscow officials say 400,000 Muscovites got new living quarters last year. But Moscow has grown at a rate of 400,000 a year for the past three years. It would appear officials are managing just to keep roofs over the heads of the population without substantially improving the lot of the vast majority.

The officially prescribed sanitary living space from here is 9 square meters—96 square feet—per person. This is about the size of many American bathrooms.

In practice this means that three, four, sometimes a half dozen people are crowded into one room. Young people frequently cannot marry for lack of a place to live.

Office space in this administrative nerve center of the Soviet Union has been a perennial problem. A few institutions, such as the Foreign Ministry and Council of Ministers, have skyscraper quarters.

Municipal authorities have made sporadic efforts to increase retail trade outlets and other service points, but still have a long way to go to streamline stores and markets. It is not unusual to spend 15 minutes buying a pound of butter.

In recent years, auto traffic has become a problem on major thoroughfares. The administration has taken a few measures such as closing some streets to trucks, and introducing one-way arteries.

To drain off cross-city traffic the government built a highway around Moscow, called the Ring Road. Many trucks use the road but it appears to have made little difference on the slow-moving stream of traffic in Moscow.

Despite these problems, many Russians dream of living in Moscow, a so-called closed city since 1931. Those who do have permission to live here wouldn't think of leaving it to live in the backwoods, as they call the provinces.

Cleveland Electric Gets Rate Hike Okay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission has authorized the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. to increase its rates for steam heat and hot water service in Cleveland.

"I'm afraid to be out on the street at night with all that money," he said.

George Washington thought so highly of good beer that he wrote down a favorite recipe for posterity. Washington's recipe for making beer is still preserved in the New York Public Library.

Kennedy Sets Meeting With Soviet Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy meets with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov today in the first high level U.S.-Soviet discussion since the formal windup of the Cuban missile crisis.

Kuznetsov's White House date is for late afternoon. He has a noon appointment Thursday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk to be followed by a luncheon at the State Department.

U.S. authorities said no special agenda has been set up for the talks with Kuznetsov who has been in New York since October representing the U.S.S.R. in the negotiations for a Cuba crisis settlement. The negotiations officially ended Monday with a joint U.S.-Soviet report to the United Nations saying the two sides were unable to resolve all the problems over Cuba, but voicing hope for future "adjustment of other difficulties."

Since the crisis began the United States has focused on the Cuban issues in its diplomatic dealings with the Soviet Union.

Now, U.S. officials say, the way is open for a wider range of discussions. Kuznetsov, scheduled to head back for Moscow Friday, is in a position to carry back to the Kremlin a fresh impression of Kennedy's views.

2 IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory
Of Our Dear Husband and Father
Charles D. Lentz
who passed away 9 years ago January 9, 1954
No one knows how much we miss you. It is sweet to breathe your name. In life we loved you dearly. In death we do the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers sweetly, tender, fond and true. You are gone but not forgotten. Your acts of kindness shall never fade.
Sadly missed by
Wife, Daughter, Son
and Grandchildren.

3 CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our very kind friends, relations, the nurses and personal of the Osteopathic Hospital. Dr. James Bennett, Father Bennett and all those who so graciously helped during the death of our Mother MRS. IRA WRIGHT.

2 IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory
Of Our Dear Husband and Father
Charles D. Lentz
who passed away 9 years ago
January 9, 1954

No one knows how much we miss you. It is sweet to breathe your name. In life we loved you dearly. In death we do the same.

In our hearts your memory lingers sweetly, tender, fond and true. You are gone but not forgotten. Your acts of kindness shall never fade.

Sadly missed by
Wife, Daughter, Son
and Grandchildren.

3 CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our very kind friends, relations, the nurses and personal of the Osteopathic Hospital. Dr. James Bennett, Father Bennett and all those who so graciously helped during the death of our Mother MRS. IRA WRIGHT.

"Clancy, did you HAVE to tell 'em that the lady who had her purse snatched was a chorus girl?"

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove spilled fingernail polish from rugs or clothing?

A. Use amyl acetate (also called amyl acetic ether, banana oil or pear oil), available in drugstores. Commercial polish removers may dissolve the synthetics commonly used today in such materials.

Q. How can I remove the odor from my hands after peeling and handling onions?

A. Rub them immediately with some dry salt. Or, wipe them thoroughly with newspaper before putting them into water. Or, try rubbing them with mustard (the kind you use on hot dogs).

Q. How can I convert one pound of butter into two pounds?

A. Measure out one pint of butter, then add gradually one pint of milk and a small quantity of salt, beating it with the egg-whip until smooth. Place it in a mold, and set in a cool place.

Q. How can I make an easier job of taking up the sleeves of coats worn by "growing boys"?

A. Instead of taking the hem out and moving it up and resewing, try taking a tuck in the lining of the sleeve. This will draw up the sleeve, and a good pressing will keep it at correct length. Then you can take the tuck out later when the sleeve must be lengthened.

Q. What can I do if a hole in a plastered wall has become too large to hold a screw firmly?

A. Remove the screw, then pack the hole with some steel wool, and twist your screw back into this.

Q. How can I prevent snow and sleet from sticking to the windshield of my car?

Junior Editors Quiz on THE TROJANS

QUESTION: Was the legendary city of Troy ever found?

ANSWER: Homer's famous Iliad and Odyssey tell about the destruction of Troy, a rival of Greece in ancient times. According to these stories, Paris, son of King Priam of Troy, fell in love with Helen, wife of the Spartan king. Paris persuaded Helen to flee from Greece to Troy. Then the Greeks declared war and for 10 years besieged Troy without success. Finally, they built an enormous horse, in which their best fighting men were concealed. The main Greek force hid not far away. The Trojans thought the horse was a peace offering and drew it inside their city. At night, the concealed soldiers came out and opened the city gates to the Greek army. Then Troy was completely destroyed. This is legend; the question is, was there a real Troy? In 1871 a mound was found which fitted descriptions in the stories, and remains of nine separate cities were found on it or thereabouts. By comparing remains of pottery and so on, many experts have come to the conclusion that the sixth of these cities was the one described by Homer. Others think that Troy 6 was destroyed by earthquake instead of by enemies and that Troy 7 is the Troy of Homer.

FOR YOU TO DO: The big horse would be fun to carve out of a piece of soap. If the whole horse looks so hard, just carve the head. Draw the profile on the soap first and cut down to this with a sharp knife. Then carefully finish the details.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1861, the first shots were fired in the Civil War when shore batteries opened up on the supply ship, "Star of the West," as it steamed up the harbor at Charleston, S. C., with 250 troops and supplies intended for Fort Sumter.

On this day:

In 1816, Sir Humphrey Davy's safety lamp was first used in coal mines.

In 1945, the U. S. invasion of the Philippines began when 6th Army troops commanded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed on Luzon during World War II.
